Nuclear Sub's Visit

U.S. Sailors Land, Japan Tense

Free Quebec At Hand!

PARIS (UPI)—It is no longer a question of whether Quebec will become an independent French state, but rather "when and how this state will take shape," the Paris morning right-wing daily, L'Aurore, said today. (See also Page 11).

"This is almost a certainty two centuries after the loss of Canada by France in 1763 and its occupation by the British; almost a century after the establishment of the Canadian Federation in 1867, the emancipation of the French Canadian seems near," said the paper.

N-Subs For France

PARIS (CP-Reuters)—The French government announced a $10,000,000 five-year draft military program Thursday that will include a submarine force manned with nuclear weapons.

The submarines would give France a two-pronged nuclear striking force. Sixty-two Mirage IV bombers capable of carrying nuclear bombs already have been ordered for the air force.

FIRST BY 1970

The first missile submarine is expected to be operational by 1970.

The draft also said the overall plan sees a land manoeuvre force of six divisions "which can be engaged" within or outside NATO.

It also calls for the end of compulsory military service.

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—Sailors from the U.S. nuclear submarine Seadragon went ashore in this port today and riot police were on alert for any new outbreak by leftists.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union said the submarine's visit could affect relations with Japan.

No incidents were reported as most of the 108-man crew went sight-seeing. Thursday after the submarine docked, small bands raced through the streets shouting in English: Yankee Go Home and Go Home, Devil!

Leftist leaders had promised a turnout of upward of 15,000 demonstrators to protest the visit of the Seadragon to Sasebo. But only 2,000 showed up.

The only skirmish occurred when police tangled with about 200 leftist students, who tried to stage a sit-down on a four-lane road leading to the U.S. naval base in Sasebo.

Moscow radio charged the Seadragon's visit was made "in accordance with U.S. imperialist policy to make Japan the strategic point of aggression in the Far East."

Police and U.S. officials believed socialists and Communists will continue periodic demonstrations until Saturday, when the submarine is scheduled to leave.

Mid-Pacific Nose Dive

Jetliner Falls Miles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board has disclosed that a Pan American World Airways jet with 102 persons aboard fell more than two miles in an unexplained dive

Tuesday night before the pilots brought it under control.

The Boeing 707 was flying from Honolulu to Los Angeles when the incident occurred about 200 miles southwest of Los Angeles. It landed about 50 minutes later with no injuries reported.

The CAB said in a preliminary report that the weather was clear and smooth. According to the CAB's bureau of safety, the jet was cruising at 37,000 feet and suddenly began a dive while the crew was completing a checklist prior to the normal approach descent. The aircraft fell nose down in a few seconds to just under 25,000 feet before the pilots levelled it out.

The CAB said the only effects on the passengers were several cases of airsickness. It said the seat belt signs were not on at the time of the dive.

The plane's flight recorder was removed after landing and rushed to Washington for analysis. The CAB said a preliminary reading showed that the jet experienced a "violent manoeuvre" and loss of altitude.

The plane's automatic pilot was engaged and the automatic "altitude holder" also was in use when the unexpected plunge occurred. The board also said the crew reported loss of electrical power, but cautioned that it was not known whether this caused or contributed to the dive.

Berlin Wall Snaps Shut With Threat

BERLIN (CP)—The wall dividing this city was closed again Thursday night and the East German regime has threatened not to reopen it for Christmas.

The Communist threat resulted from anger at the fact that East German marks can be bought in West Berlin at an exchange rate lower than the one set by the East German regime.

'Dramatic' Increase

Missile Gap Grows —In Favor of U.S.

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's Institute for Strategic Studies today reported a "dramatic" increase in U.S. strategic superiority over the Soviet Union. It said U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles outnumber Russia's nearly 5 to 1.

The institute, a private organization supported in part by the Ford Foundation, gets close cooperation from Western defence officials. Its annual estimates of the East-West military balance are considered highly authoritative.

The report said the United States will have 225 ICBMs by early next year, compared with about 200 for the Soviet Union. Last year, its estimate of the ratio was 475 to 100.

A larger relative increase was shown by naval ballistic missiles, which include the U.S. Polaris and its less-advanced Soviet counterpart. The study said American superiority increased from last year's 2 to 1 to 4 to 1 this year.

The institute said Communist China's nuclear explosion last month did not alter the fact of its overall military weakness. But it did show that Chinese nuclear technology apparently was considerably more advanced than had been assumed.

The next year may be the last in which Western superiority in ICBMs is so marked, according to the report. The U.S. Continued on Page 2

Industry Helps, But Car Biggest Pollution Hazard

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. H. Sinclair, president of the B.C. Air Pollution Society, suggested Thursday the provincial government should pass legislation making it compulsory for all cars to be equipped with an "anti-fume device."

"Industry still helps to pollute the air, but the car is now the biggest hazard," he said.

Redistribution Barrier Cleared by Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the two ticklish barriers to parliamentary passage of the government's redistribution bill was overcome Thursday night with approval of a compromise solution suggested by Transport Minister Pickersgill.

In a standing vote of 92 to 11, the House approved that the Speaker of the Commons be made responsible for naming two persons from each of the 10 provinces to remake constituency boundaries. Other members would be a chairman named by the provincial chief justices and federal representation commissioner Nelson Castonguay, who would be a member of all 10 commissions.

LIBERAL OPPOSES

One Liberal, Pauline Jewett (Northumberland), joined with NDP and Creditiste members in opposing the measure.

An amendment which would have instructed the Speaker to make his choice of commissioners from such officials as pro-

SECOND AMENDMENT

Another amendment by Stanley Knowles (NDP - Winnipeg North Centre) would have made all three provincial appointments the choice of the provincial chief justices.

That amendment was defeated 80 to 22, with nine Liberals - again including Miss Jewett - siding with the NDP and Social Credit MPs against a majority of Liberals and all Conservatives.

SECOND CLAUSE

The House then moved to the next contentious clause which would determine the tolerance to be allowed in population between city and rural ridings.

The House started consideration of the bill last April. The issue of the population difference level also appeared to be well on the way toward settlement when the House adjourned for the night. Eldon Woodliffe (PC - Bow River) had moved an amendment raising the tolerance figure to 25 per cent from 20, and Mr. Pickersgill indicated he would support it. He said the change would make little practical difference.

Talent Not Enough

Canada's Miss Misses

LONDON (UPI)—Miss United Kingdom, 20-year-old hairdresser Ann Sidney, was named Miss World 1964 in a contest with 41 other beauties from many nations Thursday night.

After the contest, the 36-24-36 beauty said "My aim is to see as many countries as possible and help to increase international friendship. I would like to go into films."

One of the most talented contestants, though not among the finalists, was a Miss Canada (not the recently-crowned one), 24-year-old Mary Farrell of Ontario. The 36-24-36 brunette model hopes to be a singer of semi-classical songs. One of eight children, she says she entered the contest to promote Canada.

UN Debt Dispute

Thant Won't Postpone
Pledging Conference

REBUKE TO U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary-General Thant, in what was interpreted by some diplomats as a rebuke to the United States, has refused to postpone a pledging conference for United Nations assistance funds scheduled Monday.

The Soviet Union and France were reported to have opposed postponement. They are principal debtors in the financial crisis that threatens a showdown over depriving the Soviet and other delinquents of their votes at the Dec. 1 opening of the general assembly.

The United States announced last week that it would not make its customary annual pledge at the conference for the expanded program of technical assistance and the special fund for investment projects in underdeveloped countries.

The U.S. usually pledges up to 40 per cent of the funds' budgets on a basis of matching contributions from other countries. This contribution has averaged more than $20,000,000 yearly.

The U.S. action was regarded as a warning that it would pay no more than its legal assessment of 31.91 per cent of regular UN budget unless the Soviet and seven other delinquents made payments on their arrears.

BOLIVIA PAYS

(France does not become subject to loss of its assembly vote until 1965. Bolivia has paid $37,600, removing it from the list of countries whose votes are jeopardized before Jan. 1).

Ambassadors of Canada, Italy and Japan formally requested postponement for three weeks.

CONSENSUS SEEN

Representing their position as a consensus of other delegates with whom they had talked, the three diplomats argued that since the assembly had been postponed for three weeks to afford time to reach agreement on averting a showdown on the financial crisis, a similar postponement should be ordered for the pledging conference.

FOUR HOURS

Less than four hours after he received the request, Thant's office announced Thursday that "after consulting the pros and cons, the secretary-general has informed the representatives that it would be extremely difficult to postpone the meeting."

Fire Destroys Hess Goal

HAMILTON, Scotland (UPI)—Dungavel House, the Scottish stately home that Adolf Hitler's deputy, Rudolph Hess, was trying to reach when he made a dramatic flight from Germany during the Second World War, was destroyed Thursday by fire.

The 70-room mansion near here once was owned by the Duke of Hamilton, but was sold to the National Coal Board and used as a school for training young miners.

'Possible'

Canada To See Pope?

NEW YORK (AP)—A Vatican envoy said Thursday "it is very possible that Pope Paul will visit the United States and Canada in his regime."

Mgr. Alberto Giovannetti, the Vatican's permanent observer at the United Nations, said such a visit would be only in connection with "a religious occasion that would justify such a visit."

Pope Paul's trip to the Holy Land last year was in connection with Christmas and his trip to India next month is in connection with the international eucharistic congress.

Prince Charles May Testify in High Court

By EDWIN BOTE
Colonist
European Correspondent

LONDON—Wearing a white wig and scarlet robes, a British High Court judge will have to decide about the school essays of 16-year-old Prince Charles, heir to the British throne. One of the most amusing and interesting trials in British legal history will determine how Prince Charles' school essay book left his possession—and exactly who owns its copyright.

Prince Charles himself may be subpoenaed as a witness.

In September, Prince Charles' essay book disappeared from Gordonstoun School in Scotland, where he is being educated because his father, Prince Philip, was educated there. The book contains several hand-written school essays—each 500 to 1,000 words long—about the British monarchy, the British political system, and the British press. Perhaps the most interesting is an essay about Britain's unique social class distinctions.

A few days ago, the 30-year-old British freelance journalist Terence Smith, owner of the Mercury Press Agency in the provincial town St. Helens, called a sensational press conference. He disclosed that he was hauling the Commissioner of Scotland Yard (London's police chief) Sir Joseph Simpson and Detective-Superintendent Cyril Gold of Scotland Yard's Special Branch before the High Court to demand the return of "goods wrongfully taken" and damages.

The "goods wrongfully taken" is Prince Charles' essay book. Of course it is no longer in Scotland. Continued on Page 1 ference since the commissions would generally stay well within either tolerance figure.

PRINCIPLE CITED

Only spokesmen for the New Democratic Party voiced opposition to the amendment. Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) said the higher tolerance figure would be to his benefit, but he wouldn't support it on the grounds that it gets much further away from the principle of one man, one vote. And the higher the tolerance figure, the more likely would be the jockeying by various persons for changes in the boundaries.

BEST COMPROMISE

Mr. Woodlams said the suggestion of the Speaker making the appointments is the best compromise.

But Mr. Knowles said his group would not accept this. He said Mr. Woodlams "let the cat out of the bag" when he said the Speaker would probably consult party leaders before making any appointments.

QUITE CLEAR

"We're making it quite clear that what we're going to get is political appointments in one form or another."

But he indicated he would support the proposal providing the Speaker was given guidelines as to the appointment of at least one member of each commission. He said these could be drawn from the chief electoral officer of each province, the chief surveyor or the recorder of vital statistics.

SOVES PROBLEM

Mr. Olson said Mr. Pickersgill's suggestion to have the Speaker make the appointments is "as close to perfection as we are going to be."

Mr. Pickersgill said he thought there had been "a lot of unnecessary hair-splitting" on the question.

DILUTION SEEN

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) said the principle of keeping the commissions non-political was being diluted.

He suspected there had been "prior consultation and discussion" to reach a meeting of minds between the Liberals and Conservatives on the proposal to make the Speaker name commission members.

NO CONSULTATION

Mr. Pickersgill said there had not.

Mr. Howard said the proposal to have the Speaker make two appointments would drag him into politics and "likely degrade even further the office of Speaker."

Grid Rookie Back on Ice

WINNIPEG (CP) — Billy Cooper, 1964 rookie of the year in the Western Football Conference, is back in hockey with the junior Winnipeg Warriors.

The 19-year-old Winnipeg Blue Bomber flanker played with the Manitoba Junior Hockey League club last year. He's a right-winger.

His return to the first-place Warriors ends speculation on whether he would quit hockey following his success with the Bombers.

Your Good Health

Chronic Cough Dangerous Even If Cause Is Trifling

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been bothered with colds and a hacking cough every winter. I have had TB X-rays and they are negative, and I do not smoke or drink. So what could cause these coughs? I am 68. —H.M.

A good many things besides colds and tuberculosis can cause coughs—although those are frequent causes. So is smoking, but you don't smoke.

Post-nasal drip, resulting from something wrong in the nose, often quite minor, can instigate coughing, and it is commonly more severe at night. Bronchitis, chronic bronchitis, various inflammations of throat or bronchial tubes, chronic or acute lung conditions other than tuberculosis—all of these add to the immense amount of coughing we do collectively.

It is virtually impossible to make a valid guess as to the cause of a cough from even the most detailed description. And sometimes it isn't easy to track down the cause without a searching examination of nose, throat and lungs. Sometimes allergies are responsible. A "nervous cough" is not unknown.

MAY BE SERIOUS
The cause may be serious, or it may be trivial. But it is worth consulting your doctor.

A cough, even from some trifling cause, can do its own share of damage if allowed to continue indefinitely. It can interrupt sleep. It can be tiring. A hard coughing spell can make a rupture worse, and can aggravate emphysema.

So if you have a chronic cough, find the cause and get rid of it. Cough drops and cough mixtures may be fine for brief episodes of throat irritation, but they do nothing to cure the cough that hangs on.

Dear Dr. Molner: Two years ago I broke my foot. Now, every so often, about 24 hours before it rains, my foot starts hurting. Is there any scientific reason for this? —P.L.F.

There probably is a reason, but it is hard to say what. Perhaps it is a result of an abrupt change in barometric pressure. After all, we know that a falling barometer presages storms, rain or change in weather. For many years some people with "rheumatism" have said that pains in their joints foretold the weather much the way a barometer helps to do so. When your foot was broken, it is likely that there was some damage to the joints. Or, in more technical terms, some "arthritic changes."

Dear Dr. Molner: Some nights

my wife, a diabetic, awakens with her heart pounding like a hammer. She has no pain, and if she gets up and moves about a little, it goes away. What could be the cause and what can she do? —W.H.

This sounds like paroxysmal tachycardia—a period of rapid heart beat—which can occur with many ailments, or, indeed, when there is no apparent one at all. This sudden racing of the heart does not necessarily imply that anything is wrong with the organ. Usually not, in fact.

RECTORIA RHYTHM
With different people, it occurs under different circumstances: At times of tension, after a big meal, and so on. Simple measures such as changing position (getting out of bed, as your wife does), holding the breath, or taking a drink of cold water, often serves to restore normal heart rhythm. As simple as that!

Since your wife is diabetic, and the attacks come when she is asleep, there may be a connection. If she takes insulin, she may have a drop in blood sugar in the night, and it might precipitate the racing of the heart. She should tell her physician about it. He may see fit to adjust the insulin dose, or her diet.

No Attempted Rape

Indecent Assault Verdict of Jury

Esquimalt sailor Daniel Stanley Fletcher, 20, was remanded to today for sentence when a jury returned a verdict of guilty to a charge of indecent assault after deliberating more than four hours Thursday.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty to a charge of attempted rape which was laid in addition to the indecent assault charge following an incident in Fletcher's car, 18 involving a 17-year-old girl.

WISE DISCRETION

Fletcher is to appear for sentence at 4:30 p.m. today before Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton.

In his final address to the 12-man jury, Mr. Justice Wootton said: "You have had quite a problem here and I think you have exercised wise discretion in your verdict."

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE

At the close of the evidence today the jury was faced with conflicting evidence of the girl and the accused.

In his evidence Fletcher said the girl had agreed to go for a drink with him after she finished work at a drive-in restaurant. He testified the girl "went along with me" when they had parked in a deserted school grounds. He said there was some love-making but no intercourse.

FOR RIDE HOME

The girl had testified she had accompanied Fletcher in his car for a ride home, but did not consent to parking, love-making or drinking.

She told the court she attempted to escape from the parked car twice, but each time she was dragged back and "forced" to drink wine. She said she went along with the love-making because she was frightened and "too weak to do anything."

Other evidence indicated the girl had not suffered any injury as a result of the incident. Fletcher testified that on the day previous to the early-morning incident he had been celebrating his 20th birthday and had drunk a little wine and "six or eight beers" before he picked up the girl.

land Yard's possession, but is now with the original owner's parents, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

Smith says he went to Gordonstoun and there, in a saloon near the school, he signed a contract with another person, and completely legitimately obtained possession of the book. After he had made this known in journalistic circles, he received several offers from foreign newspapers and magazines.

Recently he was telephoned by a man who said he was the representative of the big French newspaper "Le Figaro," and made a very good offer. This man insisted on seeing the book. Smith says he telephoned Le Figaro's London office, and after first suspicious conversation had no doubt that the Figaro representative was genuine.

The man who pretended to act for Le Figaro and introduced himself as Bonham, came with another man. When Smith showed Prince Charles' essay book to the two men, Bonham took it—and went away with it. The other man now introduced himself as Detective Superintendent Cyril Gold of Scotland Yard and said they were acting under orders.

"It is quite clear that the St. Helens' telephone exchange on police orders diverted my call to the London office of Le Figaro to Scotland Yard," says Smith. "I was told afterwards by the real representative of Le Figaro that his office never got my call, and knew nothing about the entire matter."

Smith insists that he obtained the essay book completely legally. In a long telephone conversation, he told me: "I haven't the slightest doubt that Prince Charles parted from the book with his full knowledge and consent. I can't say whether he sold it or gave it away. But if he got anything for it, then it wasn't much. I myself had nothing to do with Prince Charles personally, but got the book from the person who got it from Prince Charles. I don't want to reveal that person's identity."

"If I had not obtained the book legally, I certainly would not go to court."

"In your view, Mr. Smith, has Prince Charles as a minor the right to sell or give away his property?"

Bob Turley Tries Again With Colts

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bob Turley, baseball's outstanding pitcher in 1958, will join Houston Colts this spring in an attempt to make a comeback as a major league pitcher.

"If Turley's arm is sound, and he says it is, he should be a valuable addition to our pitching staff," Paul Richards, Colt general manager, said Wednesday.

Last season Turley, 34, was pitching coach for Boston Red Sox. Most of his career was spent with Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees.

U.S. Missile Lead Growing

ICBM program will be substantially completed next year, but the Soviets are expected to be increasing production, it said.

The institute's researchers found that in medium and intermediate-range missiles, the Soviet continues far ahead of the United States and its allies. It gave the Soviet total as 750 but had no figures for the West. The study made these other comparisons:

● Bombers: The Soviet has about 1,400 medium-range bombers, but Western strength in this field has been reduced by about 25 per cent in the past year. In long-range bombers, however, the West leads by 630 to 200.

● Armies: The Soviet now has about 140 divisions, only about half at combat strength, but Warsaw Pact—the Communist NATO—organization and integration was reported improved in the past year.

● Navies: The Soviet is increasing the size of the navy, concentrating on submarines and building about 10 nuclear submarines a year. It has at least 23 such submarines this year and is expected to have 30 by early next year. The United States' nuclear submarine fleet is expected to increase from its early 1964 figure of 33 to 54 by early next year.

No Special Plans For Retired Group

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson has told representatives of the federal civil service that the government cannot make special arrangements to increase the pensions of government workers already retired.

He told the Commons Thursday he has written to the civil service associations saying the government feels that to do so would be discriminating against other persons retired on pensions who did not work for the government.

Retired civil servants will be treated in the same way as others under old age pensions and old age assistance plans, Mr. Pearson added.

World's Biggest Cheese Getting a Little Tubby

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — They're planning a corset for the world's biggest cheese. It's developing middle-age spread.

The cheese was made for display last summer at the New York world's fair and will be returned there next summer. Right now it's on show here.

The 34,501-pound cheese has expanded about an inch and a half.

The bulge will be handled by a corset of planks to restore a "youthful appearance."

U.S.-Europe Crisis Cools

PARIS (UPI) — A showdown involving the United States and its European allies has been shelved—but only temporarily—Western diplomatic sources said Thursday.

The basic problems dogging the Atlantic alliance and the European Common Market remain as threatening as ever, diplomats said.

The two major issues are:

- The American-sponsored multilateral nuclear force project. President de Gaulle of France has threatened to break up the French-German friendship pact and perhaps leave NATO if this goes through.

• The European Common Market. De Gaulle has given West Germany a year-end deadline for agreement on farm prices, falling which he would boycott or walk out of the six-nation group.

Diplomatic sources said the twin crises, which had seemed to be moving toward a showdown in the next six weeks, appeared to have been put temporarily on ice by two developments in the past 24 hours.

In the West German capital of Bonn, the steering committee of the ruling Christian Democratic Union, announced Wednesday night there was no great hurry about launching the nuclear force. It acted after hearing former chancellor Konrad Adenauer report on his Paris talks this week with de Gaulle.

KENNEDY ROUND

In Brussels, the French and West Germans decided to sidestep an immediate showdown over Common Market farm prices. The French agreed to go ahead with the so-called "Kennedy Round" tariff-cutting talks in Geneva. Previously, they had insisted on a prior common market agricultural agreement.

French officials issued denials of anything like a deal under which the West Germans would take the heat off the nuclear force project if de Gaulle eased up on Common Market farm prices.

NO DEAL

The officials insisted there was no question of a deal because the two problems were not connected.

FOUR TOGETHER

The western provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are to share a pavilion at the 1967 World Exposition in Montreal.

But diplomats said whether the crisis now flares again will depend largely on the United States. In any case, de Gaulle will continue to fight against the nuclear force at all costs, even risking the break up of NATO, diplomats believed.

New Union Calls First Pulp Strike

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Organized labor's first strike in the U.S. West Coast pulp and paper industry was called Thursday by a union which became bargaining agent for 21,000 workers only two months ago.

Management estimated some 16,000 workers in supporting operations also could be affected and that a $5,000,000 weekly payroll could be shut off in three states.

A contract negotiating session between the Association of Western Pulp and Paper Workers and the Pacific Coast Association of Pulp and Paper Manufacturers broke off shortly after midnight. Pickets then showed up at plants in Oregon, Washington and California.

Cause of Failure Found in Mariner

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The U.S. federal space agency said Thursday it had located the cause of last week's Mariner III failure and was trying to correct the problem on a similar craft before the Dec. 2 deadline for launching another Mars probe.

The failure was blamed on a protective shroud that did not spring free of the spacecraft 5½ minutes after launch as planned. As a result, Mariner III's speed was held down by the extra weight and its vital solar panels were unable to unfold to recharge the craft's battery.

Until scientists are reasonably certain Mariner IV will not suffer the same fate, the space agency said no new launch date will be set. The shot had been tentatively set for Nov. 17.

Mars moves out of shooting range from earth after Dec. 2, and the next opportunity for a rocket probe to the red planet will come in late 1966.

Vancouver Bus Pay Leader on Continent

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Dash, a Philadelphia economist, said Thursday he had examined the wage levels of Vancouver bus drivers and found them substantially ahead of the wage levels for transit operators in other Canadian cities.

Mr. Dash told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that B.C. Hydro transit fares are roughly equal to fares in the rest of the country.

However, he said, approval of B.C. Hydro's request to increase fares from 15 to 25 cents would make them the highest in Canada.

Mr. Dash was one of two witnesses appearing on behalf of 10 municipalities in the Vancouver and Victoria areas opposing Hydro's application to increase bus fares.

Ed Peacock, a transit official from Trenton, N.J., said that if the B.C. Hydro transit system was freed from its parent company, it could save up to $200,000 a year.

A Democratic Right?

JUDGE MARCEL LETOURNEAU of Quebec municipal court ruled earlier this week that booing the Queen is not an illegal act. On this finding he dismissed charges against two Montreal students accused of yelling "chou"—the French equivalent of "boo"—at Her Majesty as she drove up to the Quebec Legislative Building October 10.

The judge said this: "That the accused sang, called out slogans and even addressed disrespectful cries to the Queen, perhaps showed a lack of education and courtesy but it certainly cannot, in the present context, constitute an illegal act." He then ordered that charges of disorderly conduct be dismissed against the two young men with the comment that the right to free opinions in a democracy must be recognized.

Despite the fact that the majority of Canadians are unversed in the finer points of law and in no position to challenge the learned judge's action, they will undoubtedly find his ruling somewhat disturbing.

It could, in fact, raise the following questions: If it is legal to boo the Queen, is it also legal and a democratic right to boo the governor-general of Canada or the lieutenant-governors of the provinces because they are the Crown's representatives?

Is it also a democratic right for any Canadians to "address disrespectful cries" to the prime minister because he is the Queen's first minister of Canada, or call out rude slogans to any member of our armed forces or elected member of Parliament, because they have pledged allegiance to Her Majesty?

Is it, in fact, our democratic—and legal—right to insult any person or persons—including learned judges—who hold office under the government because the government is a constitutional monarchy under Elizabeth the Second, Queen of Canada?

If the Queen—who holds the titular office of head of our country—can be legally insulted with impunity, then by what right have those who hold lesser offices to expect any better treatment?

Disengagement?

AMERICAN custodians have arrived at Comox to take charge of the nuclear armament for interceptor aircraft, the Bomarcas have been fitted with warheads, and the defence department is adding to the atomic capability of the artillery.

This is most interesting because if Mr. Pearson lived up to his promises none of this type of armament would be on Canadian soil at all.

It was in his election campaign of early 1963 that he made great play of what he called Mr. Diefenbaker's commitment to the United States to accept nuclear armament for Canada. Mr. Pearson was opposed to atomic weapons but he argued that to honor Canada's word he would if elected to power accept the obligation. It was debatable that a commitment had actually been made, but on becoming prime minister Mr. Pearson put the matter beyond doubt by concluding an agreement with Washington to this effect; something that seemed redundant if in fact Mr. Diefenbaker had already committed the nation.

Mr. Pearson made equal play, however, of his intention, once having "honored" the pledge, to immediately renegotiate an opting out of the arrangement.

Well, he has been in office now for 18 months, long enough to back out of an agreement which on the election hustings was distasteful to him. But instead of being out of the nuclear picture his defence department is busy putting the country into it.

Election gambits often seemed designed only to win votes; but this was one guarantee which Mr. Pearson cited as important and seemed to be fundamental to his philosophy. What price now his promise to disengage from the nuclear field?

A Broader Issue

THE BUILDING of a hospital in Saanich, Mr. John Tisdale says, should be a major issue for candidates for council seats in the December elections. Despite the need for additional hospital beds in the Greater Victoria region, the Saanich MLA's suggestion is one that seems hardly likely to set a flame under the thoughtful contender for municipal office or the ratepayers. Both financially and from the point of view of service such a project would require a long, careful look.

Not everyone will be convinced that hospitals of the size of the Royal Jubilee or St. Joseph's cannot operate efficiently, though Mr. Tisdale quotes a recent survey to this effect. The natural expectation on the contrary would be that expansion would be most economical and fruitful where a full range of functions had already been established.

The rapid growth of population on the Saanich Peninsula, it is true, calls for the selection of a central site in that area when the existing hospitals have reached practical physical limits and the time comes for a third major institution to be started.

But a certainty is that then as now, the ratepayers of Saanich, and as Mr. Tisdale's proposal implies, of Oak Bay, will not want to bear the community share of the cost alone without the help of the people of Victoria, Esquimalt and the other beneficiaries; not after having given their full support through taxes and personal donations to the extension of the Jubilee and St. Joseph's.

A Saanich hospital in due course hence must be the subject of interest and concern through the whole of the capital region. It cannot serve properly as a rallying cry in the council elections of the one municipality.

MR. AIKEN: A supplementary question, Mr. Speaker, is the minister aware that in both cases, the bobsled team last winter and the rowing team this fall, the participants had difficulty in getting themselves and their equipment to the Olympics?

Miss LaMarsh: Yes, Mr. Speaker, but that obviously did not deter them from carrying off the highest awards, and this situation is far from unique to Canada.

Mr. Erik Nielson (Yukon): A supplementary question, Mr. Speaker. Can the Minister of Justice advise the House whether the government is planning to give Hal Banks a gold medal for ball jumping?

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships,
and sealing wax ...

WE say when human ways bring things together that to speak of the devil is to summon him right away.

Often it's a friend who turns up, not the devil, probably with his ears ringing with telepathic awareness that he's being spoken of.

In a way it's a case of casting your bread upon the waters, although if you do this with ulterior motive I suppose the idea doesn't work too well.

I wasn't of this mind certainly when the other day, thinking to be whimsical, I stuck up for the chaps who dodge leaders, don't favor the third light on a match, et cetera, but frankly make obeisance to fate by taking no chances.

And particularly cling to that lucky charm—the horseshoe.

I said that maybe I should get one of these tailfins myself, so that I would bank in the benevolence. Not seriously, actually, but I have been taken at my word.

A gracious Rockland Avenue lady has made me the recipient of a horseshoe she has had for eight or half-a-century, and which perhaps has watched over her as she moved contentedly into longevity.

And a fine handsome specimen of the blacksmith's art it is, curved of shining brass with nails of nickel. And with a story to it forby.

It was given to her on the Western Front of the first war by a farrier-sergeant whose wounds she bound up at a field hospital near Arras. She was a nursing sister, you see, and for four years in that holocaust of arms she spent herself in behalf of men in physical travail.

Moreover the horseshoe he had fashioned was unusual: it was made from parts of a German aircraft brought down in the allied lines. It was a legacy of his skill and of his war.

You might think that since he was wounded it hadn't brought him much luck, but you would be wrong. Many a man thought himself lucky to get a "Blighty," and when my benefactor pinned the label "England" on him he thought she herself was responsible for sending him home.

And so he showed his gratitude by giving her the horseshoe that henceforth will be carefully guarded by yours truly. It may bring him luck.

Speaking of the devil, meaning the horseshoe he shies away from, yet another lady has sent me one. This time in the jocular vein that brought forth this unexpected dual response.

It is a small souvenir replica adorned with a "Canada" symbol of fir tree and stag, and it comes with the greeting "Long may your lum reek."

You know what that means, I hope. When a chimney is smoking it suggests that all is well at the hearth, the house and its folk warm and comfortable. (At least it did before oil burning became the style.)

So it also may be a harbinger of the well-being that St. Dunstan invoked when he put a shoe on the devil's hoof.

My thanks to both these feminine readers, who of a truth have surprised me.

For a horseshoe to bring its possessor good luck he should deserve it, I suppose. I shall have to mind my ps and qs.

Ottawa Offbeat

Parliament's Relentless Warrior

RICHARD JACKSON, Columnist Ottawa Bureau

IT just wasn't the same harried and harassed Hill last week with the old warrior Conservative leader John Diefenbaker off to the political wars across the country.

The tension was gone. The pressure was off. It was almost as if the House of Commons was on some sort of part-time holiday, with nobody getting any real steam up about anything.

The fight had gone out of it—literally—with Diefenbaker changing his political battlefield from the Hill to the huntings.

For say what you will—and the Liberals have been saying plenty, not all of it printable—about the man many used to know as, and still call "Fighting John Diefenbaker," he attends to the work, the hard slugging of "opposing," as no other Opposition leader in living parliamentary memory.

He's been blamed and blasted, discounted and denigrated for allegedly paralyzing Parliament through a running blockade of Liberal legislation.

But it isn't quite that way—in fact, he has only been doing what any Opposition leader worth his parliamentary pay would do—and an increasing number of taxpayers seem to be agreeing, with the public opinion polls giving him much higher marks than they ever gave Prime Minister Pearson in his six years at the same job.

True, they both fought their way from the political wilderness of the "outs," to the seats of power of the "ins."

But for Diefenbaker it was far more of a feat than for Pearson. For with the Liberals so long in power through the 21 years of Mecklenburg King and St. Laurent, government was almost expected of them, as opposition was of the Conservatives.

The very federal establishment, through a whole generation of appointments—plainly political to government boards and bureaus, and supposedly non-political to the Crown corporations and civil service—itself became a built-in and perpetuating Liberal power structure.

It became fashionable, the "in" thing, at least around the capital, to be a Liberal, with Conservatism perhaps a brave, but decidedly forlornly lost cause.

Then along came John Diefenbaker, fighting like fury, as no Opposition leader before had fought. Often mean, even miserable. But tough, always hard as nails. Giving no quarter and asking none. A scrapper from away back in the hard, unrelenting, disappointing but never completely defeating Prairie political days.

He smashed the Liberal mould in Ottawa that produced one government after another through the late '30s and '40s and deep into the '50s.

Now he's at it again. And he's still mean, often miserable. Always tough. Never giving up. Fighting, fighting, fighting for the principles, the beliefs, the traditions by which he lives.

He isn't lovable. Perhaps he isn't even personally popular.

But is he supposed to be? If everybody liked him, would he be doing his job?

Critics are seldom idolized, especially when much of what they say obviously appears only as the unpleasant truth.

But look at this man. He has always been a tall, and now, it seems, an increasingly lonely figure.

Watch him, as stiff and unbending he strides across the Parliamentary Restaurant, his head greyed but unbowed in a lifetime of public service.

Critics have been crawling all over him, in the daily and periodical press, but especially over the publicly-financed CBC radio and television networks. And almost contemptuously, he has shrugged them off.

Outwardly he carries his head high and his shoulders straight.

But inwardly, you suspect, they are getting to him, and suspicious now of almost any and every newspaperman and broadcaster, he is becoming more remote.

It's a sad thing. For so many of them were his friends. And now he seems to feel betrayed—perhaps he is. He sort of reminds you of a brave old buffalo bull, cut off from the herd, and alone, as the wolves close in.

For look at it with clear, objective eyes, and you see a man grown old, approaching 70, in the dedicated service of his nation. With his talents, drive, frightening energy, determination, and clear toughness of mind, he could have made a fortune in law, perhaps become a millionaire in business. But instead, he chose to serve. He invested a lifetime. If he regards it as a mission, if he makes his job his whole life, then give him his due and acknowledge the public debt owed him.

His greatness is that on some questions he may be on the wrong side but, as his proud creed goes, never knowingly on the side of wrong.

Radio Diet

I was glad to see in the press a quote from Pat Burns of the "Hot Line" program, to the effect that most private radio stations were giving the public a steady diet of time checks, news and music. When someone in the industry points this out, it is time to take notice of something that has gone on far too long.

Time was, when local radio stations had some semblance of originality and production, with often good live talent of professional stature to enhance all this. In the city, apart from one very notable exception, the pattern is the same as elsewhere. One either gets a choice of jukebox noises such as one is used to hearing in any "greasy-spoon" operation or high-falutin' program titles to a succession of phonograph records that can be bought in any store or supermarket. This is really a hoax on the public. One gets a little tired of "Camelot," "My Fair Lady" and the like just as the alleged "top twenty."

Original Owners

With all this nation-wide controversy over what will, or will not be the accepted design for a true Canadian flag, not one individual seems to have given a thought to the rights of the native—the original owner of this vast land—the Indian.

Has he no voice in this matter? The French Canadian wants it his way. The British are, somewhat not unnaturally, pressing for their recognition.

But I repeat, how about the Indian from whom the land was taken? An Indian head in profile can be a noble affair if well designed. Let's have it somewhere recognized, however small, beside the maple leaf, or anything else if need be. These sentiments are from a Canadian—a believer not just in politics, but in fair play.

A Mixture of Conflicts

By FRANK PILGRIM
from Georgetown

WHILE the tumult and shouting of elections subside in Britain and America, seven rival political parties are now in full cry in British's largest remaining colony—the 89,000-square-mile patch of jungle, savanna, rich bauxite and coastal swamp on South America's north coast, known as Guiana.

On December 7, 220,000 voters will elect the country's new Legislative Assembly.

This election is regarded as being of major concern in world capitals on both sides of the Iron Curtain and in the neutral Afro-Asian bloc.

In this little colony hovering on the brink of independence can be found in miniature a maddening mélange of most of the world's conflicts.

Here, American concern for defence is confronted with Soviet aspirations in this hemisphere. Here, in this English-speaking country, a youth rally is punctuated with the chant "Cuba Si, Yanqui No."

Here, 180,000 descendants of African slaves see their world endangered by the overwhelming and still rising tide of 240,000 descendants of Indian indentured servants.

Various permutations of these basic conflicts resulted in a crippling general strike in 1962 and the burning and looting of one-third of the business area of the capital city during months of racial terrorism in 1963 and 1964.

The principal personality in this chaotic situation has been Dr. Cheddi Jagan, the outgoing premier of the country, whose People's Progressive Party has been returned to power with decreasing majorities in every election since 1953.

In the last election, he won 42 per cent of the votes. He says he is a socialist but denies allegations that he is Communist. Nevertheless, he has done little to discourage Soviet Bloc influences from coming into the country.

Many of his young party supporters—more than 500 in the past two years—have been to Cuba, Moscow, Poland and Czechoslovakia for technical and administrative training. His government has established firm trade links with Cuba—Guianese rice and timber in exchange for Russian oil, flour and Cuban cement.

As Dr. Jagan is an Indian, he has become the political idol of the large community of Indian agricultural workers and peasants, who tend to follow him regardless of his ideological leanings.

The second major personality is Forbes Burnham, leader of the People's National Congress (PNC), a suave barrister and scholar of African descent. He claims to be a socialist and loudly affirms his allegiance to the West. He draws his support principally from the ranks of the smaller African community.

As it is heavily concentrated in the principal towns and industrial areas such as the Canadian-owned Demerara Bauxite Company, he has been able to conduct an extremely successful obstructionist opposition to Jagan's government. In the last elections the PNC received 41 per cent of the votes.

The third personality is Peter Daiguar, a businessman of Portuguese descent, who has pioneered a sort of "capitalism for the masses" program which has earned him a devoted following from the middle classes of both major ethnic groups as well as from the small Portuguese, Chinese and mixed communities.

His party, which is called the United Force, won approximately 15 per cent of the votes at the last elections.

Judging from the mayhem of recent years, three more inoperable and intransigent leaders would be hard to find.

As the campaign develops momentum, greater interest is being taken by overseas observers in what is being actually promised by the major parties.

British Doctors

Greener Grass

By THOMAS LAND
from London

CANADA'S efforts to attract British doctors, with salaries and working conditions far superior to those offered by the National Health Service here, are likely to result in widespread resentment.

Health Minister Dr. J. W. McGrath of Newfoundland has come over from St. John's on a three-week recruiting mission to medical schools in England, Scotland and Ireland. "I hope to sign up at least 20 doctors to work in my province," he told me in his London hotel on his arrival.

British taxpayers spend $20,000 in university grants on the education of each physician. And they lose 400 doctors—or one quarter of the total annual output of all medical schools in the United Kingdom—to Canada, the other wealthy nations of the Commonwealth and the United States every year.

Dr. McGrath will be unable to estimate the full results of his tour for some time to come. It appears certain, however, that his efforts can only contribute to the present migration trends among Britain's 20,000 overworked and underpaid family doctors.

And these trends are threatening to bring down the nation's free medical care system. Hence the resentment.

General practitioners here earn an average of $8,000 a year, depending on the number of patients on their books. Dr. McGrath is offering them between $10,000 and $16,000 a year. Health service officials here estimate that the average GP has 2,300 patients and can spend no more than nine minutes with each during a visit to his surgery. And, of course, he can be called day and night.

He has not the time, nor the energy, after a hard day's work to keep up with the medical journals for the latest developments in diagnosis. So he refers doubtful cases to Britain's 4,000 odd specialists who are given the time, money and equipment for their callings.

"The present method of remuneration," said the medical advisory committee of the Central Health Services Council recently, "offers scant encouragement to good doctoring since the heavy expenses required for a high standard of premises, staffing, equipment and organization have to be met from the doctor's gross income and there is no incentive—save that of his own professional conscience—for him to spend money on these items."

Little improvement has been made since that report. "We can't help feeling that we have been turned into glorified clerks after all those years in college," one young GP has told me. "While you're used as a stamp passing patients on to hospitals where the real medicine is to be found, the grass on the other side of the ocean does seem jolly green from here."

However, it does not mean that Britain's National Health Service is a failure.

Introduced by a Labor government shortly after the Second World War, the system has succeeded in providing medical services for the whole of society—something badly needed in most countries. No government has dared to discontinue it. Still, it gives the GP a rough deal.

As a result, one of Britain's greatest exports over the years has been doctors and nurses, a spokesman for the Confederation of Health Service Employees says.

The Health Service hospitals meanwhile employ some 4,000 foreign doctors. Most of them have come from the so-called colored Commonwealth; and their services to this country has helped their fellow immigrants' lot.

Experts have warned, however, that the supply of these doctors will shortly dry up as the medical schools in their own countries improve.

Under such circumstances, Canada can only benefit from Dr. McGrath's mission. A great proportion of British doctors need not be persuaded to emigrate—it is only a question of choice for them between the nations competing for their services.

Still, Britons can hardly be expected to give a hearty welcome to friendly visitors recruiting their doctors whose departure is bound to result in deteriorated medical services here.

Johnson's New Domestic Policy Needs World Peace

By RICHARD WILSON
From Washington

Three main factors appear to be shaping the Johnson administration plans for the future: No drastic action in Viet Nam or Cuba. A continued split between China and the Soviet Union. A favorable economic outlook.

These factors add up to indicate a period of relative tranquility permitting attention to domestic problems and the adjustment of military expenditures.

President Johnson calls it a time to begin creating the "Great Society"—an indefinitely described condition which is the goal of some 15 task forces now at work on projects ranging from disarmament to how to prevent an economic recession next year. Progress in domestic fields would be difficult in a more disturbed world condition. But apparently it is the central conclusion of those who advise the president that the change in government in Russia was as much due to internal failures of the Khrushchev administration as to the break with China or the back-down in Cuba. Therefore it is not expected that China and Russia will join hands to disturb the peace of the world in the immediate future any more than they have in the past.

No pullout in Viet Nam appears to be planned. It looks like more of the same, a long, hard, costly attempt to outwit the Communists. Nor is there any solution in Cuba on the horizon. The U.S. is still in the long pull in both these areas of the world.

Under these conditions Johnson is able to cut taxes, expand the welfare state, and new concepts of federal-state partnership without resorting to big increases in military spending or public works to keep the economy humming.

Russia Must Pay Piper, But— Chinese Call Tune

By
L. RYAN

China's team in Moscow seems to have the new Soviet regime over a barrel in the struggle over what direction world communism will take.

Premier Chou En-lai and his delegation forced a concession from the Kremlin in return for extending the current chilly truce.

From its strong bargaining position, China appears to have forced the Kremlin to back away from its plans for a December meeting of international Communist leaders to prepare for a world meeting.

Instead, there are to be Soviet-Chinese talks in Peking early next year. But in the long run, this concession means little.

The talks this week accomplished little beyond temporarily halting the barrage of vilification which flew between Moscow and Peking in Nikita Khrushchev's time. This ceasefire now may last into 1965, or at least keep the battle in a minor key.

But up to now the new Soviet leadership under Leonid Brezhnev as Communist party

Soldiers Escape By Mine Field

GOETTINGEN (AP) — Two East German soldiers shot their way through the mined border area early Thursday and escaped to West Germany, police reported. A corporal and a private fired 30 rounds from a sub-machine gun into the mined ground to open a narrow path for their escape.

first secretary and Alexei Kosygin as premier seems to have failed in an important respect to meet the Chinese price for anything approaching real peace.

While talks went on in Moscow, Peking's propaganda laid down peace conditions in no uncertain terms. The conditions are harsh and probably never can be met by the Russians.

The Peking People's Daily, the voice of the Chinese party, warned that the Soviet Union, if it wants to restore unity, will have to support violent revolution everywhere, regardless of risk.

Peng Chen, a power in the Peking politburo, said in a speech this week that "victory of the people's revolution will not come as a matter of course," a pointed warning that Russia would have to stop dragging its feet and disregard risks of war involved in supporting violence.

The Chinese make these points: The Soviet Union must refrain from dictating to other parties. The People's Daily said Moscow must treat Peking as equal, and "it is only when these principles are strictly observed, not only in word but in deed, that the unity of the international Communist movement can be strengthened."

Moscow must purge from power all who supported Khrushchev. The People's Daily called Khrushchev "chief representative" of "modern revisionism," clearly meaning that many more remain in the Soviet party.

The Chinese leaders insist the world Communist split was no fault of theirs, indicating that if there is to be a cure, it is up to Moscow.

BACKGROUND

Concession to Enterprise

Collectives Sliced

By PHIL NEWSON

The Soviet Union has added another zag to the zig-zags which have characterized Communist policy toward agriculture since the days of Lenin.

Historically, Communist collective agriculture has never worked anywhere. And the reason that Soviet agriculture is not in worse shape than it is can be found in the tiny fraction of the land which the Soviets reluctantly have granted to farmers for their own use.

On these plots have been produced more than half the country's vegetables, eggs, fruit, poultry and milk.

Partly out of sheer necessity, partly in an overall attempt to curry favor among the population, the new Soviet leadership has disclosed that the role of the private plot again is to be increased.

In the Ukraine and Estonia decrees limiting the size of the private plots already have been rescinded. Similar action is expected among the 13 other republics which make up the Soviet Union.

The announcement of the increased role of the private plot by party secretary Leonid Brezhnev indicates that the new leadership, even as the deposed Nikita Khrushchev, has yet to find the magic formula to overcome the admitted lag in Soviet agriculture.

The new leadership has indicated it will follow the more practical course of increased agricultural investment and fertilizers.

In the enlargement of the private plots, it even will revert to capitalism.

Facts Refute Perrault's Charge

Blame Ottawa, Not B.C.

By IAN STREET

It is the federal government—not B.C.—which is calling the shot on RCMP costs.

This seems to have been forgotten by those who see in talk of re-establishment of a provincial police force here another plot to wreck Confederation.

The loudest cries were those of Ray Perrault, the provincial Liberal leader, who claimed the whole fuss was inspired by the provincial government.

And the man within the cabinet who is pushing hardest for a removal of RCMP is Mr. Gagliardi, he said.

The inference was that highways minister, who has had several highly publicized brushes with RCMP, would no longer be in danger of receiving traffic tickets.

Nonetheless, said Mr. Gagliardi, the RCMP does a good policing job throughout the province. He added that the Liberal leader is always looking under the bed and behind every tree for bogymen.

Mr. Bonner, who raised the possibility that B.C. will be forced to set up its own police following Ottawa talks last week, dismissed Mr. Perrault's outburst as simply political fence-mending.

In other words, the Pearson government in Ottawa, faced with the prospect of an early general election, is anxious to shift all the blame onto B.C.'s shoulders.

Yet, as Mr. Bonner points out, it was Ottawa that gave notice of termination of contracts for RCMP services next May; it was the federal government which proposed increased costs and a new basis for sharing that would still further increase B.C.'s contribution from 40 per cent to 55 per cent.

The provinces were also given notice that the RCMP "in time" would withdraw from policing of all municipalities with populations over 5,000.

There are now 25 such communities in the province with RCMP municipal detachments totalling 306 men.

So that would mean, after dismissing the improbable possibility of this or any other provincial government allowing each of these small communities to set up separate municipal detachments, a provincial force with at least 500 men would be needed.

That was about the strength of the old B.C. Police when it was disbanded. In those days Victoria and Saanich had their own municipal forces, as did Vancouver and New Westminster and one or two interior centres.

Three Universities

Director Arrives For Fund Drive

Frank Finlay, a fund campaign worker with 20 years experience, arrived in Victoria Thursday to work as director of the Island portion of the Three Universities Capital Fund Campaign.

Mr. Finlay was in Victoria last year to conduct a survey for the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. and he also conducted a survey for Shawinigan Lake School.

Before that he was assistant campaign director for the $7,500,000 fund drive for McMaster University in Hamilton. He also worked in a similar capacity for the $4,000,000 drive for the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg.

His most recent assignment was a campaign for Queen's College in Newfoundland.

Mr. Finlay is working with local officials setting up committees and organizing the campaign office in the B.C. Hydro Building on Pandora.

Rhodesia Jailings Illegal

SALISBURY (AP) — Rhodesia's high court handed Prime Minister Ian Smith's white government a sharp setback Thursday, ruling that African nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo and 16 other Africans are being detained illegally in Gwelo Jail.

Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle and two other judges agreed that the Preventive Detention Act under which the 17 Africans were held is inconsistent with the constitution's declaration of rights.

The court ruled that the government's orders jailing the men should be cancelled.

Nkomo and his associates will not be released immediately, however. The judges suspended their order until Nov. 20 to give the government time to appeal to the Privy Council in London.

The government said it had not decided whether it would appeal.

Government lawyers had told the court that Nkomo and the others had been detained because the government feared their activities might result in a state of emergency.

"If they were released at this stage, that very state of emergency which their detention sought to avoid might result," one lawyer said.

Nkomo, 43, head of the nationalist People's Caretaker Council, has long been the target of the Rhodesian white-supremacy government.

He was arrested in April and ordered detained for a year on charges of stirring unrest and disrupting the economy. He and his associates are held in a remote area of central Rhodesia.

RESOLUTION REJECTED

When Prime Minister Smith sought to rally a show of African support for his plan to make Rhodesia independent under white rule, the British government rejected a resolution of support from a meeting of African tribal chiefs and head-men because Nkomo and the other nationalist leaders were not consulted.

British Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley also refused invitations from Smith to come to Rhodesia to discuss the independence dispute because Smith said he could not see the leaders under detention.

Statement on Jews Too Late for Vote

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — An American member of the secretariat for promoting Christian unity said Thursday there is no chance that the current session of the ecumenical council will complete action on declarations on religious liberty and on the Jews. The session ends next week.

Father Thomas Stranaky said that declarations on two controversial issues have been extensively revised in committee.

The statement on the Jews now takes Moslems and other non-Christians into consideration.

STATEMENT RETITLED

Originally aimed solely at condemning anti-Semitism based on the role of Jews in the crucifixion, the statement now has been retitled "a declaration on the relation of Catholics to non-Christian religions."

The revised declaration on religious liberty, aimed at putting the church on record in favor of freedom of worship according to conscience, was described as "much different" than the original version by Father Stranaky.

Father Stranaky said that both declarations could reach the council floor before the current third session closes on Nov. 21. But he said neither has a chance of being readied for promulgation.

PRINTING HELD UP

He said the statement on religious liberty should be distributed to the council fathers Saturday. But the theological commission was holding up printing of the declaration on the non-Christians until a decision was made on where and how the council should fit it in.

A proposal to append it to the document "De Ecclesia" (on the church) has drawn opposition from many commission members.

Remember when Bonded Stock came in that plain old bottle?

Well it doesn't anymore. That fine old bottle has launched its last sip. We've designed a new container for Gooderham's Bonded Stock. Tall and refined with classic lines. (Our whisky's now in the best shape ever). And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. To make every drop just a little more mellow. One thing though. Bonded Stock's smooth lightness we don't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it. Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock Whisky, so does the rest of the country.

Why was Saanich council not informed about the hospital bed controversy which has been raging in Victoria? A candidate for councillor in the Dec. 12 municipal election wanted to know Thursday night.

"Much of Saanich residents' money has gone into our hospitals. Where were our municipal representatives when this acute bed shortage was being discussed?" asked candidate Alan Newberry.

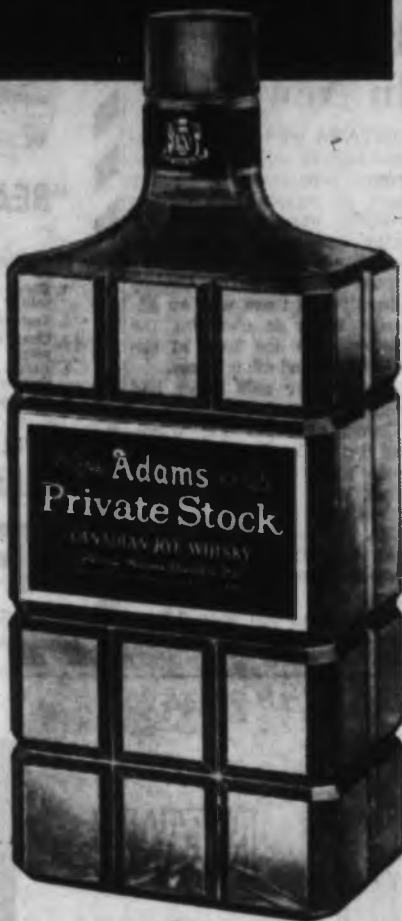

"Was this ever brought to the attention of Saanich council, or is this just another example of the provincial government riding like a tank over some of our municipal representatives?"

Mr. Newberry said conflicting statements about the shortage of hospital beds have been made by the hospital board, the hospital administrators and the minister of health.

Mr. Newberry suggested that Saanich might look into the possibility of building a children's hospital in the municipality.

Gem Thieves Pounce On Socialites

NEW YORK (UPI) — During jewel thieves have struck two social register families and carried off $131,000 in jewels within two weeks after the great jewel robbery at the Museum of Natural History, police reported Thursday.

The largest haul was $111,000 in jewels from the East Side Manhattan town house of Mrs. Clarence MacKay, widow of the radio communications tycoon and mother-in-law of Irving Berlin. Police said it occurred between last Sunday noon when Mrs. MacKay entered St. Luke's Hospital and Monday morning when a handyman discovered the theft.

Tuesday night a burglar who knew his way around the Long Island mansion of oil heir Howard Phipps, Sr., stole $21,000 in jewels from a bedroom closet while the family dined downstairs, police reported. It was the fifth burglary on the Long Island "Gold Coast" in the past month.

It was not known immediately whether the MacKay burglary included the famed MacKay emerald, a huge Lavalier stone which Mrs. MacKay often wears to the opera. Prior to her marriage to MacKay the former Anna Case was a soprano in the Metropolitan Opera Company.

People Painted Absurdly

By INA D. D. UTHOFF

Part of the exhibition Six Austrian Painters, which is being shown at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria until Nov. 22, is the work of the younger group one of them a surrealist.

Elisabeth Bauer-Stein, now in her early 30s, has one large canvas of some power.

It is not too easy to explain surrealism as so many changing and expanding concepts have been included since the movement first caught on in Europe after the First World War.

The place of dreams as symbolic revelations has been generally accepted and played upon by painters, and surrealism has become an attitude of mind that permits acquiescence in absurd juxtaposition of entirely unrelated objects.

It is claimed that reality lies in the subconscious which is not governed by visual logic and, in this way, there seems to be little visual difference between surrealism and abstract expressionism, except that the expressionist painter takes ideas from the subconscious while the surrealist seeks to invent ideas.

Many contemporary painters now are considered to be surrealists who, 20 years ago, would have been included in the abstract expressionist group.

If you visit the Art Gallery and study Elisabeth Bauer-Stein's large canvas Queen of the Night and the smaller painting Song of the Rolling Ocean, you will find the faces of the friends of the painter mixed in with the bodies of horses equipped with fishes' tails, fantastic fishes and other completely unrelated items originating in the dream world.

Then have a look at Wings Near the Sun, a watercolor painting that might easily have been done by a child but which surprises one by its power. Then have a look at Hermaphrodite Head and the delicate pen drawing Orpheus and Eurydice.

I do not find the work of Gerhard Swoboda particularly interesting except that Source River of the Moldau is a wonderfully vital piece of color.

To return to the monotypes by Fred Nowak, which I had not seen when I wrote the first part of this review of the work of the six Austrian painters, here is a graphic artist who is doing something experimental with printing inks and creating what he calls "lift" prints of extreme richness and transparency. The fact that he works as a printer of Austrian bank notes may explain his perfection of technique in Man with Green Hands, Heads from the Prater and Watching Men in the Night. His etchings should not be missed.

Inflation Feared

Tories Lash 'Hamfisted' U.K. Budget

LONDON (CP)—The Labor government was told Thursday its economic measures are "hamfisted and inept" and its first budget inflationary.

Reginald Maudling, former chancellor of the exchequer, lashed out at the budget in the House of Commons while from outside came threats of bus and taxi fare increases arising from a new gasoline tax.

The Tory spokesman said the £800,000,000 balance - of - payments deficit James Callaghan, Labor chancellor, spoke of when he brought down his budget Wednesday was the highest possible figure he could have chosen.

NOT TRADE DEFICIT
"Something like half is not trade deficit but overseas investments in new solid assets or repayments of outstanding debts."

Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Callaghan had promised before the Oct. 15 election taxes would not be increased but one of their first moves was the budget which added sixpence to the standard rate of income tax and the gasoline tax. Maudling estimated the costs of new social security benefits including pensions at £345,000,000.

"Does the prime minister intend to rescind these taxes before the next election?" Maudling demanded.

IMPORT LEVY ATTACKED
He was scathingly critical of the government's procedure in imposing a 15-per-cent import levy and implied the Socialists should have learned something from the way Canada took similar action during a balance-of-payments crisis in 1962.

Canada applied a graduated surcharge ranging from five per cent to 15 per cent. Maudling implied that this aroused less hostility among trading partners.

Douglas Jay, board of trade president, reiterated that the Socialists on taking office found the country's financial position even worse than had been expected.

Jay announced broad Labor plans for increasing trade, including trade with China, and reported that William McFadden, president of the National Export Council founded by the Tories, will also become president of the Commonwealth Export Council founded by Labor.

Warheads Expected In New Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer said Thursday the defence department is "moving along at reasonable speed" in acquiring atomic warheads for RCAF interceptor squadrons in Canada.

Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) said there was an apparent delay in obtaining the warheads for the base at Comox, B.C., and other bases.

Mr. Hellyer said there had been no delay.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre), former defence minister, said the warheads were to have been received two years ago.

Mr. Hellyer said that whatever delay there was occurred while the Conservatives were in office.

"We expect this special ammunition early in the new year," he added.

Quebec Judge Clears Six Of Conspiracy

MONTREAL (CP)—Six young men, alleged by the Crown to be members of a revolutionary group, were freed Thursday by Judge Emile Trottier on charges of conspiracy to commit robberies with violence.

The judge ruled at the preliminary hearing of the six men that the Crown had not established sufficient proof to support the charges.

Freed were Marc-Andre Parisse, 20, of Arvida, Que., Claude Nadeau, 21, Jean-Guy Lafevre, 26, Yvon Hussereault, 19, Louis-Philippe Aubert, 21, and Bernard Mataligne, 20, all of the Montreal area.

ARRESTED IN BURN
They were arrested Sept. 1 at a camp in bush country near Shawinigan, Que., along with five others later charged with murder in the killing of two men during an abortive robbery of a Montreal gunshop Aug. 29. The five are awaiting trial.

Aubert and Mataligne are still before the courts on another charge of possession of dynamite laid in connection with the same case.

Judge Trottier said the evidence was that the six were members of a group headed by Francois Schirm, a former French Legion paratrooper. Schirm is one of the five facing murder charges.

Foster Mothers Hope To Close Appeal Gap

Collections for the United Appeal reached an even 90 per cent of the $410,000 objective at 5 p.m. Thursday. The amount now "in" is $388,118.

Helping to bridge the gap of $40,882 tomorrow will be five volunteer workers, five foster mothers of the Family and Children's Service, who will be in charge of the United Appeal booth at Yates and Douglas. On Wednesday, the Boy Scouts manned the booth from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The main branches of Victoria banks are also accepting donations as are department stores in the accounts sections.

New Plane Bit of an Oddball

OTTAWA (CP)—It won't be as weird as Britain's "Flying Bedstead" but the plane to emerge from a Canadian hanger at Montreal early next month will be a bit of an oddball just the same.

The six-ton plane is the CL-44 and its wings and tail can be tilted to the perpendicular so that it can take off and land vertically.

Officials said Thursday that since 1956, when research on the plane began, $4,422,323 has been spent on the project. The federal government has put up 65 per cent or $2,900,514 and Canair Limited the remainder.

Ground testing of the aircraft is scheduled to begin in January and, if all goes well, the first flight will take place early next June. The plane will likely be ready for demonstration to interested military agencies throughout the world in 1966.

But officials say it obviously has a civilian application in the Canadian north where airfields are few and far between. The plane could play an important role in resource exploration.

An originally conceived by the defence department's Defence Research board, the plane would be able to carry a load of 5,000 pounds over a radius of 250 miles at a minimum speed of 250 miles an hour and to hover for six minutes during take-off and landing.

The plane, equipped with four-bladed fiberglass propellers, has two engines in a broad wing which rotates through 90 degrees. The tail also tilts and there is a rotor at the stern. On takeoff, the wing and engines point upward. As the plane reaches cruising level, the wing turns downward to the normal position one expects of an airplane wing.

CL-44 to be unveiled next month

Feast Forges Bonds

Indians and non-Indians will sit side-by-side and learn a little more about each other when the first annual Friendship Feast is held in Strawberry Vale hall, at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 28.

About 25 guests are expected, including 30 Indian chiefs from Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland, mayors and representatives of provincial and city governments here, and businessmen from Vancouver and the state of Washington.

In tribute to the Clayoquot band, who believe they are descended from wolves.

The feast is sponsored each year by David McMillan, who has a claim digging operation here, but much of the credit for success of the annual event goes also to Indian chiefs in the Greater Victoria area who help with the entertainment and speech-making.

The long lines of tables in Strawberry Vale hall, they will see authentic Indian dancing in full costume, and will feast on the usual smoked salmon and devil fish (octopus).

Mr. McMillan, who was named Chief Wamish (man-of-peace) by the Turner Island Indian band, will be busy in the kitchen part of the evening, in his capacity as chef for the huge crowd.

Employees Helping Again

For a second time, employees of the National Trust Company are helping Mrs. Christine Crosby and her seven children, whose home burned Tuesday.

Efforts this time will be limited to a cash fund, because there is no space in the firm's new building for storage of anything else.

Driver Picked and Blamed

DUNCAN — A coroner's jury Thursday night decided the passenger died in a car crash Oct. 31, then blamed his death on the "negligence" of the driver.

Two young men who heard the crash said Wilson was pinned under the car on the passenger side and Sam was lying on top of him. Police said Sam left before they arrived.

The jury ruled Wilson was the passenger and said it was "unlikely" there were more than two people in the car.

Cowichan Answers The Bronx

DUNCAN — The letter from far away wasn't addressed to anyone in particular, but someone in a post office somewhere decided it should go to Art Stevenson, secretary of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

When he opened his mail Thursday morning, he found the following letter:

"Dear Trans-Canada Highway, please may I have some highway maps of Vancouver Island. I would like to have list of interesting places."

It was from a little girl in the Bronx, New York, who apparently needs the information for her schoolwork.

Mr. Stevenson will send—immediately—maps and other items which will tell the girl all anyone could know about the Cowichan Valley.

Courthouse Project Held Back

Aldermen refused to go along with a police commission recommendation Thursday that a $347,000 contract be entered into with Farmer Construction Ltd. to enable an early start on the new police station-courthouse complex.

Instead, another meeting will be held, attended by aldermen, members of the commission and the architect involved. If, at this meeting, all aldermen agree, the job will be let.

If there is disagreement the matter will go to the Centennial Committee which, after study, will authorize action.

GALIANO ISLAND — Judging of the recent garden contest held by the Galiano Island Chamber of Commerce has been completed, says civic affairs chairman W. J. Kolosoff.

The winners: large garden, 1. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stewart, 2. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Riddell; commercial class, 1. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kolosoff, Spotted Cabins, 2. Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bellhouse, Farmhouse Inn; small garden, 1. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ausman, 2. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams.

STREET EXPENSIVE — Land on Tokyo's main street, the Ginza, costs nearly $500 a square foot, and the Japanese say "a pound of Ginza clay is worth a pound of gold."

Space Plan Called 'Nonsense'

LUSAKA (UPI) — The weekly Central African Mail urged the government to tell Zambia's would-be spacemen, Makuba Nkoloso, to stop "this nonsense" and quit planning man-in-space programs.

Said the newspaper in an editorial: "We know Nkoloso has been involved in a political struggle for many years but this does not give him the right to make the country look ridiculous."

"Everyone knows Nkoloso couldn't even fire a cat into a tree, leave alone a man into space."

Probe to Hear Student Brief

A presentation to the Bladen Commission on the financing of higher education which visits Victoria next week, will be made by University of Victoria students.

today in a presentation on behalf of the organization by Miss Louise Merriam, secretary.

A delegation from the University of Victoria led by Dr. Malcolm Taylor will make a presentation to the commission.

Biggest jukebox made will churn out music for teenage dancers when Uncle Jake's, the first discotheque in Canada, opens on Pandora Avenue tonight.

The Greater Victoria Young Social Crediters will endow a 120 single records, mostly hit parade tunes, and 30 long plays.

The discotheque is under ownership of Tony and Ian Elise. Uncle Jake's jukebox will hold 120 single records, mostly hit parade tunes, and 30 long plays.

A suggestion that wreaths be placed in groups on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day instead of singly, in order to spare old people a long wait in the cold, received no support in city council Thursday.

"I can't agree to that," said Ald. Millard Mooney to the proposal by Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood. "The main part of the ceremony for many people is the independent placing of wreaths. I think it is extremely important to many of the participants."

Quiet UBC Students Picket Comox Base

COMOX — Four University of B.C. students, members of the UBC Nuclear Disarmament

Movement, spent 24 cold hours picketing the main gate of RCAF Station Comox on the Remembrance Day Holiday.

Unusual Visitors

15,000 Gulls Spotted Over Clover Point

About 15,000 Bonaparte's Gulls in flight over Clover Point at noon Thursday were reported to the Colonist by Ralph Fryer, veteran bird-watcher and past president of the Victoria Natural History Society.

The sight is very unusual. The Bonapartes don't usually visit later than the end of October, in large numbers," said Mr. Fryer.

Not only is the mass visit unusual, but the bird itself. "It is the small species of gull. In breeding plumage it has a complete black hood. Unlike other gulls, it nests in trees. Nesting areas are all across the North. The bird gets its name from Joseph Bonaparte, when he did bird study in the eastern States."

A large number of cars on Clover Point today with noon-hour sandwich-eating bird-watchers is predicted by Mr. Fryer.

Station public information officers confirmed Thursday a letter was given to the commanding officer sometime after his official wreath-laying duties at the cenotaph were completed.

They said the letter stated the pickets in no way intended to interfere with the base, but were presenting a moral objection to nuclear arms.

Murray Matheson of the Victoria Natural History Society will lead a bird field trip to Elk Lake on Saturday. The group will leave Monterey parking lot at 9:30 a.m. and the Black Swan at 10 a.m.

Birds from Africa, Australia, Mexico and Central America will provide exotic atmosphere at Norway House, 1110 Hillside, when the Vancouver Island Cage Bird Society holds its 13th annual show Nov. 20 and 21.

Doors will be open from 5 to 9 p.m. Nov. 20 and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Nov. 21.

Crowd 'Breaks In' New Council Chamber

Ratepayers Get Runaround at City Hall

By A. H. MURPHY
Colonist City Hall Reporter

Faced with circumstances they hadn't anticipated, aldermen went into a slow spin Thursday and the council chamber in the new city hall went into a slow spin.

It all started when 150 ratepayers, about 140 more than expected, turned up at a zoning hearing.

They started pouring into the halls long before the scheduled 2 p.m. hearing.

There were two important zoning issues scheduled but in neither case was there much protest. People seemed to want information more than anything else.

The hearing was advertised for the council chamber.

At the last moment, when it was found that the mayor was going to be out of town and a formal first meeting of council could not be held, the venue was changed to a committee room.

That's where the trouble started.

By 2 p.m. the generously proportioned room was full and people, many of them elderly, were standing. And still they continued to come.

"We've got to do something about this," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "After all these people own this building and we've got to make them comfortable."

After a hurried huddle, a quick vote was taken and it was decided to move the hearing to the large chamber.

The announcement was made and everyone trooped across the hall to the council chamber.

Lots of room there but no chairs.

The area was searched and, finally, someone found a hoard of chairs in a small storage room. Aldermen, spectators and officials turned to and soon nearly everyone was seated in the council chamber.

City Manager Dennis Young then appeared on the scene.

"I'm pretty unhappy about using the council chamber before the invocation and formal first meeting," he said, suggesting that if it had to be used, a table be set up at the rear for the aldermen and the members of the audience be asked to turn their chairs 180 degrees to face their legislators.

This idea was kicked around for a while and then a compromise was reached.

Acting Mayor Austin Curtis, resplendent in the golden mayoral chain of office, suggested that the council chamber be used and that aldermen occupy their regular desks but that he sit, not on the podium in the mayor's chair, but on a lower level at a long table.

After the zoning hearing, which lasted about 45 minutes, aldermen retired to the committee room, to hold a council meeting.

James Bay

Industry Out Of Area

In an effort to revitalize the area, city council Thursday rezoned an eight-block area in James Bay from industrial to multiple dwellings.

The action seemed to meet with the approval of a large number of residents who attended the city hall hearing on the area.

WELCOME MOVE

Many of them were older people and, aside from the fact that they feared the advent of high rise apartments, they were glad to see the area revert to residential use.

The area concerned is bounded by Montreal Street, Kingston, Oswego and Dallas Road.

"Just what does this mean," asked Arthur Bowen, "Does it mean high-rises? Just what can they get away with under this type of zoning?"

SIX-STORY LIMIT

Mr. Bowen was assured by Mrs. E. W. Shepherd, executive secretary of the Advisory Planning Commission, that no building in excess of six stories would be allowed.

A representative of the firm of Johnston Terminals, parent firm for Heaney Carriage and Storage Ltd., asked that the zoning remain the same. The Heaney company had a warehouse on Montreal Street at the present time, he said, and wished to extend it.

BUSINESS AT HOME

Another man said he operated a business from his home. Would he be put out of business if the zoning was changed? he asked.

He was assured that as long as he operated the business he would not be interfered with. The new zoning regulations would take effect when his successor, if there was one, took over.

FEARED HIGH-RISES

However, most of the people present were in accord with the change to residential as long as it did not let in the "high-rises."

An area on Frances Street was rezoned allowing construction of a commercial establishment on Douglas by Morrison Motors Ltd.

Aspirin Factor In Death

Shelley McCoy died of natural causes, a coroner's jury ruled Thursday night.

The jury found that the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCoy, 940 Jasmine, died of natural causes aggravated by a hypersensitivity to aspirin.

Neither pathologist Dr. Ross McNeely nor assistant Vancouver city analyst Allan Rideout had been able to determine the exact cause of death, Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre told the jury. This made it necessary for an inquest to be called.

HISTORY OF ILLNESS

The child had a history of illness and had once before been taken to hospital while in a coma.

Earlier Mrs. McCoy told the court the child was suffering from a cold and had been given one aspirin on Wednesday, Sept. 30.

She was given three aspirins on Oct. 1 and three aspirins Oct. 2. The tablets were dissolved in food.

NOT EXCESSIVE

The child was not given aspirin Oct. 3, the day she was taken to hospital.

In testimony Tuesday the family physician, Dr. R. N. Young, said he did not consider the dose of aspirin given the child to be excessive.

Mr. St. Jorre told the jury the doctors' work in trying to save the child's life was "nothing short of heroic."

At least 17 windows were reported shattered in Equimault at 11 a.m. Wednesday near Memorial Park where a 105 mm. howitzer was fired for the traditional Remembrance Day period of silence.

Army officials have not determined the cause.

Equimault police received calls from householders on Drake Avenue and Park Terrace.

ARMY INVESTIGATES

"The army has investigated damage and is working on various claims with the Underwriters' Adjustment Bureau," Major Edward Hobbs, commanding officer of Equimault Administration Wing, told the Colonist last night.

Here is the damage: Jeweller William Badylk, 808 Drake, said two windows were blown out and two others were cracked.

Mrs. Patrick Hennon, 1264 Park Terrace, said five windows were damaged.

TEN WINDOWS

Mrs. Hans Norby, 1262 Park Terrace, said 10 windows were broken, "three after the first round and seven after the second round."

Lt.-Cmdr. A. A. Kallachack, 825 Drake, said cracks appeared in the plaster of his house.

Mrs. Norby said most of the glass flew outside and one silver was imbedded about three-quarters of an inch in a tree six feet from the house.

"We were lucky no one was around at the time," Major Hobbs said the rocky ground of the area and atmospheric conditions could be determining factors in causing damage.

According to one report the gun was pointed away from Memorial Park and set up facing north on Drake Avenue. In past years it was pointed facing the park.

ANGLE RESPONSIBLE

Another report said atmospheric conditions and the angle of elevation of the gun were responsible. "They imploded," the report said, "After the first shot the gunners raised the muzzle and this caused other windows to break."

Apprised of this report, Major Hobbs said: "Now I've heard everything, but I do like to be instructed in these things."

Companion Blames Panic For Young Diver's Death

By IAN ARROL

An inquest into the drowning Wednesday of 15-year-old Douglas Gillan, 160 Burnside East, has been called by Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre for 7:30 p.m. Monday at McCall Bros.

Funeral services for the boy, who met death in 40 feet of water off Holland Point while on his first try at scuba diving, will be held at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday at McCall's.

IF ONLY . . .

"If only Dougie had flipped his weight belt open, he might have been alive today," said James Nuttall, 22, of 1774 Lee. Nuttall, was with Gillan Wednesday.

"He asked me many times to take him diving," said Nuttall. "I finally said, 'I'll take you Wednesday.'"

Rifle Charges See Three Fined

Three men were fined for unlawful possession of rifles and two for unlawful possession of deer when they appeared in Colwood magistrate's court Tuesday. Fined on the rifle counts were James Hoggan, $20; Gilles Patenaude, $10, and Clarence Utke, $10. Fined on the deer counts were Joseph G. Turcotte, $10, and Manfred Christians, $10.

Nuttall and belt

Gillan was dead on arrival. Nuttall was treated for shock and asphyxiation.

Nuttall said Gillan must have gone down on his own, then got panicky. "Instead of breathing normally, he could have been gulping up the air supply."

TANK EMPTY

The navy's diving establishment at Colwood tested the equipment used by Gillan and found it in working order. The air tank was empty.

Gillan, a Grade 11 student at Mount View High School, would have been 16 on Nov. 24. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gillan, and a brother, Paul.

'Moonlighting'

Denture Clinic Scored

Dentists plan to open cut-rate denture clinics in Victoria and four other cities in B.C. on Monday, but a dental mechanics' spokesman called it "just a case of double-barrelled moonlighting" which is bound to fail.

Victoria's denture clinic will open Monday in the Alexis building at the corner of Quadra and Fort Streets, manned by about 20 dentists participating on a part-time basis, Dr. W. W. McLuhan, president of the Victoria Dental Society, said.

Earlier, Dr. George Cressy, speaking for the B.C. College of Dental Surgeons and the B.C. Academy of Dentistry, announced in Vancouver that the bargain price dentures will be available in Victoria, Vancouver, Chilliwack, Abbotsford and Kamloops.

"We will offer adequate plates—no frills, mind you—at an adequate price," said Dr. Cressy.

PART-TIME BASIS

"The work will all be done by practising dentists on a part-time basis. Already more than 100 have volunteered. They will be paid sufficient to cover their office expenses during their absence."

The cost will be about $49 for a single denture—upper or lower—and $96 for a full set, compared with the going rate of between $125 and $150 for a set obtained through a dentist's office, but which include such extras as gold capping and similar frills.

"It's just a case of double-barrelled moonlighting," said Will J. Lapointe of Vancouver, past president of the Public Denturists Society of B.C., when he heard of Dr. Cressy's announcement.

DENTIST SHORTAGE

"There is already a shortage of dentists in B.C. and they will be hurting themselves by moonlighting. They also will be hurting their own dental technicians because they will have to bypass the technicians and go to a large commercial laboratory to get a volume price on the work."

"The dentists are trying to prove to the government that they can compete with us, but they can't do it because the public will still come to us," said Mr. Lapointe, who represents dental mechanics on the government dental technicians board headed by Dr. Gordon Shrum.

"We offer top-grade material, are allowed by law to deal directly with the public and offer personalized service, and can offer a single denture for $40 and both for prices starting at $80," he said.

CHEAP MATERIAL

Dentists cannot make dentures for their patients and can only offer "a mass production mill" through which a patient will deal with a part-time dentist and be fitted with dentures made of cheap material, Mr. Lapointe charged.

"No frills," they say, and there certainly won't be any—they will be the cheapest possible, done on a mass production basis. . . . and maybe using Japanese teeth."

"They (dentists) are just trying to put on a show for the government's sake, and it's just a big farce," Mr. Lapointe said.

Diving Dumbell

Welder Fred Schmidt of Vancouver is working inside one end of what will look like giant dumbbell. This is part of Paces, $50,000 self-propelled diving machine designed to operate in water up to 3,000 feet deep off the coast of British Columbia. Paces will consist of two iron spheres, each eight feet in diameter, connected by a steel tube. It will have a crew of two.—(CP)

Explosive Injures 45 Children

HANAU (Reuters) — Only a few pupils attended classes today at the Tuempelgarten Primary School following Wednesday's playground blast which injured 45 children in this West German city.

Eleven of the children, aged 10 to 11, were still in hospital with serious injuries received when an explosive taken to school by a boy exploded.

Among them was 11-year-old Rudolf Pappich, the boy who found the explosive and took it to school to show his friends.

He lost a forearm and an eye in the explosion which hurled fragments in the group of children.

Driver Faces Committal Today

A 50-year-old Colwood driver was remanded for formal committal today for trial on a criminal negligence charge arising from the traffic death last month of Leaning Seaman Warner Blitch.

In the final minutes of a preliminary hearing Thursday into the charge against Joseph C. Chambers of 987 Westing, Magistrate J. A. Hyers postponed formal committal until today.

Police witnesses testified Thursday about their impressions of Chambers' condition after the accident.

Const. William Hillcoat said the accused driver was "very incoherent" when he spoke.

"I don't think he realized what happened," said the Colwood RCMP highway patrol constable.

RCMP Const. Lee W. Dendys, who took the accused to the city police station in a police car after the 12:30 a.m. crash Oct. 24 on Craigflower and Aral, said Chambers "staggered" on his way to the car.

Const. Richard McVie of the Esquimalt force was the first policeman on the scene. Const. McVie testified that he removed LS Shick from his crumpled European car with the aid of a bystander and driver of a passing car.

Const. McVie said Chambers appeared rather unsteady on his feet, that his speech was slurred or incoherent and that the 30-year-old sailor's wife, Valerie, 24, she had been blood from a cut on his nose.

Widow Sues Doctors, Hospital

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The wife of a Windsor man who died a few hours after an explosion in the operating room of Grace Hospital last Nov. 29, is asking $50,000 damages in a suit alleging negligence against the governing council of the Salvation Army, Dr. Thomas R. McKenzie, Dr. J. P. Boley.

A statement of claim for Mrs. Ethel Marie O'Connor, widow of Joseph Michael O'Connor, was filed Thursday at the Essex County courthouse.

A coroner's jury later held no one was to blame. Death was attributed to an internal hemorrhage after a spark from a diathermy machine used in the operation ignited cyclopropane gas used as an anesthetic.

Trustees Find Wide Road

By TED GASKELL

Discussions between members of the Greater Victoria, Sooke and Saanich school boards Thursday night gave promise of co-operation in many areas of education in the near future.

Trustees found many areas in which their individual narrow paths merged to become a wide, comfortable road making their common goal of education easier to reach.

MOST PRODUCTIVE

Vocational and adult education centres provided the most productive discussion.

All representatives agreed an adult education centre for the three districts might eventually be built on the same campus.

McGinty Absent

The USS McGinty, one of three U.S. ships scheduled to visit Victoria this month, will not be coming, a naval spokesman said Thursday.

The destroyer was to have arrived Saturday.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Klamath and Mallow will come as scheduled. The Klamath will arrive Saturday, the Mallow Monday.

a number of others, must have approval of each individual board.

In-service training for teachers is another area of co-operation. Teachers sent to Vancouver for workshops might represent all districts and pass on their information on return. Workshops in Victoria could be opened to Sooke and Saanich teachers.

RETAIRED HELP

Until Sooke and Saanich can provide their own classrooms for the retired, Greater Victoria's facilities could be made available to the other two districts.

In 1965 when the new curriculum stream comes into effect, Sooke and Saanich might not be able to provide enough students for some courses but, by joining Victoria, a number of worthwhile classes might be made up.

USE CLAREMONT

In adult education, until a joint centre is built, Victoria might use Saanich district's Claremont for adults wishing to take Grade 13 in the daytime.

Victoria has summer school classes for Grade 10 students who must repeat courses, but Sooke and Saanich find they have few students and it is impractical to run the classes.

PLANS POSSIBLE

If Victoria knew in time how many students would come from the outlying boards, plans could be made for larger classes.

In only one of the seven areas discussed did the board agree co-operation was impractical—architects.

All three boards found problems in dealing with architects and the suggestion was made that the three districts might employ one architect or an architectural staff specializing in schools.

AT SAME TIME

But the problem lies in the fact that each board would require the services at the same time.

John Williams and E. J. Barntan represented the Saanich boards; Reginald Sinkinson, Gordon Campbell, C. M. Brown and Lewis Harvey, Sooke; Peter Bunn and Lloyd Clarkson, Greater Victoria.

Hospital Bed Crisis

Doctors' Views Sent To Health Minister

Victoria Medical Society has sent a brief to Health Minister Eric Martin outlining its views on the current hospital bed crisis.

Society president Dr. D. M. Boyd said Thursday the group sent its brief to Mr. Martin "when it became apparent the minister did not receive a copy of the bed report prepared for the Greater Victoria and District Hospital Administrators' Council."

GUARD DETAILS

Dr. Boyd said the medical men had agreed not to disclose the contents of their brief until they receive the minister's reaction to it.

In the past, doctors have complained of an apparent breakdown in communications with Mr. Martin.

NO REPLIES

They said they have invited the minister to discuss the situation with them on numerous occasions, but have never received a reply.

Dr. Boyd said the Medical Society feels Mr. Martin's suggestion that convalescent hospital beds are not used properly is "not quite true."

"Perhaps in some cases a patient is left in an active treatment hospital bed longer than required, but in most cases doctors were insuring no damage to the patients would occur if they were taken out of hospital."

"This is not the answer to eliminating the long waiting list," said Dr. Boyd. "We could eliminate the list by not admitting patients at all, but this would be ridiculous."

ACCURATE OUTLINE

Dr. Boyd said the bed report prepared by John E. Holdstock for the administrators' council "outlined the whole problem very accurately."

"It is what we have been thinking ourselves."

Mr. Martin, who said Tuesday he had not seen the report, said it was "inconclusive."

MORE BEDS NEEDED

The report's main conclusion was that 140 more hospital beds were needed to fill the city's requirements.

Mr. Holdstock indicated if the beds were put into use immediately, the current waiting list of 1,300 would be eliminated within 3 1/2 months.

B.C. Vessel Lands Record Catch

A record herring catch—340 tons—was landed at Prince Rupert recently by the motor vessel Pacific Venture.

The vessel is a former RCN minesweeper which was converted by McKay-Cormack Shipyards, Victoria, to a combination herring, tuna and halibut seiner.

"It is now the largest and most modern fishing vessel on the B.C. coast," said Capt. G. A. Veres, director of Burrard Fishing Company Ltd., owners.

Capt. Veres also is managing-director of McKay-Cormack which has a financial interest in the fishing company.

He said the 340-ton catch is approximately 100 tons greater than any previous catch landed by a single vessel.

New Ferry Nov. 24

The $500,000 B.C. highways department ferry Comox Queen will be launched at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 24 at the Dallas Road yard of Victoria Machinery Depot, highways officials said Thursday.

The ferry is due for delivery in February and will inaugurate service between Comox and Powell River.

Homes Needed

These Children Inherited Only Problems

Children with the greatest need for homes are often the most difficult to place for adoption says Gordon R. Wright, executive director of the Family and Children's Service.

Although the adoption situation in Victoria was not so critical as elsewhere in the province, there were a number of children for whom no homes were available, he said.

These children were in particular need of homes and the care of parents.

LEGALLY FREE

"Majority of these children, although legally free for adoption, present problems," Mr. Wright said.

Background or medical condition often caused prospective parents to have "second thoughts" about these children.

"This concerns us greatly because these children need the security of their own home quite as much as those more easily welcomed by the average adopting parents."

SEVERAL HOMES

Sometimes foster parents ceased to care for the child and he might pass through several homes.

"There is little that is more destructive to the growing personality of children than this continual severing of ties between themselves and the foster parents."

Mr. Wright said five small boys, aged from three to six months have some problem in their backgrounds, either slow or retarded parents, a marked illness pattern, or parents of different races or religions.

SPEECH DEFECT

Another child is undergoing operations for a speech defect and another group, aged from two to six years, have a partial Indian background and are Roman Catholic.

There are between 23 and 25 children over six years old who, although not completely free for adoption, could be with some effort.

The older child finds it more difficult to make adjustments, said Mr. Wright. Therefore adopting parents must be more skilled and understanding.

COMING OF AGE

With Sally Hamilton

A number of readers from various parts of Canada were named to write in about the case of the "dear old invalid lady" who was left alone.

"If I could be of any help, I'd like to offer my services. If they are unable to pay I won't mind. We went through this sort of thing while my folks were with us, so I know how difficult it is to get any sort of help."

"I, Mary A., aged 14, wish to volunteer to go around to talk to old people who have no visitors. Even if they are sick. I will go to see them and make sure they are taking care of themselves."

"Some years ago, my wife was faced with the same problem. An idea struck me to take the matter up with the welfare people. The results exceeded our fondest hopes. The welfare immediately provided a responsible lady who relieved my wife for one or two afternoons a week so as to enable her to go to town and get a change of ideas. It proved to be a tonic for both of us."

"I have spent 23 years of my life with my husband's mother. She's a victim of Parkinson's disease and is quite incapable of looking after herself. I have to clothe her, groom her and ambulate her around. She's 87; her heart is good, so is her appetite. At times I feel very despondent and tired. How I long to have a life of my own!"

Centenary

Knights Mark Birthday

The 100th anniversary of the Knights of Pythias will be celebrated by Capital City Lodge No. 61 in its hall on Cormorant Street Saturday night.

There is to be entertainment and presentation of long service awards to 30 members with more than 25 years membership.

A large number of delegates from Island and Mainland lodges will be in attendance, including grand secretary Joseph Douglas and vice grand chamberlain Ernie Wood, both of New Westminster.

APPROVED BY LINCOLN

Grand outer guard and secretary of the Victoria lodge, Robert H. Abbott, is in charge of arrangements with chamberlain commander of the Capital City Lodge, James J. Stewart, in the chair.

The order of the Knights of Pythias was formed during the American Civil War when the founder, Justus H. Rathbone, believed a fraternity based on the story of friendship of Damon and Pythias would help heal the wounds of the civil conflict.

It was approved by President Abraham Lincoln after he was advised of the ritual and teachings.

The order became the first fraternal order to be chartered by an Act of Congress of the United States.

PROMOTES FRIENDSHIP

Aims of the Knights of Pythias have been to promote friendship among men and relieve suffering.

Knights and sister lodges in Victoria raise money for care and treatment of children with cerebral palsy through Thanksgiving seal campaigns and bingo games.

The knights have raised close to $50,000 for operation of the cerebral palsy clinic since its inception here.

There are more than 2,000 lodges in the United States and Canada.

No More Free Advice?

Greater Victoria's private hospitals may have to start paying for the previously free advice given them by the metropolitan health board.

Health board physiotherapists now train private hospital nurses in therapy.

There is no charge for the training, and board member P. P. Lovric, an Oak Bay councillor, feels the private hospitals should pay for it.

At Tuesday afternoon's board meeting Mr. Lovric said that since public funds pay for the board's physiotherapists, there should be a levy on the private hospitals.

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis, also a board member, agreed with Mr. Lovric and a report on the matter is expected for the next board meeting.

In other business the board welcomed new psychologist

Mrs. M.E. Pareis and accepted "with regret" the resignation of nursing director Miss Joan Russell who leaves Thursday for the Boundary health unit in Cloverdale where she will be nursing supervisor. Miss Russell has been with the local board for three years.

Dunsmuir

Novel Out Soon

A historical novel written by Victoria author James Audain, entitled Alex Dunsmuir's Dilemma, will go on sale in city bookstores next week.

The book is about the boyhood days of Mr. Audain's great uncle, Alex Dunsmuir. It tells about the discovery of the Vancouver Island coal mines which made the Dunsmuir family fortune, and about the amours of young Alex, who convinced his father that an office should be established in San Francisco, where the coal was sold.

WILL AUTOGRAPH COPIES

The book sells for $4.75, and the 61-year-old author will be on hand to autograph copies at the T. Eaton Company, from 7 to 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20.

It was printed in Vancouver by the Sunny Lane Publishing Company of Victoria, and contains a foreword by Mayor Houlahan of Oakland, Calif., whose city council purchased Dunsmuir House in Oakland for use as a conference centre.

Mr. Audain plans to visit California after his book comes out here.

Victorians Remember

War Dead Given Their Only Reward

By DON GAIN
Colonial Military Reporter
Victorian Wednesday humbly

"In tribute to that gallant band of soldiers, sailors, airmen, all who gave their lives at country's call."

At the Victoria Cenotaph, beneath leaden skies a bitter wind blew.

"Off caps," came the command. It was repeated from platoon to platoon.

"Number one, fire!" The gun of the 5th (BC) Independent Medium Battery, RCA, blasted across the Causeway.

Small children in the crowd, wincing at the noise, gasped, laughed nervously and chattered like a flock of startled pigeons. In a minute they were silent.

The flags fluttered, the fountain on the lawn of the legislative buildings splashed on. These were the only sounds.

The Last Post echoed across the harbor.

"Number two, fire!"

This time the children were ready for it. "They shall grow not old as we that are left grow old," recited Clem Gill, secretary of the Pro Patria branch of the Royal Canadian Legion.

When he finished Laurence Binyon's poem, he asked, "What is the meaning of Remembrance Day? How should Remembrance Day be observed? How many of us realize its true significance?"

Thousands of Victorians seemed to know as they attended services at the Veterans' Hospital chapel, at the Langford Cenotaph and in the garrison gymnasium of Work Point Barracks.

They knew at Esquimalt Memorial Park, at HMCS Naden, in Sanscha Hall in Sidney, at the Sooke Cenotaph, at Fulford Harbor, in Victoria's St. Andrew's Cathedral.

The Canadian Scottish Regimental Association members knew as they gathered for their service at noon in Pioneer Square.

Oak Bay residents knew as they attended their afternoon service at the Uplands Park War Memorial.

Beach residents knew as they stood in silence at the cairn in Peace Memorial Gore Park, in Victoria. Mrs. Margaret Bird knew as she laid a wreath for her son, Robert Francis Bird, who was killed flying over Germany in 1943. She represented the bereaved mothers of B.C.

Lieutenant-Governor Fearkes knew as he placed a wreath on the Victoria Cenotaph, and so did Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor R. B. Wilson, the reeves of Greater Victoria, the heads of the three armed services, the RCMP, the IOOE, the women's auxiliaries and representatives of the federal government, the churches and the Canadian Red Cross Society. Alex Morrison of Courtenay knew as he watched the veterans march smartly along to give their salute in front of the Empress Hotel. A veteran himself, the 73-year-old retired dairy farmer joined up in Alberta for the First World War and served overseas with the 51st Field Battery of Lethbridge, later with the 1st Battery of Canadian Field Artillery from Toronto.

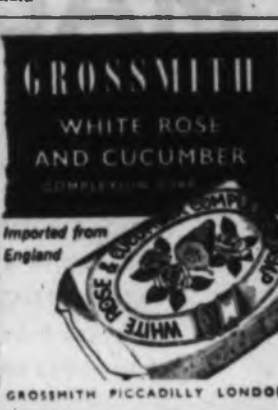

Mrs. Elizabeth Reid of Winnipeg knew as she listened to the martial music of the bands from HMCS Naden, Rainbow Sea Cadets, the Artillery, the Canadian Scottish and 2483 Squadron of the Queen's Own Rifles cadets. Mrs. Reid, who is wintering in Victoria, lost members of her family in both world wars.

Mrs. H. W. Johnson knew as she waited for her husband to march by. He is a rifleman with the QOR at Work Point. In her arms she held 18-month-old Grace, one of the first babies to be born in Victoria after the QOR moved here from Germany a year ago.

"She wanted to see her daddy," she said, "but she couldn't wait." The little figure in the red woolly outfit was fast asleep in her arms.

The men of 800 Pacific Wing of the RCAF Association seemed to know and the women of the CWAC. The cadets of three services knew and the Wrenettes. The tri-service contingent of officer cadets from the University of Victoria knew as they marched on their first public appearance as a unit.

The men of 25 Militia Group Headquarters knew, as did those of 5 Area Signals Squadron, 40 Technical Squadron and the Army Photo Interpretation Section.

A trial for obstructing a policeman ended Thursday with a $500 fine for the accused and an obstruction summons for a key defence witness.

BOVE CAR AWAY

Defence witness Allen Robinson, 2843 Blackwood, Saanich, testified he had driven Fraser's car off the lot and away from the scene at its owner's request, in spite of having given the keys to the vehicle to Saanich Const. A. H. Clark.

As he left the courtroom he was told by Const. Clark he would receive a summons on a charge of obstructing a peace officer in the performance of his duty. This is the same charge on which Fraser was convicted.

DENIED CHARGES

The witness and the accused both denied obstructing the lone constable in his attempts to search the accused youth's car for liquor. The Crown dropped a second charge of assaulting a policeman laid earlier against Fraser.

Both Fraser and Robinson insisted, under cross-examination by prosecutor Kenneth Murphy, that Const. Clark was "hysterical" and high-handed in his approach to the youths.

TO DEFEND HIMSELF

The policeman testified he was forced at one point to let Fraser go in order to defend himself against an assault by another youth, since convicted.

Const. Clark's version of the story varied sharply with that of the youths who were supported in their testimony by statements by two other youthful witnesses.

NOT CERTAIN

Under cross-examination Fraser said he had not been certain Clark was a policeman and had prevented him from taking action only until Clark identified himself and explained by what authority he wanted to search the Fraser car.

Under the Liquor Act of B.C. a peace officer does not require a warrant to search a car for liquor.

DISMISSAL DENIED

Defence counsel Desmond Owen-Flood was refused a preliminary application for dismissal of the charge.

He claimed the Crown had failed to show the constable was pursuing his public duties during the scuffle, an essential ingredient of the charge.

PEACE-KEEPING

Const. Clark had admitted he was being paid by the restaurant owners for the peace-keeping duty he was performing that night. However, he added, he was assigned to the job by the Saanich police.

"I mean no disrespect to the officer, and I know what he was doing is an accepted procedure," said the defence counsel.

DEFENCE SUBMISSION

"When employed by the White Spot, he was not engaged in carrying out his duties to the Crown. In strict law, no one but the Crown can hire a peace officer," submitted Mr. Owen-Flood.

Although the magistrate turned down the submission, he added, "I think we would be going a little too far over to the other side. But it is a very interesting point that the officials should look into."

Prosecutor Murphy pointed out the maximum sentence for the offence is two years in jail and said Fraser had just completed a jail term for a similar offence a month before the incident occurred.

"I am going to take a chance on you and make this a fine. I am going to make it a heavy fine though," the magistrate told Fraser.

The youth was placed on probation for six months and was also ordered to enter into a $500 bond in his own recognizance to be of good behavior.

you too, can be a wine expert!

The wine-wise person in today's modern way of life knows that the selection of wine to accompany any food is purely a matter of personal choice.

The idea that the only socially acceptable use of wine is restricted to certain specific wine and food combinations is pure myth

Matching foods and wines is a matter of taste — not of color — and there is only one simple rule to wine drinking... If you like it — drink it!

Such combinations as in the chart below are an excellent starting point for the fun and pleasure of experimenting to find your own favorite wine/food combinations. However, they should not be considered as rules which must be followed, and even the serving temperatures are subject to personal preference.

WHEN	SUGGESTED WINE	SERVE
Before dinner and for light entertaining	Golden Wine	Lightly flavoured with lemon-lime	Chilled
	Silver Wine	Light, smooth, distinctive	Chilled
	French Vermouth	Dry and Pale	Room Temp.
	Italian Vermouth	Sweet and fragrant	Room Temp.
	Champagne	Bubbly, dry, full-bodied	Well Chilled
	Crackling Rosé	Medium dry, pink, sparkling	Well Chilled
	Still Rose	Medium dry, light-bodied, pink	Chilled
Seafoods, fish, light meats, cheese dishes	Medium Dry sherry	Delightfully mellow, rich, nut-like	Slightly Chilled
	Seafood	Dry, golden white, full-bodied	Chilled
	Royal White	Medium sweet, robust, pale golden	Chilled
	White Dry	Medium dry, light	Well Chilled
	Champagne	Bubbly, dry, full-bodied	Chilled
	Still Rose	Medium dry, light-bodied, pink	Chilled
	Meats, game steaks and chops	Red Dry	Soft, velvety, full-bodied, dry
Royal Red		Medium sweet, mellow	Room Temp.
Claret		Dry, pleasantly tart, medium-bodied	Room Temp.
Sparkling Burgundy		Medium dry, lively, full-bodied	Well Chilled
Still Rose		Medium dry, light-bodied, pink	Chilled
Desserts	Muscatel	Mellow-sweet, golden, luscious	Room Temp.
	Canadian Port	Red, full-bodied, mellow-sweet	Room Temp.
	Tawny Port	Soft, mellow, medium-bodied	Room Temp.
	Cream Sherry	Sweet, mellow, rich bouquet	Cap
	Champagne	Bubbly, dry, full-bodied	Well Chilled
Special Occasions	Sparkling Burgundy	Medium dry, lively, full-bodied	Well Chilled
	Champagne	Bubbly, dry, full-bodied	Well Chilled
	Crackling Rosé	Medium dry, pink, sparkling	Well Chilled
	Still Rose	Medium dry, light-bodied, pink	Well Chilled
	Cream Sherry	Sweet, mellow, rich bouquet	Cool

GLASSES: Wine may be served in any type of glass, but stem glasses are specially designed for wine and add a touch of gaiety. Champagne and sparkling wines are best, and most fun, when served in champagne-type, hollow stemmed glasses.

STORAGE: Store your wines in a cool, dry place, away from direct light. You'll find it convenient and satisfying to keep several types of wine on hand.

The only Canadian wine made right in the Okanagan where the grapes are grown.

Building Up for Auction

A sheriff's sale of the new Montreal Trust Building, 1061 Fort, has been ordered in County Court.

The court action arises from a judgment against the owners, Victoria Financial Centre Ltd., in favor of the main contractors, Commonwealth Construction Company Ltd.

As a result, the building will be sold at a public auction in the sheriff's office at Victoria Law Courts before the middle of December. The court has fixed a minimum price of $730,000.

BANK TO SPLIT

A two-for-one split in the shares of First National Bank of New York is recommended to the shareholders, together with a change in the par value to $1.25, representing a 35 per cent increase in the capital stock account.

The dividend on the present shares will also be raised at the Feb. 1 payment from 75 cents to 80 cents.

First National is the only U.S. bank which has a controlling interest in a Canadian chartered bank. It holds 50 per cent of the shares of the Mercantile Bank of Canada.

The building itself has been the subject of controversy before and since its official opening by Premier Bennett on Aug. 20, 1963.

The controversy concerned the massive 16,000,000-tile Mexican mosaic murals which were put up on the north and south facades of the building. The murals were designed by Andres Salas, a Hungarian artist now living in Mexico.

Two Victoria doctors, J. G. Patterson and J. W. E. Hunt, commissioned Salas to design, construct, ship and assemble the four-part mosaic.

Newest tenant of the building is provincial RCMP headquarters, which moved into the two top floors this month. In the basement is The Collier restaurant, and on other floors the Montreal Trust Company, a beauty parlor, a barber shop and several professional and business offices.

WASHINGTON — Walter Jenkins, former aide to President Johnson who was arrested twice on morals charges, was released this week from George Washington University Hospital.

Soviets Applaud Art Of Grandma Moses

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russians were introduced Thursday to the works of Grandma Moses. They appeared pleased that her paintings fitted the Soviet concept of "realism" in art.

U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler opened an exhibition of 40 works of the American woman who started painting her primitive country scenes at the age of 70. She died in 1961 at the age of 101.

Liberty Vital At University

By JUDITH BAINES

Personal liberty is essential for the development of the university student, University of Victoria registrar R. R. Jeffels told a student audience Thursday evening.

He was speaking at a student leadership seminar in the Student Union building.

After giving his view of the university community and a profile of the Canadian student, Mr. Jeffels gave his opinion of the role of student government.

OCCASIONAL FRICTIONS

Although there is no conflict between the university's and the students' idea of what a university is, there are occasionally "frictions and irritations" between the two groups.

University officials are very aware of outside pressure, he said, citing a "goon issue" of the University of British Columbia a number of years ago which offended religious sensibilities.

ALSO RESPONSIBILITY
Student newspapers, having "unusual freedom," should exercise "unusual responsibility" in order to present the proper picture of the university to the community, he said.

Mr. Jeffels was followed by an array of student speakers and panels which discussed every aspect of student government.

HELP CONTINUITY

The seminar was held by the student council to create interest among the general student body in student government participation.

Student officials expressed the hope that such seminars might overcome the problem of continuity in student government.

Ex-Nazi Trials

Death Camp Survivor Helped Kill Father

FRANKFURT (UPI) — An Auschwitz death camp survivor, weeping hysterically as he pointed out an ex-Nazi SS medic in the dock, admitted he helped kill his own father.

"Klehr did it . . . but I helped," cried Jan Weis, 47, a Czech from Bratislava. He pointed at former SS medic Josef Klehr, one of 20 defendants accused of complicity in the slaughter of 2,500,000 to 4,000,000 persons at Auschwitz death camp in Poland.

Weis, a small, leathery-skinned race-track worker, said he helped kill his father Sept. 28, 1942, when he assisted Klehr as an inmate orderly.

"Klehr was squinting a prisoner who had typhus," Weis sobbed, using the Auschwitz euphemism for killing by carbolic acid injection in the heart muscle.

HELD PRISONERS

"I had to help . . . I had to hold the sick prisoners while he killed them . . . I don't know how many I held before suddenly my father was marched in."

"I held my father . . . I didn't dare speak out. Klehr would have killed me."

NO EXTENSION

In Bonn Wednesday the West German government decided against extending the statute of limitations on Nazi war crimes.

This means that after the expiration next year of the 20-year statute, Nazi war criminals cannot be prosecuted in West Germany unless legal proceedings already have been started against them by then.

De Gaulle Snubs Canadian Envoy

PARIS (UPI) — French President de Gaulle, apparently still angry over a five-month-old exchange, Thursday snubbed Canadian ambassador to Paris Jules Leger.

In a move French sources said was "a deliberate act," De Gaulle omitted Leger from an Elysee Palace luncheon for visiting Quebec Premier Jean Lesage. The luncheon wound up Lesage's two-week European tour.

Officially, Leger, brother of Montreal's Paul Emile Cardinal Leger and one of Canada's senior career diplomats, was excluded from the luncheon on grounds De Gaulle was "receiving private guests."

CONTINUED IRRITATION

Reliable sources stressed, however, that there was far more to it than that. They said it reflected De Gaulle's continued irritation over an exchange with Leger when the Canadian envoy presented his credentials last June.

In the exchange, De Gaulle was reported to have been stung by Leger's remark that " . . . by permitting things to follow their normal course, this evolution (of Canada) might occur without France."

CERTAIN EQUILIBRIUM

The French leader, who likes to call Montreal the second largest French city after Paris, was displeased by Leger's failure to recall the foundation of new France.

In his answer, De Gaulle said: " . . . in fact without France, a certain equilibrium would, in any case, be difficult to maintain in Canada."

France is present in Canada, not only through its representatives, but also because numerous Canadian are of French blood, French language, of French culture, of French mind.

"In short, they are French in every respect except sovereignty."

Garden Notes

Too Much, Too Soon

By M. V. CHESNUT FRMA

One fairly common and most infuriating problem in the home orchard is the biennial-bearing apple tree, producing a crop only every second year. Just why a tree should develop this off-again, on-again habit is not too well understood. It is believed, though, that one factor that can trigger a tree into this unfortunate skip-a-year routine is impatience on the part of the owner—allowing a tree to start bearing fruit while still in its adolescent stage.

Even a young adult tree is under considerable strain when it has to bear a crop of fruit and grow a lot of new branches at one and the same time. A teenager, which hasn't as yet stored enough nutrients in its tissues, is sometimes shocked into blooming prematurely—perhaps by the very act of transplanting it from the commercial nursery to the home garden. If these first-year blossoms are permitted to set fruit, the cropping is done at the expense of wood growth, leaving the young tree completely pooped and incapable of blooming again until it has had a full year's rest.

After its holiday, though, the tree is raring to go, and bears a too-prolific crop of blossoms. If all these are allowed to set fruit, the apples are too small and too crowded to be much good and the tree is too exhausted from bearing such a heavy crop to do anything the following year, and so the biennial habit is established.

The prevention of this trouble is fairly simple. You just pick ALL the blossoms from a newly planted tree, and thin them out a bit in the second and third years after planting.

Caring a tree which has already fallen into this bad habit is a much more difficult business. Thinning out the fruit after the so-called June drop will make for bigger and better apples, but it doesn't lessen the strain to any great extent—at least, not in time to do any good. If you could only thin the tree during the blossoming period or in the very early fruitlet stage, this would probably do the trick, for the patient would react by forming an increasing number of fruit buds for the following year.

On a single small tree, or one grown on a dwarfing rootstock, it is possible to do such a job by hand. On a bigger scale, though, with thousands of blossoms or fruitlets on every branch, there aren't enough hours in the day to complete the operation.

Plant scientists in England have been working on this problem, and they think they may have an effective answer in a spray which causes some of the blossoms to abort. Strangely enough, the chemical is the same as the one we use later in the season to keep apples from falling prematurely—naphthalene acetic acid, sold under such names as Stop-Drop, Kling-Tite, Niagara Silk, Shell Endrop and Stafast. Commercial holly growers use the stuff as a dip to keep the berries stuck on securely during shipment.

The spray is applied from four to seven days after petal fall, and its effect is to reduce the number of fruitlets that form; the stronger the spray, the more drastic the thinning.

It is wise not to jump to the conclusion that a tree is a biennial bearer just on the basis of one mislaid crop. This might have been due to a late frost during the blossoming period rather than to any ingrained habit.

JACK SMITH Takes Issue with Dr. Spock Who Disarms Howie?

Dr. Benjamin Spock, whom many young mothers regard as an oracle on child-rearing, is toying with the idea of disarmament for children.

Writing in Redbook, Dr. Spock suggests that we try to prepare our little ones for sane leadership in a nuclear world by weaning them away from guns and bloodthirsty attitudes.

Dr. Spock knows this wouldn't be easy. He concedes that "we'd be tampering with precious traditions," and would be wise to begin with "the least radical steps."

"If I had a three or four-year-old son who asked me to buy him a pistol," he says, "I wouldn't try to explain the intricacies of nuclear armament and disarmament. I'd give him a hug and a smile and tell him I didn't want him to be shooting people—even pretend."

It's all very well to advocate unilateral disarmament, Dr. Spock, when you don't have any children of your own and aren't living in an armed neighborhood. You want me to disarm my children? But what about my neighbor's children? Who's going to disarm them?

"Sonny boy," I say, giving him a hug and a smile. "I don't want you to be shooting people—even pretend."

What would this unilateral pacifism get me? A divided house, for one thing. And the Gribble boy, with his weapons superiority, would be an intolerable menace, jumping out from every bush with his hideous burp gun.

"Eh eh eh—you're dead!" My nerves couldn't take that kind of stress. I'd have to buy my kid not only a burp gun, to even the balance, but also a machine pistol that spurted fire and made its own eh-eh-eh.

This would force Gribble to buy his kid one of those B-52 bombers that shoots real rockets. Then I would have to put in an anti-aircraft station that fires real missiles, and Gribble, of course, would have to come up with an anti-missile-missile.

This kind of escalation surely would end in catastrophe. No household can stand that kind of mounting tension. Sooner or later one of us would crack. Gribble would punch my button or I'd punch his.

There is also the problem of what disarmament would do to the toy industry. Could it convert to non-military consumer goods quickly enough to avoid collapse? Would children demand enough dolls, doctor sets, electric trains and unarmored weapons to support this enormous, weapons-oriented industrial establishment? I doubt it.

No, Dr. Spock. I don't think disarmament is the answer. Not so long as we have to deal with Gribble and his like.

Let's stay armed and vigilant until the toy industry comes up with a good and-missile-missile-missile. Then we can shove peace down Gribble's throat, even if it means war.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM Marriage Wobbly?

NEW YORK (NANA) — There seems to be some problems in the Joan Mimmom-Richard Brooks marriage. They have been separated a great deal, by her play which closed out of town. And by his picture, Lord Jim, which took him to the Orient and London for great batches of time.

Doris Day, her husband Marty Mckher and Rock Hudson all have a percentage of Send Me No Flowers. Which makes me wonder how much is left over for those people who only put up all the money to make the picture. Theirs not to reason why. Theirs but to take the risk—and perhaps go broke.

It still hasn't been quite decided whether it will be Richard Burton or Jack Lemmon for Miss Taylor's husband in the Irish version of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? It would be Richard without a doubt except that this time Liz is getting 12 1/2 per cent of the gross against her down payment of a million. And it is feared there will not be enough left in the till for Richard who hopes to be back on Broadway next fall in Shakespeare's Coriolanus. . . . Before that he and Liz co-star in the movie version of Macbeth.

Sophia Loren stopped in Rome after Judith in Israel, for the simple chore of putting her jewels in a safe before proceeding to London for her Operation Crossbow stint. Sophia will never invest too much of her money in jewels again, she told me many times after the big robbery in London several years ago. But the few bits and pieces she has since acquired, she wants to keep. And she doesn't trust those burglars in London.

The Oscar race is something like the presidential election. A strong candidate can sweep in almost everyone else. And unless there is a great picture still to be seen, that I don't know about, the big winner next spring will of course be My Fair Lady, with Oscars for just about everyone. And this includes the picture, the director, George Cukor, Lerner and Loewe, and of course the two top stars, Audrey Hepburn and Rex Harrison. Also an Oscar for Cecil Beaton, who designed the sets and the costumes. Everyone who saw the play and the picture seems to agree that the picture is even better.

Anthony Quinn lives in the grand manner. Especially when it comes to his crowning glory. From Europe, he telephoned his barber on Madison Avenue in New York, and told him to take the next plane and come on over to give him a haircut. "You know, of course," said Barber Jerry, "it's 50 cents extra for a house call."

Ben Lillie gets a week off from her High Spirits musical at Christmas—from the 21st to the 28th of December—and will fly to London. She will be able to see Cicely Courtneidge in the London version of Ben's role in High Spirits. It opens there this week. Just a passing thought. But I would like to see Miss Lillie in a stage version of Mary Poppins.

STAN DELAPLANE's Postcard from Madeira These Portuguese British!

The most famous products of the island of Madeira are embroidery and the rich Madeira wine.

So off in the warm, flowery morning to the wine merchants. To see how they jump on grapes. The wine association welcomes visitors. You may come in and sample until you are groggy if you like.

It is a pleasant old place on a hillside in Funchal, the capital city of Madeira. Everything in Madeira is on a hillside. The 30-mile island rises straight from the sea to a 6,000-foot ridge of grey rock.

Though I haven't a drop of English blood, y'know," he said. "My family came from Genoa in 1715. Went to Gibraltar. And from there we came to Madeira. Still we think of ourselves as British. Queer isn't it?"

The British were immensely fond of Madeira wine, he said. "So much so that during American colonial days, it was the ONLY wine that could be imported in America directly. All other wines had to be shipped through England and in English ships.

"The Royal Navy used to stop at Madeira for wine. Their credit and relations were so good that they simply gave notes for collection in London instead of gold."

Even today, all the Madeira houses have London agents.

Curiously, the Danes and Swedes drink three times as much Madeira as England.

To my mind, Madeira is one of those odd things called for in a rare recipe—"add one cup of Madeira wine." And you settle for sherry.

"Not unusual," said the Genoa-Madeira-British wine man. "Not at all. They're both fortified wines—that is, we add alcohol to new wine and make it stronger."

"In Shakespeare's England, all the wines from Jerez—sherry, that is—and the Canary Islands and Madeira were known as 'sack.' Sometimes they added the name of the place, such as 'sherry' for Jerez. Sometimes not."

"In Victorian England, Madeira was the most popular wine except for port."

"We are not too far from England—1,300 miles from Southampton. So the shipping problem was easier. And then, Madeira wines became better known during Wellington's campaign in the Peninsula wars."

"An army brings home new fashions and new customs. And leaves some of its own."

One of the biggest wine houses of Madeira was started by a veteran of Wellington's army. When the island was discovered in 1419, it was covered with trees. (Madeira means "wood.") The story is that it took seven years to burn them off. And this ash gave the quality to the soil which makes the Madeira grape so good.

The grapes were imported from France and Germany and Italy.

It seemed like a simple process. When the grapes are ripe, they are picked and put in vats. The Madeirans then take off their shoes and jump on them until all the juice runs out. This is fermented, then treated with heat. They add 10 per cent alcohol and let it age.

The various types—from sweet Malmsey to dry Sercial—are products of blending.

The other famous industry brings in more money than wine. While the men are jumping on grapes, every woman on Madeira is busy embroidering. Embroidery is no more native to Madeira than the grapes. It was taught to the Madeira ladies by a Mrs. Healy who came here 200 years ago. As you might guess, she came from England.

Militia Plea Rejected

OTTAWA (UPI)—Associate Defence Minister Lucien Carlin Thursday rejected opposition requests that he reconsider decisions to close down 72 militia units. Carlin said the decision, turning Canada's army reserve forces from 45,000 to 30,000, had been based on a thorough study of the matter. The cuts are expected to result in a saving of $8,700,000 annually, and when coupled with similar reductions in air force and naval reserve units, to total nearly $17,000,000. Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker asked Prime Minister Pearson if he had received a protest from an Irish Canadian Association over the disbandment of the Toronto Irish Regiment and the Irish Fusiliers, leaving Canada without a single Irish militia unit. Pearson, to a roar of laughter, said he had received the protest from the association "with an enormous maple leaf on its letterhead—a green maple leaf, I might add."

Varsity Proposal:

Hire Manager For Students

The University of Victoria student council will investigate the possibility of hiring a business manager for the Alma Mater Society.

Student council vice-president Rolli Cacchioni presented the motion at a meeting this week.

NONE HAS TIME

He said: "Under the present student organization on the University of Victoria campus, no individual student has the time to be fully competent in the administrative and financial areas of council."

"In particular the treasurer no longer can find the necessary time to conduct the business of the students in a businesslike manner," he said. Approximately $150,000 will pass through the AMS treasurer's office this year.

Mr. Cacchioni added a business manager would help solve the problem of lack of continuity in student government.

BARE IN FAVOR

Student council president Mrs. Olivia Barr favored the proposal, commenting: "It is essential that a business manager be employed in the future."

The Alma Mater Society presently employs a full-time secretary-receptionist, as well as many students part-time.

The inauguration of Dr. Malcolm Taylor as first president of the University of Victoria Saturday will be surrounded by Homecoming celebrations. Weekend activities will start this evening with the Homecoming Dance at the Crystal Garden. Saturday will begin with a Chuckwagon breakfast in front of the Student Union building. Four former student council members, selected as chefs for the affair, will flip flapjacks. Fallen from their former glory are Larry Devlin, George Copley, Rick Ogmundson, president, treasurer and first year men's representative respectively on last year's student council, and Paul Wil-

Hamson, a former Canadian Union of Students Chairman. Saturday afternoon will be highlighted by a rugby game at MacDonald Park and students will gather for a sock-hop at the SUB in the evening. Crowning touch for the weekend will be the selection of a Homecoming Queen, who will be presented to students at the dance tonight.

INCREASED SALES

An 18 per cent increase in net profit is reported by Pacific Petroleum Ltd. for the nine months period to Sept. 30. Net profit was $2,961,699 (14.3 cents a share) against $2,505,458 (12 cents) in the same period of 1963.

Sales increased by about $3,800,000, largely from increases in marketing of gasoline and natural gas liquids.

Dallas Literature Sent to Victoria University

Hate literature against the mixing of blacks and whites is being mailed to the University

C.N.I.B. Sale of Blinderacts

FRI., NOV. 13th
To be convened by Mrs. Gordon T. Jones
Coffee and Doughnuts from 10 a.m. to noon. Tea in the afternoon to be convened by Mrs. D. M. Macmillan, assisted by members of the Women's Auxiliary.

At least nine other universities have reported receiving this type of literature, Martlet editor Charles La Vertu said, "and the Canadian Union of Students has approached the postmaster-general asking that postal regulations be tightened to prevent further flow of this."

The literature, sent by the Citizens Council of Dallas County, Inc., consists of a number of cards reading: "Hey, Kids, segregation is morally right. Tell all of your friends, especially your teacher." "The only reason you are WHITE today is because your ancestors believed and practised SEGREGATION." and "The Citizens Council of Dallas County, Inc. keep their children WHITE. WILL YOU?"

Also included is a small magazine, The White Sentinel. Its front page story is titled, "Time to Clean up the Reds and Race Mixers in TV."

Below the headline is a picture of Bonanza star Lorne Green holding Negro Ena Hartman. The story reads: "One of the most popular series on TV is Bonanza. This program ran for a number of years without Negroes, and is rated as the number one TV show on the air. Now suddenly they have decided to start race-mixing. This program has a large following of children and I suppose this is another way to brainwash our children into accepting race-mixing."

Breaking Word to Magistrate Cancels Suspended Sentence

Eleven charges involving worthless cheques came home to roost Thursday for a Victoria woman earlier given a suspended sentence by a Victoria magistrate.

Sharon Anne MacKenzie, 1353 Pandora, pleaded guilty to breach of a recognizance imposed with a suspended sentence last November by Magistrate William Ostler.

Magistrate J. A. Byers remanded the young woman in custody to Nov. 18. He said the sentence on the 11 charges should be imposed by the same magistrate who ordered the sentence suspension in the original case.

Magistrate Ostler is on vacation until Nov. 30. Charges allege the accused failed to report two months in a row to her probation officer; changed her address and left town without approval and was being sought by Toronto police for passing a worthless cheque.

The 11 earlier charges involved more than $300 in worthless cheques passed in Victoria department and clothing stores.

Edward Stephens, charged with trying to steal an elderly physician's medical bag last week, appeared briefly in Saanich court to ask for free legal aid.

He was told he could reach local Law Society representatives by telephone. A probation report on Donald Allen, 1841 Dallas, resulted in his being placed on a one-year suspended sentence Thursday in Saanich magistrate's court for indecent exposure.

Magistrate D. G. Ashby told the accused, "You are guilty of the most objectionable crime but I think there is hope you can rehabilitate yourself."

In city magistrate's court, liquor offences drew four fines. David Alexander, 3205 Shelburne, said he "couldn't wait." That was why he was found consuming a bottle of beer in public—in a car on the corner of Shelburne and Hillside, Oct. 31. He was fined $50. David L. Robertson, HMCS Naden, was fined $20 for being a minor in possession of liquor. Police said beer was being consumed from paper cups in a car at a drive-in restaurant. Douglas Toffey, 19, of 1514 Clawthorpe, also pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. He told police he had bought a case of 12 bottles of beer earlier, and only 11½ bottles were left when he was stopped. His fine was $30.

Also fined $20, but in Colwood magistrate's court, was Dennis

STOKE, England (Reuters)—The authorities at a Northern England university Thursday clamped down firmly on a student plan to sell contraceptives in a university shop.

Dr. H. M. Taylor, vice-chancellor of Keele University near here, said: "I have told the president of the Students' Union that the proposal must be abandoned."

CENSUS TAKEN Student leaders said Wednesday that a census was made of 1,001 students and professors before deciding that contraceptives should go on sale. Roy Moore, 20-year-old president of the Students' Union, said: "Contraceptives will now be available to those who want them."

The university's Church of England chaplain, Ven. George Youell, said: "I am violently opposed to it." Four girl students became pregnant last year. The student magazine Cymet said another girl had an abortion and paid £150 ($450) for it.

Musicale Saturday

Piano, harp and violin selections will highlight the Victoria Musical Art Society study group meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday at the home of Miss Lorna Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road. The program includes piano selections by Sheldon Kushner; harp selections, Miss Langley; violin solo, Miss Merlin Nadurak; violin and piano duet, Miss Vivian Abbott and Norman Abbott; vocal selections, Mrs. Winifred Snape.

First 100 Years the Worst

MOSCOW—Shepherd Nasir Shakhman and his wife Gechak are both 119 and have just celebrated their 103rd wedding anniversary. They were born in 1865, children of two shepherds who arranged the marriage for them according to an ancient Armenian custom.

Nasir is still fit but thinks he deserves to take it easy at 119. He recently gave up his job as shepherd at the Asis-bekov collective farm and claimed a pension, Moscow news said.

SAN FRANCISCO—Police and the FBI have joined in a nationwide search for San Francisco psychologist William W. Costen, 40, suspected of trying to poison his wealthy aunt over a period of nearly a year. The woman, Mrs. Vanda Haff Unger, once married to band leader Paul Whiteman, is reported recovering. She is 66.

VANCOUVER—Robert Kennedy, newly-elected senator for New York state, has been asked to speak at the British Columbia Truck Loggers Association convention here Jan. 13 to 15.

SAN DIEGO—A home-made submarine has broken a 198-year-old depth record for wooden submarines, according to oceanographer James M. Mella. Mella, employed by the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, claimed his nine-foot-long, egg-shaped submersible broke the record set by David Bushnell's "turtle" in 1776 during the revolutionary war.

DENVER—Carolyn Warner, 19, subject to fainting spells, drowned in eight inches of soapy water while giving her dog a bath. She was found with her head lying in a shallow tub of water which she was using to bathe her dog.

BARROW, Alaska—Rex Ahvakana, 52-year-old Eskimo who helped bring the bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post here after their plane crashed Aug. 15, 1935, has been named manager of the new Barrow airfield.

PARIS—Prince Pierre, 68, father of Prince Rainier of Monaco, has died in a Paris hospital.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass.—Tall and straight as a schooner's mast, Admiral Donald B. Macmillan, last survivor of the 1800 in 90 years old.

ATHENS—King Constantine of Greece and Danish-born

Paul Whiteman and Mrs. Vanda Unger suit against the Curtis Publishing Company, publishers of the Saturday Evening Post, based on a Sept. 19 article The Auto-makers and Their Mighty Works, which he claims inaccurately portrayed his role as Chrysler president.

LOS ANGELES—Ferry Lewis, a newspaper vendor, had to leave his news stand unattended briefly on Veterans Day. Before leaving the stand, Lewis posted the following sign: "Veteran First World War. 10 cents please." When he returned, he found one paper gone and in place of a dime the following note: "Veteran, too. Thanks."

MADRID—New Canadian ambassador to Spain Benjamín Rogers presented his credentials to Generalissimo Franco in a ceremony at the royal palace.

PHILADELPHIA—Abayinla Haysa, 33, a Muslim sect leader, was found guilty of inciting the Negro rioting in Philadelphia's north side last Aug. 28. He faces a maximum sentence of five years and fines up to $1,500.

Queen Anne-Marie flew to London for a five-day unofficial visit. The royal couple announced last week that the 18-year-old queen is expecting a child.

NEW YORK—Police Lieut. Thomas Gilligan, who has been on sick leave since his fatal shooting of a Negro boy last July touched off riots here, has been restored to active duty.

WACKER QUAY, England—Retired Navy man John Goodwin objected to the planning of officials' order to tear down his riverside weekend retreat. He claimed it wasn't a bungalow, but a boat which floated twice daily, at high tide.

STOCKHOLM—King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden is 85 years old. The king's first birthday telegram came from President Li Shao-chi of China. The old-line revolutionary said he extended the best wishes "to the monarchy of Sweden."

ROME—Actress Anita Ekberg was bitten in the hand while giving sugar to a cab horse in the Rome district of Trastevere. The bite was not serious.

DENVER—Attorneys for both sides agreed to have a lawsuit settled by an outside judge. The suit charged Charles Bennett with keeping a $434 bank overpayment. A change of judges was agreed upon after it was learned the case was to be heard in superior court—before Judge Charles Bennett, the defendant.

SANTA BARBARA—Academy award-winning actor Paul Hensel, 66, who soared to movie stardom in the film Scorpio in 1923, remained in serious condition with a heart ailment at Cottage Hospital.

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth gave the George Medal for bravery to Margaret Cleland, 23-year-old London policewoman who snatched a baby from the arms of a distraught father threatening to throw it from a roof in London last March.

NEW DELHI—Indian Prime Minister Shastri will visit Britain from Dec. 2 to 6.

DETROIT—William Newberg, former president of Chrysler Corp., has filed a $2,000,000 libel

Winter Fair

American Corn Champ

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian and an American shared honors in two of the final world championships to be decided Thursday at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Harold Hansen, of Ensign, Alta., won the world flax championship with his entry of the R-1 variety.

E. Smith of Swan River, Man., placed second and John E. Cotton of Kenville, Man., last year's champion and winner of this year's field pea section, third.

T.A. REPEATS
G. S. Patterson of RR 3, Colchester, Ont., was declared world ear corn champion. C. N. Fisher of Shelbyville, Ind., was 1953 champion.

In championships decided Wednesday, Harry N. Gorsline of Demorestville, Ont., took the world rye championship with Major F. A. Fleming of Barryvale, Ont., reserve champion. William Beatties, RR 1, Stanley, Ont., captured the world soybean crown for the third time in nine years.

TORONTO WINNER
Daniel MacIntosh of RR 1, Port Burwell, Ont., was declared world tobacco champion, with Nick Nyilas reserve champion. Wilber E. Keyes of Seaforth, Ont., was named world hay champion, while Russell Dallas, last year's winner, reserve champion.

The world wheat championship went to 19-year-old Lawrence W. Gibson of Carleton Place, Ont., with his entry of Chinook spring wheat. George Luo, 1963 champion, placed second in the spring wheat section.

OATS TITLE
William Whitehead Sr., of Kenwood, Man., carried off the world oats championship, with William Buchanan of Chapel Hill, Kincardine-on-Forth, Scotland, taking reserve place.

The world barley award went to N. Johnson and Son of Holton Place, Holton St. Mary, Colchester, England, with an entry of the Europa variety. This was the first time since 1961 and the third time since 1955 that an English entry took top prize.

Roman Wedding

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP)—When Lawrence McManis of Owen Sound and Anne Morris of Barrie, Ont., were planning their wedding, they figured on a quiet ceremony in Rome.

But as the groom is a corporal in the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps and has Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec as his bishop, it didn't work out that way.

The archbishop, in Rome for the Vatican council, performed the ceremony himself and found Group Capt. W. A. Hockney, Canadian air attaché in the Italian capital, to give the bride away.

After the ceremony the archbishop arranged for a car to take the newlyweds on a tour of Rome.

New UN Crisis Coming Over Entry of China

The United Nations is stronger today than it was 10 years ago said Mr. Willson Woodside, commentator, speaking to the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday. Mr. Woodside is also vice-president of the World Federation of the UN Association.

The Crystal Ballroom was jam-packed to hear the speaker and also to honor the club's two scholarship winners who were presented. Miss Barbara McKellar of Oak Bay secondary school who had an average of 87 per cent and Bruce Bennett of Mount Douglas Secondary School with an average of 84.75 per cent both expressed their gratitude.

Speaking on the continuing crisis in the UN, Mr. Woodside pointed out this was "normal" in a changing world and that the organization was entering its 16th year in spite of many turnouts.

An early crisis was in 1955 when 18 new, small nations were admitted as members. Mr. Woodside said this experiment had proved of great benefit to the small nations at least. The UN gave these delegates parliamentary training which they would not have had otherwise. It also provided them a platform from which to gain economic aid as well as showing them the free systems of the West.

Mr. Woodside said the last assembly saw the easing of the cold war situation.

The new crisis coming up was the Soviet's refusal to pay for peacekeeping.

"The Soviet says it will pull out if they are made to pay for this peacekeeping. But I just don't believe it. I don't think they'll leave just as the Chinese Communists are coming in."

On a visit to Moscow this summer the speaker noted the Russian UN officers just made use of the United Nations for Soviet uses. It was thought of as an arena of conflict between capitalist countries and revolutionary forces.

Another problem was the seating of Red China. Mr. Woodside warned this would be unpleasant for it would be the colored nations against the white. He said the Chinese had even said the Soviet citizens were "white" and not fit to lead the world.

LOW BACK PAIN

Jewels Sparkle In the Evening

By DOROTHY WISOTNIEWSKI

Simplicity by day and sophistication by evening is the hair style picture. That is the latest word brought directly to Victoria by Danny Hajnal, who attended the recent World Hair Style Championships in Basel, Switzerland, as Canada's only representative.

Mr. Hajnal, accompanied by his wife, Florence, also visited the leading capitals of Europe: London, Paris, Vienna, Rome and Madrid.

The contrast between day and evening styles was tremendous and the most outstanding feature of all the beauty establishments Mr. Hajnal visited.

The hair is cut very short for the daytime simplicity. Evening glamour is achieved by the use of hair pieces, jewels, and velvet bows.

The glittering hairdos are in keeping with the evening dress which is often heavily beaded. The romantic picture is increased when, according to the Victoria stylist, 65 per cent of the evening dresses have long skirts.

European stylists are paying more attention to creating a line to suit the individual, says Mr. Hajnal.

Other fashions noted by the Hajnals were the wide popularity of the turtle-neck sweater, now invading the dress field; the equally popular suede and leather jackets, coats and suits and the square-toed shoe for men, women and children.

You couldn't buy a pair of pointed-toe shoes in Europe right now, says Danny. Green is the color predominating the European fashion scene this season and if it isn't a true green then it is a mixture of green and black. Fancy stockings are also still a rage.

It is nine years since Danny Hajnal came here from Europe and this was his first visit back.

After his relatively quiet years in Victoria, Danny was most impressed by the masses of people everywhere in Europe. In one sector of Rome alone there were 200 apartment blocks going up.

In London, the Hajnals went to see Something Happened on the Way to the Forum which Danny says is the funniest show he has ever seen and that he left the theatre convulsed in tears from laughing.

Although they had a fabulous time the Hajnals were quite happy to come back to Victoria which they now call home. But they will be ready for another holiday in Europe, anytime.

If Knees Show, So Be It

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's spring in the nation's number one garment centre, and as the new fashion collections are shown, the joint is jumping — with knee joints.

Short skirts and the mannequins and buyers wearing the high hemlines are the reason. There are plump knees, skinny knees, knobby knees, baggy knees, knock-knees, and some knockout knees. But no matter what the type, all are on display.

The women apparently have given up those efforts of a season or so ago, as the skirts got shorter to tug the hemline down after sitting. Now, if the knees show, so be it. Only a drastic drop in hemline lengths can change the scene, and they aren't dropping. On the contrary, they're going higher for daytime.

Some of the designers feature hemlines two inches above the knees in their spring collections. None who's previewed for the nation's store purchasers and the press has dropped them a smidge for fall's predominantly mid-thigh length.

The knee show is just one of the "trends" behind the scenes as the ready-to-wear industry unveils what women will be wearing in the Easter Parade.

What the buyers wear reflects what the American woman currently is wearing. What the models wear often foretells things to come in fashion.

Relegated to the background in numbers, are blonde models. An unofficial count gives the brunettes a five to one edge.

Still in with the models is heavy eye makeup, the false lashes, plus heavy shadow and eye liner. In still, the pale lipsticks and pale-tone faces.

In too, is a new way of walking for a few of the models. A few—notably one at the Maurice Remy show—stood straight and stride as if they were free-swinging along a country lane. Still with us also is the deadpan model. As designer-manfacturer Oleg Cassini commented at his show—"It's chic not to smile."

Other trends in with the showroom habits:

The three-strand of pearls falling halfway to the waist, replacing the shorter necklaces. The jangle of charm bracelets. The outside handbag, although the giants seem to have shrunk since last season.

Coping in, the textured and patterned stockings instead of the see-through sheers. Well established now are the lowheeled pumps instead of spikes for day.

Out with the showroom set: Hats, worn less frequently than bearded heads.

The basic black costume. Showrooms blaze with bright colors and some persons, with unlimited money for cleaning bills, dare the white and off-white coats and suits.

The term "discotheque" dress, the sheer little black frocks that the industry heavily promoted last spring for dancing in the night spots featuring music by record.

Christmas Hints

PREPARATION OF FRUIT

Small dried and glazed fruits are usually left whole; larger fruits and nuts such as candied cherries, pineapple, walnuts, etc., should be chopped or cut up to allow for even distribution of fruit and to ease the cutting of the finished cake. Dip scissors in flour or hot water to cut candied and dried fruits easily. To prevent prepared fruits from sticking together or falling to bottom of Christmas cake or pudding, combine them and dredge them lightly with flour.

PREPARATION OF PANS

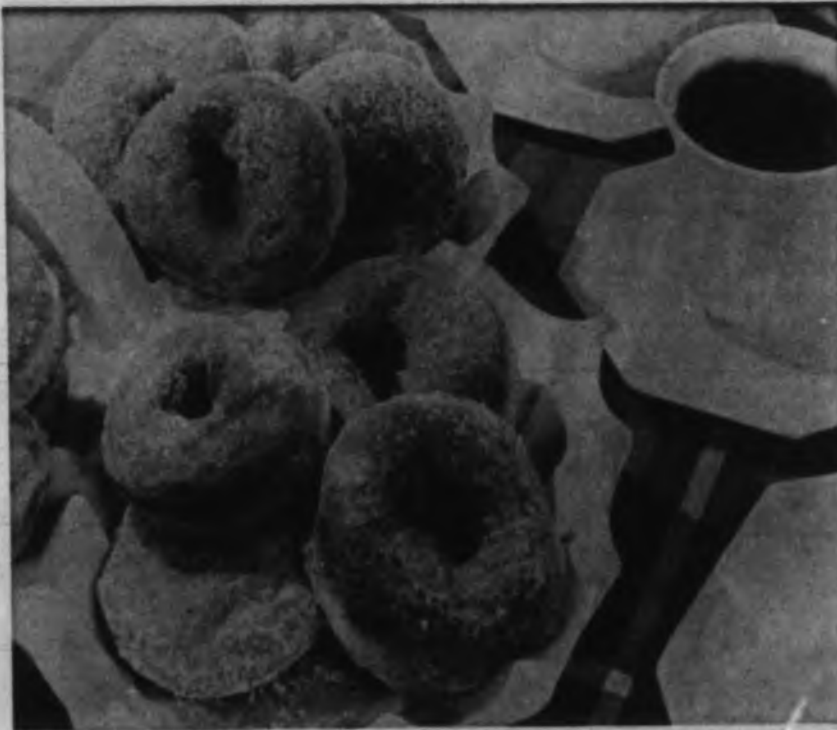

Fruit cake is high in sugar content and burns easily. Pans should be lined smoothly with heavy paper, which insulates the pans and prevents the cake from scorching. Use two of three layers of plain brown or heavy white paper, greasing thoroughly the top layer of paper which will be next to the batter.

STORING OF FRUIT CAKE

Fruit cakes and puddings should be baked well in advance of Christmas. They improve in flavor and texture if allowed to "ripen" in storage in a cool place for several weeks. The natural moisture of the cake must be sealed in well. Wrap cakes securely in aluminum foil, and place in metal container with lid. Cakes may also be wrapped in moisture-proof film, the ends sealed air-tight. If prepared, fruit cake may be wrapped first in cheesecloth dipped in wine, brandy or cider, then in aluminum foil.

Student Team

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — Jeanette Miller, 47, and her 17-year-old daughter Cecile of North-east Margaree, N.S., are both students at the Nova Scotia Teachers College. Mrs. Miller is in her second year. Cecile is in her first. Another daughter, Marie, 15, graduated last year. She and her mother were the first mother and daughter team to attend the college at the same time since it was founded 100 years ago.

YEAST-RAISED DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts to Delight

According to legend, the practice of cutting doughnuts with holes in the centres began aboard a Yankee ship. The little fried cakes, referred to as "doughy nuts," were popular with the sailors.

When work came up that involved both their hands, the sailors would stick their little cakes over the spokes of the wheel. The thrifty captain abhorred the waste and soon ordered the cook to make them with holes which would fit over the spokes. And thus the doughnut, as we know it, was born.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS

Yield — about 2½ dozen doughnuts.

One cup milk; ¼ cup granulated sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg; 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; ½ cup lukewarm water; 2 teaspoons granulated sugar; 2 envelopes fast-rising active dry yeast; 3 well-beaten eggs; 4 cups (about) pre-sifted all-purpose flour; shortening or cooking oil for deep frying; granulated sugar.

Scald milk; stir in the ¼ cup sugar, salt, nutmeg and butter or margarine. Cool to lukewarm.

Meantime, measure lukewarm water into a large bowl; stir in the 2 teaspoons sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, well-beaten eggs and 3 cups of the flour; beat until smooth and elastic. Cover with a tea towel and let sponge rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about ½ hour. Stir down sponge and work in sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough — about 3 cups more. Turn out onto lightly-floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Roll out one portion to a scant ¼-inch thickness and cut with a floured doughnut-cutter. Arrange the rings, well apart, on lightly floured cookie sheets. Repeat with remaining portion of dough. Cover with a tea towel. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until almost doubled in bulk — about ½ hour. Meantime, heat shortening or cooking oil in a deep fryer or deep saucepan to 375 deg. F. Fry the risen doughnuts, a few at a time, turning them once, until golden brown — do not prick the doughnuts with a fork or they might sink in the hot fat. Drain on absorbent paper; coat with granulated sugar.

It's going to be a cold winter.
Dress lightly.

You don't have to weigh yourself down during cold winters. Stanfield's fine cotton rib underwear weighs ounces, but keeps you warm all winter long. And the pullover-style short sleeve shirt (1411) has a patented nylon-reinforced neckband* that keeps its shape. In S.M.L. ... it's yours for about $2.50. You can have the elastic-waist double-seat long (1412) in sizes 30-40 for about $2.95. Boys' shirts are around $1.50, the long around $1.95. And you can dress even lighter in Stanfield's "4000" line for men. (50% fine combed cotton and 50% English wool).

Smith-Levert

To Live in Montana

The strains of the United with Wright Smith, USAF, and States Air Force theme song, Mrs. Smith when the couple left "Off We Go Into the Wild Blue Yonder," played by Al Denon's orchestra, followed Alice Ken-

Glasgow, Mont., following their recent marriage.

The bride, Ruth Doran Levert, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Leon Levert, 1219 Lockley Road. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elias Kent Smith of Portland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length, silk broad gown in antique white, made by Mrs. L. Brown. The bodice was styled with a scalloped neckline and a two-tier veil, trimmed with lace, misted from an aurea borealis tulle. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

White baskets of gold, bronze and white chrysanthemums and yellow ribbons decorated First United Church for the ceremony at which Rev. Robert J. D. Morris officiated.

Soloist, Stan Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Beck-dressed gowns in Oriental blue were the choice of matron of honor, Mrs. R. Lindal, sister of the bride; maid of honor, Miss Patricia Burch; and bridesmaids, the Misses Karen Smith, sister of the groom, and Gail Levert, sister of the bride. All wore tulle headpieces of organza and velvet roses, trimmed with net, and heart-shaped silver pendants, gift of the bride and groom. They carried cascade bouquets of gold chrysanthemums.

Flower girl, Donna Shoemaker, Seattle, wore a frock of yellow chiffon over tulle and a heart-shaped silver locket, gift of the bride and groom. She carried a basket of yellow roses, gold chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Don Shoemaker, Seattle, was best man and Robert Lindal, Bruce Lindal and Tim Freed, Portland, were ushers.

A four-tier wedding cake, made by the bride and decorated by Bert Merritt, centred the bride's table at the reception. The cake was topped with wedding bells.

Charles L. Moore proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

For travelling, the bride donned a three-piece double-knit suit of cranberry red.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Elmas, pictured here after their wedding, are now living in Hamilton, Ont. Bride is the former Miss Carol Ann Howay of 3107 Westdowne Road. — (Fillon-Simpson)

PERSONAL MENTION

Wed in Kingston

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Fullerton, accompanied by Mrs. Fullerton's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Argall, have returned home after attending the wedding in Kingston, Ont., of their son, Wayne Fullerton, and Christine Lachman. The groom who is a graduate of University of Victoria, went to Kingston on a scholarship and is studying for a Ph.D. in psychology. His bride is a 1964 graduate of the Belleville General Hospital.

Christening Ceremony

Barbara Dawn, were the names given to the five-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gibson at her christening in Victoria Truth Centre. The baby wore a white hand-knitted dress, made by her grandmother, Mrs. W. Gibson, for the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Emma Smiley. Mr. Bruce Tennant and the Misses April and Patti Tennant are godparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tennant are the baby's grandparents. Family reception was held at the Wallace Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Tennant.

IODE Pins Presented

Long-time members, Mrs. D. McDowell and Mrs. F. Dods-worth, of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter IODE, were presented with 25-year membership pins by Mrs. G. A. Vantreight, regent, at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Vantreight and Mrs. R. Benson reported on the provincial semi-annual meeting of IODE held in Burnaby. Mrs. M. Laughheed, services at home and abroad convener, asked members to bring used clothing, books and magazines to the next meeting.

Fall Fair

Coverdale PTA is holding its Annual Fall Fair at the school Friday, Nov. 13. Fish pond, white elephant, home cooking, dolls' clothing, candy and games. Doors open 7 p.m. There will be no regular PTA meeting in November.

Reception Honors Sorority Members

Victoria Golf Club was the setting recently for a reception honoring 45 members of Beta Sigma Phi, who received their pins in three separate candlelight ceremonies.

Members were received by city council president, Mrs. J. B. Mills; Mrs. T. H. Johns, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Mrs. J. R. Kingham, Mrs. E. V. Finland, Mrs. W. R. Clark, Mrs. T. F. Sparks, Mrs. A. C. D. Budd, Mrs. C. M. Jasper, Mrs. B. F. Hickman, Mrs. R. Lott, and the Misses Rita Rodger, Dorothy Hayes, Pat St. Denis and Linda Shrive.

Vice-presidents of all chapters assisted officiant, Mrs. J. P. Kingham, in conferring the ritual of jewels upon Shirley Anderson, Flo Johnson, Jeanette Longden, Karen McLaughlin, Elinor Morris, Doris Rawlinson, Avril Reid and Marguerite Shrive.

Receiving pins in the pledge ritual conducted by Alpha Zeta Chapter were Laura Black, Jacqueline Fayad, Angela Fretter, Alice Haines, Sharon Higgins, Jocelyn Hunter, Daisy Lawrie, Elaine Mayo, Joan Newdecker, Doreen Poole and Kory Regan.

In a candlelight ceremony conducted by Xi Nu Chapter, 26 members received the ritual of the badge. Presented with pins were Donna Burrows, Linda Coleman, Doreen Burrows, Doreen Falkner, Rita Gustus, Donna McKinty, Eleana Slater, Mary Rutherford, Jackie Sunderland, Darlene Wilson, Pat St. Denis, Sandra Schutz, Sandra Neve, Audrey Hayley, Joan Fraser, Gail Craig, Joyce Chope, Donna Clarke, Diane Crow, Shirley Gerth, Ann Longden, Patricia Padden, Sylvia Peiser, Linda Shrive, Joan Stallybrass, Dawne Wooten and Lorna Colfield.

Mrs. J. B. Mills gave an address of welcome to the new members. Miss Rita Rodger spoke to the Nu Phi Mu members and Mrs. C. M. Jasper proposed a toast to the ritual of jewels candidates.

Mrs. Finland and Mrs. Clark presided at the refreshment table.

Now that you're vice-president Charlie are you still going to wear tennis shoes to the office?

Certainly am—they're comfortable—don't hurt my feet, and they're cheap. And anyway, I'm an individualist.

Well, I'm an individualist too, a practical individualist—I drive a Studebaker.

Isn't that going a little too far—driving a Studebaker?

Have you ever driven a Studebaker?

Haven't the nerve!

You've really missed something—you who's supposed to be an individualist. Look at my Studebaker down there. Under that heavy gauge steel roof is a protective steel beam for extra safety. A real frame with bolt-on body construction—never loosens up—is free of squeaks and rattles.

Yeah, but what about comfort—I LIKE COMFORT.

There's more room in my Studey than any car I can think of. I wear my hat with inches to spare. The seats are chair high—I'm never tired. It's got flat floors—I never trip, and they're easy to clean. But you're an individualist, so don't take my word for it or anyone else's. Try Studebaker for yourself. (S)

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Your reply to "Brick Wall" set my teeth on edge. You must be a nut. Have YOU ever gotten up at 3 a.m. to cook a man supper? I know darned well you haven't. So quit telling other women to do it.

I was married to one of those lunatics who turned night into day. He worked every cockeyed shift in the book and I was supposed to adjust my life to it. As if that wasn't enough he'd go on fishing trips, come home at 4 a.m. half-crazed and expect me to get out of bed and clean the fish "so they won't spoil."

Most men who work graveyard shifts have a screw loose. They live by night and sleep by day. I say "Fine" if that's what they want, but they have no right to impose their nutty ways on others. Then YOU come along and stick up for them. Why don't you write a travel column and take a nice long trip? —MAD AT YOU:

Dear Mad At Me: You aren't the only one. I haven't received such a pesting since I told the women to pick up their husbands' socks and wet bath towels and stop nagging. Even some men wrote to tell me I was crazy.

I still say a husband is entitled to a hot supper and his wife's company when he gets home from work no matter what the hour—if he wants it.

Dear Ann Landers: My steady

boy friend just gave me my engagement ring. This means I must go to a doctor for a pre-marital physical examination within the next several weeks.

I don't mind going to a doctor to have my throat painted or to get a flu shot, but the thought of a complete physical exam by a man makes me sick to my stomach.

Please Ann, don't tell me that I'm afraid of men and to get over my prudishness before I marry or I will be in trouble. The truth is, my boy friend and I have already done things you don't approve of—so it isn't that.

And don't tell me to go to a woman doctor. There is no woman physician in this city.

I want to overcome this terrible feeling, Ann, because I'll be faced with it again when I have children. Can you help me?

—THE SHAKES.

Dear Shakes: I don't know who you think you are or what you think you have that is so special, but this I can tell you—to that doctor you are just about as sexy as the cadaver he worked on in med-school.

A nurse will be present, plus several sheets, and you will discover the anticipation is 1,000 times worse than the actual experience. ★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I was appalled by the letter from "Corky" the farm wife who rattled off the long list of things she accomplished between dawn and dusk.

"Corky" casually told you she puts the baby on her lap when she drives the tractor. Please, please, please, Ann, tell her to stop taking such terrible chances with her child. Any farm safety expert will tell you it is a risky practice.

If you only know how we farmers are pestered by visiting nukes who want to give their small children a tractor ride—as if it were a feature at an amusement park. I hope you will print this letter for one and all to see. —SPRINGFIELD.

Dear Springfield: Here's the letter, and now all you folks who may be giving kids tractor rides—cut it out. The man says it's risky—and I would take his word for it.

Apprentices at Evening Classes

They Learn 'Why' as Well as 'How'

By TED GASKELL

Greater Victoria school district's evening division is giving hundreds of apprentices a chance to learn a side of their trades they might not be able to learn on the job.

This year 350 apprentices are putting in two nights a week learning the theory of a variety of trades, leaving them free at work to learn the practical aspects.

Some of them, in small shops, might never get a chance to learn theory, said night school principal Alan Batey.

COURSE COMPULSORY

Night school is compulsory for the apprentice during his four or five-year indenture, and the government pays from $20 to $50 a course.

Not all the night school vocational division students are apprentices. Sometimes, if there is room in a class, a non-apprentice will be allowed in, but he pays his own fees.

Boat-building is for shipyard apprentices. In this class students learn the important skills of lofting, laying out of the design of a boat.

DONE IN MINIATURE

But it's done in miniature, with 32 and 26-foot boats scaled down so that they can be lofted on eight-foot panels.

This course has 16 students, including shipyard workers

Doug Longhurst, of 2530 Cedar Hill, Ken Webb, 1950 Bouchier, William Lindner, 521 Warren, and Travers Williams, 1565 Rowan, who work as a group on the miniature plans.

In welding, Jim Shepherd of 1249 Rockland, has passed his five-year course, but he's returned to take up welding to help him in his work as a sheet metal worker.

In the fourth-year automotive course, all the students are mechanics like Rick Seaton of 1710 Lansdowne, Vic Welland of 2616 Thompson, and Frank Braten of 823 Esquimalt.

The auto mechanics' course isn't for motor mechanics alone.

A number of apprentices from city machine shops are taking the night school course.

The night school is filled almost to capacity, according to Mr. Batey.

ernment and has cost the school district taxpayers little or nothing, said Mr. Batey.

And it's used every night of

33 to Become Canadians

Thirty-three people will be sworn as Canadian citizens when the citizenship court sits Nov. 18.

County Court Judge Montague Tyrwhitt-Drake will preside at the hearing.

INCREASE NOT LARGE

The increase in apprentices is not dramatic. Last year there were between 300 and 325. This year there are about 350.

Equipment at F. T. Fairley Technical Unit, the vocational department of Victoria High School, is provided by the gov-the week in the night school season.

There are a number of carpentry and automotive courses, welding, electricity, electronics, metal work, pipe drafting, power plant steamfitting, boat-building, copperwork for pipe-fitters, and plastic, glass and pneumatic control courses.

Apprentices attend two nights a week and over the term put in the equivalent of three work weeks.

In Burnaby, where there is a vocational school, some apprentices take a full-time course for a month.

Jet Engine Failure Ruled Out

MONTREAL (UPI) — A team of National Research Council experts Thursday ruled out mafor engine malfunction or "flame-out" as the cause of last November's Air Canada crash which killed 118 persons.

But the inquiry called for more details of repairs made to the aircraft—including one the day of the crash, Nov. 29, 1963—of design characteristics of the DC8, and of the backgrounds of the flying crew.

The hearing, conducted by Mr. Justice Georges Chailles, was adjourned until Dec. 2.

E. P. Cockshutt, a gas turbine and jet engine expert, said 75 per cent of the engines was recovered and "no evidence has been detected of a major malfunction."

Use the Naran Plan to Lose Ugly Fat

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoonsful a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

They Just Stared and Stared

Unarmed Bobbies Rout Cougar

LONDON (AP)—A mountain lion stared down two British bobbies Thursday and then took it on the lam.

The brief encounter occurred at Stoke Poges in Buckinghamshire, which thus became the fourth English county to be included in the cougar's roving area. He had previously turned up in Hampshire, Surrey and Sussex.

What a mountain lion is doing in the south of England is a mystery. It is native to North and South America but not to the British Isles.

There is some evidence that the roving animal has thought of trying to make it back to the Americas by plane—he has twice been spotted loitering around the runways of an airfield at Farnborough.

Near Horsham, Sussex, a woman found him scratching in her garden. In each case the animal fled.

He turned up Thursday in the Stoke Poges churchyard made famous by Thomas Gray in his poem, Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard. Two highway patrolmen saw him and stopped their car.

From a distance of 10 feet, the policemen stared at the mountain lion and the mountain lion stared at them. British policemen do not carry guns on their normal rounds, so there was nothing much the patrolmen could do.

The mountain lion finally strode off into a nearby meadow.

Armed police with tracker dogs were called to the area. They found paw marks of the five-foot cat but that was all.

Ether Blast Wrecks Laboratory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Exploding ether caused an estimated $1,200 damage to a University of British Columbia medical laboratory. The blast tore down the refrigerator where ether was stored, and fire ripped through the laboratory. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Luxembourg Ruler Abdicates at 68

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Grand Duchess Charlotte, the 68-year-old grand old lady of European monarchs, abdicated Thursday in favor of her son Grand Duke Jean. She had ruled for 45 years. Even the five Communists among the 56 members of parliament bowed their heads in sorrow as the Grand Duchess turned over her throne to her 43-year-old son. The abdication was marked by the same effortless combination of regal dignity and simplicity which characterized the years of her reign. In a ceremony at the royal palace, attended only by government officials, the members of parliament, and other dignitaries, Charlotte, wearing a green dress and a diadem, signed the abdication document after warmly embracing her son. The Grand Duchess left the throne she has held since 1919, when her elder sister, criticized as pro-German, entered a convent.

B.C. Farmers Seeking Land Utilization Board

B.C. farmers Thursday asked the government to set up a land utilization board which would co-ordinate the use of crown lands for industry, agriculture, forestry, recreation and highways.

A brief presented to the cabinet by the advisory council of B.C. Farmers' Institutes said such a board is needed in the province immediately.

It also asked the cabinet to extend to all citizens B.C. government employees' medical service.

PAY HALF COST

The government pays half of the cost of the existing plan which covers some 45,000 people including MLAs and their families. Premiums are $10 a month for married people and $4 for a single person.

The scheme is run by a 10-member commission, half appointed by the government, the other five elected.

LYON, France — Julien Dedrich, a 46-year-old tramp, suffers from a weak stomach. Ordinary red wine bothers him but he figured champagne might be easier on the digestion. Picked up by police in a wine cellar here, he admitted ruefully "I've drunk 70 bottles of bubbly this week and I must say I feel a great gastric weariness."

INSIDE THE KREMLIN

Within Moscow's Kremlin are located old royal places, government bureaus, the premier's office and old churches where the tsars were crowned.

Arthur Sheford of Omineca, head of the farmers' delegation, said the government deserves great credit for opening up B.C.'s north, but he suggested a freeze on B.C. Hydro rate cuts until power has been extended to more rural areas.

HIGHER PENALTIES URGED

The brief asked for a greatly increased rural electrification program.

Farmers also asked for higher penalties for rustlers. B.C. laws now provide jail terms up to five years for stealing strays, and up to 10 years for rustling cattle from pens or regular grazing lands.

The delegation said magistrates in the interior are imposing only minimal fines in some cases.

Officials of the attorney-general's department said farmers should take their complaints to the magistrates.

Government Issues Business Directory

B.C.'s department of industrial development, trade, and commerce has compiled a new business directory.

It lists wholesalers and distributors, importers and exporters and the products they handle and indicates the number of employees. There is also a list of manufacturers' agents. The directory is available free of charge from the Bureau of Economics and Statistics, legislative buildings, Victoria.

Disarmers Urge China's Entry

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament is pressing the federal government for a reversal of Canada's stand against admitting China into the United Nations.

Attitude Taught, Not Facts

Students in B.C. high schools are being encouraged to use scientific techniques to extend the boundaries of their knowledge.

The move is part of a revolution in teaching of chemistry, physics and biology now under way in public schools.

It began with the Chant royal commission and has been spurred by a wealth of developments in all branches of science.

F. J. Cairns, curriculum consultant to the department of education, said a new Grade 11 physics course was introduced this fall and new Grade 12 physics will begin next September.

The "laboratory approach" to secondary school chemistry is also expected to be introduced next fall.

It will be at least a year before the new course in biology can be started, Mr. Cairns said.

There will be an emphasis on laboratory work so that students develop "attitudes of inquiry, searching for relationships, for truth in science," he said.

"There is just too much (scientific knowledge) to allow youngsters to assimilate it. We are not so concerned with immediate applications. Understanding is what we are striving for."

Bella Coola

Bertram

Robson

Dies, 75

Bertram George Robson, former master mariner, big game guide and Victoria athlete, has died at Bella Coola, aged 75.

He was the only son of Victoria pioneer residents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Robson.

He died Oct. 7 and was buried on his own land at Mountain House, Alberni, B.C.

Mr. Robson was born at Metlakatla, B.C., and for a number of years lived with his family on Hudson's Bay trading posts in the North. He came to Victoria when he was 12 and was educated here.

SERVED AS PURSER

He served as a purser on CPR and Union Steamship boats and held a master mariner's ticket for inland waters.

He served with the 51st Howitzers during the First World War.

On retirement he returned to northern B.C. and acted as a big game guide.

He is survived by his widow, a son, G. Clayton Robson, Bella Coola; two daughters, Mrs. Stephen (Joan) Janda, Victoria; Mrs. Charles (Dorwin) Burnett, Portland; 12 grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. R. W. Crompton, North Vancouver, and Mrs. R. M. Angus, Victoria.

Russians Sign Yugoslav Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Yugoslavia Wednesday signed a $300,000,000 trade agreement for 1965. They also agreed on a $250,000,000 Soviet order for 78 Yugoslav-built ships for delivery in 1966-70.

Snow, Cold In Calgary

CALGARY (UPI)—Warm winter clothing and blankets for spectators should be the order of the day, as the B.C. Lions tackle the Calgary Stampeders in the first game of the Western Conference finals here Saturday afternoon.

The latest Dominion Public Weather Bureau long range forecast (4 p.m. MST) calls for snow Friday afternoon or evening. This will be followed by gradually dipping temperatures and cloudy weather by game time Saturday.

A spokesman for the weather office predicted temperatures would range from 20 to 30 degrees by the time the teams take the field.

Blowers will be used to keep the McMahon Stadium gridiron clear if the predicted snowfall materializes.

Previous forecasts had called for a slight chance of snow and a temperature of 35 degrees.

Every Seat Sold

CALGARY (CP)—Pat Mahoney, Calgary Stampeders' team manager, said Wednesday all tickets for the Saturday afternoon Western Football Conference game between Stampeders and B.C. Lions had been sold.

Mahoney said standing room will go on sale prior to the game Saturday afternoon.

Howie Young Biggest Gun

WHL Records Under Siege

Two Western Hockey League records have already been broken this season and good starts have been made towards wiping out several others.

Howie Young of Los Angeles Blades made it into the record books in Portland last Saturday night by taking eight penalties in one game for a new league high. And Howie is apparently on his way to a season's record with 80 minutes in penalties from 15 games, a rate which would mean more than 370 minutes for 70 games if he can keep it up.

The other new record went to Vancouver forward Billy McNeill, who scored the fastest opening goal in league history Thursday week by getting the puck past San Francisco's Bob Perreault when the game was only seven seconds old.

Then there is goalkeeper Jim McLeod of Seattle Totems. With three shutouts in 13 games he has a big start towards cracking the record of eight shutouts in one season.

The Canucks may wind up with the most potent power play in league history. With 22 odd-man goals in 15 games, they could hardly break the mark of 65, set last season by Seattle.

Leader in the individual scoring statistics at the moment is Buddy Boone, but there are 10 rivals within three points of his 19 and the Vancouver veteran may be out of action for some weeks with a knee injury suffered on Wednesday.

Linemate Phil Maloney, who has been playing despite a gimpy knee, and Leo Labine of Los Angeles, who has missed two games with a bad elbow, are next with 18 points. Lou Jankowski of Victoria Maple Leafs is in a five-way tie for fourth place at 17 points.

Racquet Club May Move, Expand

Victoria district's first family club is in the wind, and could be ready for operation by this time next year. If present plans materialize it will be provided by the relocation of the Racquet Club of Victoria with extended and improved facilities.

Now located on property off Foul Bay Road near Fort Street, the Racquet Club is currently negotiating the sale of its property there to Canada Safeway Ltd. with the hope of completely relocating in another, and equally central, area.

If negotiations for the sale of the present premises are successfully concluded and approved by the membership which will likely vote on the matter some time next month, plans will go ahead immediately for the construction of new and improved facilities on the new site for tennis, badminton, squash racquets and swimming.

Queried last night, a club official said the tentative plans call for at least the nine grass tennis courts now available at the present site and a doubling of the number of hard courts from three to six.

It was also possible, he said, that lighting would be provided for night-time tennis play and that, perhaps, construction would include an indoor tennis court.

Of major importance in relocation plans are the provision of facilities for squash racquets, a game that has steadily gained as many new devotees that the two courts now available in the area are no longer enough to meet the demand. At least three squash courts are embodied in present plans for relocation.

A swimming pool and a multi-purpose admission hall, which could also serve as a gymnasium and be available for other events, are also incorporated in plans. And there would be improved facilities for the social amenities so necessary to a club of this type.

Not Enough Parents Help

VANCOUVER (CP)—Adults who don't turn out at sporting events to cheer on their youngsters were criticized here Thursday by B.C. Lieutenant-Governor George R. Pearkes.

The lieutenant-governor said there are some fine athletes in the province "but while attending meets throughout the province, I have sometimes felt they have not received encouragement from parents and adults."

He told a group attending the opening of a businessmen's health club at Central YMCA that the number of adults who turned out was "very few."

Mounties Prepare Drive

VANCOUVER (CP)—Directors of the Vancouver Mounties baseball club are preparing a ticket drive to raise $70,000 and get a team back into professional baseball.

Club president Nat Bailey announced Wednesday that a business manager to direct the campaign will be hired, probably within a week, and that a meeting of 2,700 shareholders will be called soon.

The action follows an offer that would allow Mounties back into the Pacific Coast Baseball League, providing Vancouver shows it is willing to pay for Triple-A ball.

Seals Set for Sixth Place If They Keep Current Pace

San Francisco Seals will complete a Western Hockey League cycle this season if they continue their present tendencies.

Seals have now completed five WHL seasons and have finished first, second, third, fourth and fifth. In their sixth season they seem to be intent on finishing sixth.

Unable to score consistently and just as inconsistent on defence, the Seals absorbed

Los Angeles Blades, beaten in Victoria Tuesday night, rebounded to whip the Canucks in Vancouver, 5-3, on Wednesday.

Fouts Beats Impaired Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A charge of impaired driving against Dick Fouts, defensive end of British Columbia Lions, was dismissed in magistrate's court Thursday.

Fouts was defended by Allan McEachern, president of the Western Football Conference to which the Lions belong.

Police testified that Fouts was stopped early on Sept. 17. They smelled liquor on his breath and his speech was "heavy."

Mr. McEachern told the court he saw the accused in city jail 30 minutes after he was charged and he was acting in a normal manner.

Tall Dogs Here

If They Bow, Wow!

Some of the tallest bulldogs in captivity will be here to hound the Victoria Chinooks in an intercity junior basketball game Saturday night at Central Junior High School.

Marpole Bulldogs, boasting four players more than six feet, two inches tall, will be meeting Chinooks for the first time this season. Bulldogs have already unleashed their power against Kerrisdale and picked their bones clean.

Bulldogs are a new team this year, made up of Magee and Winston Churchill High School grads.

Game time Saturday is 8:30 p.m. with a preliminary game at 7:30.

Saanichton In Three

Three games in the Peninsula Basketball League are scheduled for tomorrow night at the Saanich Agricultural Hall.

Saanichton entries are featured in all three. At 7, the pre-midnight boys meet Brentwood. The opener is followed at 7:45 by a midget boys' game against Cordova Bay and the finale will be between the Saanichton and Cordova Bay bantam boys.

Game time Saturday is 8:30 p.m. with a preliminary game at 7:30.

Big Game For Navy

It will be brawn versus brain in the feature game of the Esquimalt and District Hockey League at the Esquimalt Sports Centre tonight.

Navy, the heaviest team in the league, takes on the stealthy University Vikings at 9:45 p.m. Pontiacs and Army meet in the first game starting at 7:45 p.m.

Revenge Match

Trafalgar will try to even the score with University of Victoria tonight when the two clubs meet in a senior women's basketball game, which starts at 7:30 at the Gordon Head gymnasium.

The co-eds won the first meeting, 43-42.

Fred Hutchinson Dead of Cancer

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Fred Hutchinson, former manager of Cincinnati Reds who was harder on his office furniture than his players, died in hospital Thursday of chest cancer.

With his health failing fast, he had stepped down Oct. 19 as manager of the Reds. The job went to Dick Slater, who became acting manager when Hutchinson went on sick leave Aug. 13.

Hutchinson, baseball's Manager of the Year in 1957 for his second place finish with St. Louis Cardinals and again in 1961 for a pennant winner at Cincinnati, felt the first pain of his illness last Christmas.

Hospital tests confirmed the presence of a malignant tumor, but he continued to direct the Reds until illness forced him to quit.

He left the club in August to enter hospital in Cincinnati and never returned to his job.

Hutchinson, a native of Seattle, won 25 games for Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in his first year as a pitcher.

His best pitcher years at Detroit were 1949, when he was 15-7, and 1950, when he was 17-8.

After taking over the Reds management, Slater called Hutchinson in Florida to tell him that he hated the condition under which he got the job.

"Don't worry about that," Hutchinson replied. "Just give 'em hell."

Old Goaltenders Still in Style

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Terry Sawchuk, with whom Detroit Red Wings parted company last summer, moved a bit closer to them Wednesday night.

The veteran goaltender, picked up by Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League draft when the Wings left him unprotected, kicked out 30 shots from his former team-mates as Toronto ended Detroit's nine-game unbeaten streak with a 3-1 victory. The loss reduced the Wings' NHL lead to two points over the Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, who defeated Chicago Black Hawks 4-1.

Another two points back were New York Rangers, who downed the last-place Boston Bruins 4-2 to vault over the fading Hawks into fourth place.

A combination of Sawchuk and the effects of playing three games in four days eventually wore down the Red Wings after they lost the Stanley Cup champions in the first period when Bruce MacGregor shot them into a 1-0 lead.

Don McKenney got that one back in the second period as

	P	W	L	T	F	A	P
Detroit	12	12	13	3	28	21	11
Toronto	12	12	13	3	28	21	11
New York	12	12	13	3	28	21	11
Chicago	12	12	13	3	28	21	11
Boston	12	12	13	3	28	21	11

Wednesday scores: Montreal 4 at Chicago 1; Detroit 1 at Toronto 2; Boston 2 at New York 4.

Next games: Toronto-Detroit at Montreal; Boston at Toronto.

The Leafs' heavy hitting gradually wore down the three Wings and bench-warmer Jim Pappin backhanded home a loose puck for the winning goal midway through the final frame. Bob Pulford salted it away with nine seconds left.

Pulford's goal was fired into an empty net after Detroit pulled rookie netminder Roger Crozier for an extra attacker. Crozier had matched Sawchuk's 30 saves in the wide-open game.

Nearly a year after a pulled muscle cost Lorne (Gump) Worsley the goaltending job with Montreal Canadiens, the 35-year-old veteran made a triumphant return at Chicago when a similar injury sidelined Charlie Hodge, his successor.

The pudgy netminder made 26 stops, several of them sensational, and inspired the Habs as they snapped a four-game, winless streak at the expense of the Hawks, who suffered their second straight setback.

PLANTE BOBS BRUINS

Jacques Plante blocked 16 Boston drives in a hectic first period before the Rangers got untracked with two-goal performances by Camille Henry and Earl Ingarfield to subdue the reviving Bruins. Wayne Rivers and Johnny Bucyk scored for the losers.

Plante, recalled from Baltimore Clippers of the American League last week to replace the injured Marcel Paille, picked up his second straight, brilliant performance after shutting out Toronto, 1-0, Saturday night, making 32 stops in all.

Mahovlich In Hospital For Checkup

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League was admitted to hospital Thursday for a complete medical checkup.

Leaf officials said the big left winger has not been feeling well for a week although he took his regular shifts in a game here Wednesday night against Detroit Red Wings. He assisted on one goal in Toronto's 3-1 win.

Coch Punch Imlach said he does not think Mahovlich will be out of the lineup long, although there is no indication how long he will be in hospital.

Leafs play next at home Saturday against Boston Bruins.

Volleyball Tourney Saturday

Two places in the B.C. finals are the main targets of 10 Vancouver Island high school girls volleyball teams that stage a one-day round-robin tournament at Victoria High Saturday.

Winners of two divisions will take part in the B.C. finals next weekend at the University of British Columbia.

Schools taking part Saturday are from Port McNeill, Campbell River and Nanaimo, plus local schools—Belmont, North Saanich, Claremont, Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Mount View and Victoria High.

Action starts at 10 a.m. with the final scheduled for 4 p.m.

Sovereign For Sale

LONDON (AP)—Sovereign, Britain's defeated America's Cup challenger, is for sale for $66,000.

Paper magnate Anthony Boyden spent more than $100,000 building and developing Sovereign for the challenge, only to see her humiliated by four straight losses to America's Constellation.

United Warms Up At UBC's Expense

Victoria United is alive and kicking with vigor again.

The re-vitalized United drove to a 4-2 Pacific Coast Soccer League victory over University of British Columbia on Remembrance Day in a game that was a great warm-up for another episode, Saturday, in the continuing story of United and Normie McLeod.

McLeod, United's very own nemesis, and his Vancouver Canadian comrades move into Royal Athletic Park Saturday.

For Saturday's contest with Canadians, United will keep the same line-up.

Game time is 2 p.m. at Royal Athletic Park.

The Victoria and District League moves into the semifinals of the McGavin Cup, injured players' competition, Sunday, with the young Oak Bay Marina team getting its toughest test against Canadian Soccer.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bo Belinsky, who seems to spend more of his time in trouble than out of it, was to meet with baseball commissioner Ford Frick today in an attempt to have his current suspension lifted and secure back pay.

The playboy hurler of the Los Angeles Angels, who was suspended for the second time in his career for hitting a Los Angeles sports writer in Washington last Aug. 14, wasn't very optimistic about his chances of succeeding.

Belinsky said prior to his departure from Los Angeles yesterday: "I'm far from optimistic. They'll say I don't deserve any money because I didn't report to Honolulu. However, I didn't get a proper hearing at the time of the incident."

The first time Belinsky was suspended occurred May 30, 1963, when, with a faltering 1-7 record, the Angels sent him to the Pacific Coast League team. At that time, Belinsky refused to go but later packed his bags.

Victoria Fish and Game Club has posted a $50 reward for information leading to the conviction of anyone found doing mischievous damage in fish and game areas.

This hunting season there has been an unprecedented amount of vandalism in areas opened up by timber companies for fish and game and public access and posting of the reward reflects the increasing concern felt by some fish hunters.

While companies which have suffered have not been quick to blame the hunters and are prepared to consider that some of the vandalism, especially that type of vandalism which required a knowledge of logging equipment operation, may have been done by someone with a grudge against the companies concerned, the fact it has happened in access areas reflects upon the access program.

Hunters and fishermen must do all they can to stop the vandalism, or else they may be faced with less hunting and fishing areas. And it must be acknowledged that without the tree farm system and logging company (friendship on Vancouver Island there would be few places to hunt in this area, which is now a veritable sportsman's paradise.

The fine weather is likely to blame, but the deer harvest at Northwest Bay is down this year to 237 deer so far, compared with 367 last year at the same time.

So far this year the Northwest Bay hunter success has been 8.3 per cent, compared to last year's 11.8 per cent at the same time, and 13.2 per cent for the season.

Northwest Bay is a special experimental study area of the provincial game branch and the last three years the 70-square-mile area has given up a harvest of between 600 and 700 deer for a 12 to 13 per cent hunter success.

With a harvest of more than 10 deer a square mile, which is far greater than the full deer population (no harvest) in most of the other better deer areas in North America, game biologists wonder just how long the area can take the increasing pressure. A population of eight deer a square mile is considered excellent in the B.C. interior.

This year biologists plan to start a thorough deer population study in that area, probably B.C.'s most heavily hunted single area.

Meanwhile some rain, wind and snow could make the last few weeks of the hunting season lucrative enough to bring the harvest within reach of other years.

Northwest Bay hunting dropped off Wednesday, with only 14 deer bagged. On last week's antlerless deer season opening weekend Northwest Bay hunters bagged 105 deer for 20 per cent success. Sixty per cent were antlerless.

Deer hunting hasn't yet hit its peak... the rut isn't in full swing yet and weather has been too fine... but last weekend's antlerless season opening saw a marked improvement in all areas.

At Muir Creek last weekend 83 hunters bagged 38 deer, half of them does and fawns. At Gordon River Saturday 59 hunters bagged eight bucks, nine does, three fawns, and on Sunday, 35 hunters, two bucks, one doe, one fawn. At 19 (Robertson) Creek Saturday 40 hunters bagged two bucks, three does, and two fawns, and on Sunday 31 hunters, two bucks, one doe, three fawns.

On Wednesday at 19 Creek 24 hunters bagged three bucks. At Gordon River 59 hunters bagged nine bucks, 10 does and four fawns.

At Cayuse last weekend 227 hunters bagged 27 bucks, 30 does and 12 fawns for 30.4 per cent success. At Copper Canyon, 283 hunters, 23 bucks, 23 does, three fawns, 18.02 per cent. At Nitinat, 89 hunters, four bucks, five does, two fawns, 12.35 per cent. At Great Central Lake, 136 hunters, 29 bucks, 27 does, 24 fawns, 18.94 per cent success.

At Hansen's Lagoon at the northern tip of the Island there were 2,000 Western Canada in their migration flights last week and about 400 new ones were arriving each day. Some of these are already at Tofino.

Big excitement on the fishing front was a 36½-pound spring landed Wednesday in Cole Bay by Ed Eade on Strip-Teaser, 250 feet of wire line and planer.

Otherwise Saanich Inlet is not hot, but there are a few solo about to be taken on fly off Willis Point, a few grise and the odd small spring.

Winter spring fishing has started off Victoria waterfront with some 12 to 15-pounders being picked up. There are a few jacks off Beacon. There are still a few solo at Cowichan Bay and blues have shown an unreasonable appearance there.

Cowichan River is still too low for the best fishing and too low for riverboat fishing at the top end, although some fish are being taken from the banks and near the weir. Rain and lots of it is needed.

Not much time remains for the better trout fishing in lakes.

Switzer Birdie Binge Ends in 'Disaster'

Laurie Kerr, Martin Cave and Frank Kilshaw were the big winners in the annual Remembrance Day tournament at the Uplands Golf Club, but it was Fred Switzer who made the big news.

Out in 44 in the 18-hole handicap competition, Switzer caught a streak and, it is believed, became the first player to birdie the 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th holes in one round. He was still three-under-par for the back nine when the roof fell in on the 15th.

GRUELLING FINISH

Switzer hooked his drive, the ball hitting a tree and coming to rest on the bank of a bunker on the 14th. He tried to go over the tree with a No. 6 iron, instead ended in the middle of them. He chipped out on the fairway, hit a No. 3 iron which left him all but stymied behind a big oak. But he did manage to get on the green with a chip, then three-putted for an eight.

It cost Switzer's chance to be a prize-winner. Cave won the low net with a 64 on a handicap of 11, Kerr won low gross with a 71 and Kilshaw took the Dr. W. G. Wilson Trophy, which goes to the Uplands member with the low net score. He had 75-47, which placed him third in the competition, below Pete Burdell, 79-13-66, and Cave.

FOUR, FIVE, SIX

Al McLeod, Brian Lindsay and Gene Moon had the fourth, fifth and sixth low net scores, respectively, each with 67.

George Murphy (71), Norm Boden (72), Bill McCall (72), Bill Wightman (73) and Gordie Fellow (74) finished in that order behind Kerr in the low gross competition.

Prizes will be presented on Saturday at 8:30 at the Uplands clubhouse.

Smashing Win

Kelso Rules Turfdom

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—Kelso ruled the turf today as American champion for the fifth straight year and one of the great thoroughbreds of all time after his brilliant victory Wednesday in the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International.

Year-end ballots have not been collected and tabulated as yet and Kelso's unprecedented status as "horse of the year" five times in a row is "unofficial."

But so was his victory in the International after he charged across the finish line four and one-half lengths ahead of arch rival Gun Bow. Jockey Walter Blum, who rode Gun Bow, claimed a foul against Kelso and for about 10 anxious minutes there was a chance Kelso might be disqualified.

That would have put him second as he was in 1961, 1962 and 1963. But the stewards declared the race was truly run and Kelso got his justly earned victory.

The enemy forces did not object. Eddie Neely, who trains Gun Bow, said, "John Gabres, Harry Alberts (owners) and myself saw the movies of the race and while Kelso did come over we feel that the stewards were justified in leaving the result as it was."

SHAME TO STOP HIM
Kelso's race was so brilliant that thoughts of retiring him immediately probably have changed.

Owner Mrs. Richard C. Dupont, who set two objectives for Kelso this year at the start of the season, said, "I can't say anything definite about whether he'll run again. I haven't decided. But this will probably be his last year of racing. Yes, this was the most exciting of Kelso's races. You know how much we wanted to win this one."

Mrs. Dupont and trainer Carl Hanford are determined not to keep Kelso in training too long. He is a gelding and thus has no future as a stallion.

"He was tremendous," exclaimed Hanford after the race. "He is in such wonderful condition it would be a shame to stop him now."

The objectives set for Kelso this year were Round Table's money-winning title and victory in the International.

When "Kelly" won the Jockey Club Gold Cup he reached the first goal and the winner's purse of $90,000 in the International now has raised his lifetime earnings to $1,893,362.

For a while this year it looked as though Kelso was through—that age finally had caught up with the seven-year-old. In his first seven races he had won only two overnight purses. Then he won the Aqueduct Handicap, was second by a nose to Gun Bow in the Woodward Stakes, and won the Jockey Club Gold Cup for the fifth time.

Only the International was left and Laurel officials mustered seven other horses from seven countries, including Gun Bow, to run against him in the mile and one-half race.

Kelso responded by running the fastest mile and one-half ever clocked in America — 2:23 4/5.

Mrs. Murphy Sets Record In Jet Car

BONNEVILLE, Utah (AP)—Paula Murphy drove a 19,000 horse-power jet car to an average 226.37 miles an hour Thursday to break her own women's land speed record.

Mrs. Murphy's former record of 161.29 m.p.h. was set last year in a car driven by an internal combustion engine.

The car was built by Walt Arfons, a former world speed record holder and brother of Art Arfons, whose 538.71 m.p.h. is the present world jet-powered land record.

Open Tennis Aired Again

LONDON (UPI)—The All-England Club, organizers of the annual Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships, is ready to propose that the 1965 tournament be "open" to professionals.

But sources said the bid will be thrown out by the British Lawn Tennis Association, to which the proposal will be made. "To all right-thinking people the proposal is a good one, but there is little likelihood that the LTA annual meeting will agree to let Wimbledon defy the world," the source said. "The LTA feels that a Wimbledon break-away would throw the game into complete confusion."

This is the second attempt by the go-ahead Wimbledon committee to stage "open" tournaments. In 1961, when the last proposal was considered, the LTA gave its support. But many LTA members now feel that such a move now would be "inopportune and dangerous."

An LTA official said, if Britain pressed the resolution, it would "in effect be an ultimatum to the international federation, of which we are members."

"That could result in Britain being barred from the Davis Cup and leading players from other countries banned from playing at Wimbledon," he said.

High Stick Kills Tiger In India

NEW DELHI (AP) — A Sikh army engineer, Padam Singh, has gained national fame in India for a new kind of combat with a field hockey stick. He killed a tiger with one.

Reports from Garhwal district, deep in the Himalaya mountains, say the tiger jumped Singh late one evening.

In the fierce fight that followed Singh battered the tiger to death but was severely mauled and taken to hospital.

Big Year

Bunning Comeback Selection

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Bunning, the first big league pitcher in 43 years to pitch a regular-season perfect game, was named the National League's comeback player of the year for 1964 Thursday in the annual Associated Press poll.

The 33-year-old Philadelphia right hander polled 49 votes in the balloting by 81 baseball writers. Vernon Law of Pittsburgh was second with seven votes followed by Larry Jackson of Chicago Cubs with six.

Bunning, who won 12 games and lost 13 with Detroit in 1963, compiled a 19-4 record last season. His .704 winning percentage was the fourth highest in the circuit and his total of 213 strikeouts the fifth highest. He also had a 2.63 earned run average, the lowest in his eight years in the majors.

Gold Cup In Seattle Next Year

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle Times said Wednesday the 1965 gold cup race for unlimited hydroplanes has been awarded to Seattle on its bid of $50,150.

The Unlimited Racing Commission made the award at a meeting in Rochester, N.Y.

Detroit was high bidder with an offer of $51,000, said the Times, but Seattle was given the event because it is the home of defending champion Miss Bardahl. The race has been in Detroit the past two years.

Three other bids considered were $50,000 from Lake Tahoe, Nev.; $26,000 from Madison, Ind.; and $25,000 from Gunterville, Ala.

Snell Cracks 1,000 Record

AUCKLAND (AP)—Peter Snell of New Zealand, Olympic medalist in the Tokyo Games in the 800 and 1,500 metres, lowered the world record for the 1,000 metres by one-tenth of a second Thursday with a time of two minutes, 16.6 seconds.

The previous record, held by Siegfried Valentin of Germany, was 2:16.7.

Ring Sees Chuvale Sixth

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian, the No. 1 heavyweight contender, George Chuvale, who stopped Doug Jones of New York in the 11th round last month, was promoted from ninth place, Jones, who was the leading contender not too long ago, was dropped from fifth to ninth.

LONDON (Reuters) — It was an active week for buyers in top-flight British soccer.

Sunderland, third-last among the 22 clubs in the English League's First Division, has shelled out $2,000 ($186,000) for two players from Scotland.

Glasgow Rangers, languishing in eighth place among the 17 First Division teams in the Scottish League, entered the transfer market to purchase Icelandic inside forward Thoralf Beck from St. Mirren's.

The Sunderland club paid a Scottish First Division club, Hibernian, £36,000 for Irish full-back John Parke. Then Harry Hood, Clyde's inside forward, joined Sunderland at a price of £26,000.

Sunderland won promotion back to the First Division last season after being relegated in 1957-58.

O.C. Soccer

LONDON (Reuters) — Results of soccer matches Wednesday: INTER-CITY FAIR CUP. Second Round, First Leg. Kilmarnock 2, Everton 2. Everton 1, Arsenal 1. Manchester United 1, Birmingham City 1. Fourth Round. Crystal Palace 1, Leicester City 1. Leicester City away to Coventry City. Plymouth 2, Stoke 1. (Plymouth at home in Northampton). JOHN WHITE MEMORIAL CUP. Second Round. Tottenham 2, Bolton 0. (Tottenham at home). GOLD CUP. First Round. Glasgow 2, Derby City 2.

Hood, a promising 26-year-old who is equally effective as centre forward, had been sought by two other clubs within the last week. First, transfer talks with the Scottish club Celtic broke down, and then Stoke City failed to sign him.

Parke is a member of the Northern Ireland team that meets Switzerland in a World Cup qualifying match Saturday, and reports at Sunderland after the game.

COCK OF WALK

Glasgow Rangers, cock of the walk for so many years in Scottish soccer, signed Beck in an attempt to boost the effectiveness of their attack.

Beck, who cost them in the region of £20,000, is the second Icelandic to play for Rangers. The other was right-winger Albert Gudmundsson, who appeared with Rangers just after the Second World War and then joined Arsenal.

Beck signed for St. Mirren from Reykjavik three years ago and has made several appearances for the Iceland international team.

TOP PRIZE

Hull City paid the top price of the week Thursday by going to $60,000, an English third-division record, for Ken Wagstaff, 21-year-old Mansfield Town centre-forward. Hull beat a number of English first-division clubs to get Wagstaff, who was the country's leading scorer with 41 goals in the 1952-53 season when Mansfield won promotion to the third division.

Battle Galant, Victoria

An in-form Wagstaff should help Hull make certain of victory over non-league Kidderminster in Saturday's first round of the Football Association cup.

BIG ONE

In the English first division, interest will be centred on two clashes: First-place Manchester United at Blackpool, and second-place Chelsea at home to Everton.

United slammed Borussia Dortmund 6-1 in the Inter-Cities Fairs Cup in West Germany Wednesday but is likely to find Blackpool, a tougher proposition.

Chelsea, a point behind United in the standings, won through to the quarter-finals of the Football League Wednesday by downing Swansea 3-2.

Title Fight On Dec. 14

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joey Giardello, world middleweight champion, and Rubin (Hurricane) Carter, the No. 2 challenger, signed Thursday for a title fight in Philadelphia Dec. 14.

Carter will get a guarantee of $12,500 and Giardello will get 60 per cent of the live gate after taxes.

Nuclear Sub's Visit

Free Quebec At Hand!

PARIS (UPI)—It is no longer a question of whether Quebec will become an independent French state, but rather "when and how this state will take shape," the Paris morning right-wing daily, L'Aurore, said today. (See also Page 11.)

"This is almost a certainty two centuries after the loss of Canada by France in 1763 and its occupation by the British; almost a century after the establishment of the Canadian Federation in 1867, the emancipation of the French Canadians seems near," said the paper.

N-Subs For France

PARIS (CP-Reuters) — The French government announced a $16,000,000 five-year draft military program Thursday that will include a submarine force manned with nuclear weapons.

The submarines would give France a two-pronged nuclear striking force. Sixty-two Mirage IV bombers capable of carrying nuclear bombs already have been ordered for the air force.

FIRST BY 1970

The first missile submarine is expected to be operational by 1970.

The draft also said the overall plan sees a land manoeuvre force of six divisions "which can be engaged" within or outside NATO.

It also calls for the end of compulsory military service.

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—Sailors from the U.S. nuclear submarine Sandragon went ashore in this port today and riot police were on alert for any new outbreak by leftists.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union said the submarine's visit could affect relations with Japan.

No incidents were reported as most of the 108-man crew went sight-seeing. Thursday after the submarine docked, small bands roared through the streets shouting in English: "Yankee Go Home" and "Go Home, Devil!"

Leftist leaders had promised a turnout of upward of 15,000 demonstrators to protest the visit of the Sandragon to Sasebo. But only 2,000 showed up.

The only skirmish occurred when police tangled with about 200 leftist students, who tried to stage a sit-down on a four-lane road leading to the U.S. naval base in Sasebo.

Moscow radio charged the Sandragon's visit was made "in accordance with U.S. imperialist policy to make Japan the strategic point of aggression in the Far East."

Police and U.S. officials believed socialists and Communists will continue periodic demonstrations until Saturday, when the submarine is scheduled to leave.

Redistribution Barrier Cleared by Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the two ticklish barriers to parliamentary passage of the government's redistribution bill was overcome Thursday night with approval of a compromise solution suggested by Transport Minister Pickersgill.

In a standing vote of 22 to 11, the House approved that the Speaker of the Commons be made responsible for naming two persons from each of the 10 provinces to retake constituency boundaries. Other members would be a chairman named by the provincial chief justices and federal representation commissioner Nelson Cassin, who would be a member of all ten commissions.

LIBERAL OPPOSES

One Liberal, Pauline Jewett (Northumberland), joined with NDP and Creditiste members in opposing the measure.

An amendment which would have instructed the Speaker to make his choice of commissioners from such officials as pro-

SECOND AMENDMENT

Another amendment by Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) would have made all three provincial appointments the choice of the provincial chief justices.

That amendment was defeated 80 to 22, with nine Liberals—again including Miss Jewett—siding with the NDP and Social Credit MPs against a majority of Liberals and all Conservatives.

SECOND CLAUSE

The House then moved to the next contentious clause which would determine the tolerance to be allowed in population between city and rural ridings.

The House started consideration of the bill last April.

The issue of the population difference level also appeared to be well on the way toward settlement when the House adjourned for the night. Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) had moved an amendment raising the tolerance figure to 25 per cent from 20, and Mr. Pickersgill indicated he would support this. He said the change would make little practical difference.

Mid-Pacific Nose Dive

Jetliner Falls Miles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board has disclosed that a Pan American World Airways jet with 102 persons aboard fell more than two miles in an unexplained dive

Tuesday night before the pilots brought it under control.

The Boeing 707 was flying from Honolulu to Los Angeles when the incident occurred about 200 miles southwest of Los Angeles. It landed about 50 minutes later with no injuries reported.

The CAB said in a preliminary report that the weather was clear and smooth. According to the CAB's bureau of safety, the jet was cruising at 37,000 feet and suddenly began a dive while the crew was completing a checklist prior to the normal approach descent. The aircraft fell nose down in a few seconds to just under 25,000 feet before the pilots levelled it out.

The CAB said the only effects on the passengers were several cases of airsickness. It said the seat belt signs were not on at the time of the dive.

The plane's flight recorder was engaged and the automatic "altitude holder" also was in use when the unexpected plunge occurred. The board also said the crew reported loss of electrical power, but cautioned that it was not known whether this caused or contributed to the dive.

Berlin Wall Snaps Shut With Threat

BERLIN (CP)—The wall dividing this city was closed again Thursday night and the East German regime has threatened not to reopen it for Christmas.

The Communist threat resulted from anger at the fact that East German marks can be bought in West Berlin at an exchange rate lower than the one set by the East German regime.

'Dramatic' Increase

Missile Gap Grows —In Favor of U.S.

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's Institute for Strategic Studies today reported a "dramatic" increase in U.S. strategic superiority over the Soviet Union. It said U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles outnumber Russia's nearly 5 to 1.

The institute, a private organization supported in part by the Ford Foundation, gets close co-operation from Western defence officials. Its annual estimates of the East-West military balance are considered highly authoritative.

The report said the United States will have 525 ICBMs by early next year, compared with about 200 for the Soviet Union. Last year, its estimate of the ratio was 475 to 100.

A larger relative increase was shown by naval ballistic missiles, which include the U.S. Polaris and its less-advanced Soviet counterpart. The study said American superiority increased from last year's 2 to 1 to 4 to 1 this year.

The institute said Communist China's nuclear explosion last month did not alter the fact of its overall military weakness. But it did show that Chinese nuclear technology apparently was considerably more advanced than had been assumed.

The next year may be the last in which Western superiority in ICBMs is so marked, according to the report. The U.S. Continued on Page 3

Industry Helps, But Car Biggest Pollution Hazard

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. H. Sinclair, president of the B.C. Air Pollution Society, suggested Thursday the provincial government should pass legislation making it compulsory for all cars to be equipped with an "anti-fume device."

"Industry still helps to pollute the air, but the car is now the biggest hazard," he said.

UN Debt Dispute

Thant Won't Postpone Pledging Conference

REBUKE TO U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary-General Thant, in what was interpreted by some diplomats as a rebuke to the United States, has refused to postpone a pledging conference for United Nations assistance funds scheduled Monday.

The Soviet Union and France were reported to have opposed postponement. They are principal debtors in the financial crisis that threatens a showdown over depriving the Soviet and other delinquents of their votes at the Dec. 1 opening of the general assembly.

The United States announced last week that it would not make its customary annual pledge at the conference for the expanded program of technical assistance and the special fund for investment projects in underdeveloped countries.

The U.S. usually pledges up to 40 per cent of the funds available on a basis of matching contributions from other countries. This contribution has averaged more than $50,000,000 yearly.

The U.S. action was regarded as a warning that it would pay no more than its legal share of the regular UN budget unless the Soviet and seven other delinquents made payments on their arrears.

BOLIVIA PAYS
(France does not become subject to loss of its assembly vote until 1965. Bolivia has paid $37,609, removing it from the list of countries whose votes are jeopardized before Jan. 1.)

Ambassadors of Canada, Italy and Japan formally requested postponement for three weeks.

CONSENSUS SEEN
Representing their position as a consensus of other delegates with whom they had talked, the three diplomats argued that since the assembly had been postponed for three weeks to afford time to reach agreement on averting a showdown on the financial crisis, a similar postponement should be ordered for the pledging conference.

FOUR HOURS
Less than four hours after he received the request, Thant's office announced Thursday that "after consulting the pros and cons, the secretary general has informed the representatives that it would be extremely difficult to postpone the meeting."

FIRE DESTROYS
Hess Goal
HAMILTON, Scotland (UPI)—Dunfermline House, the Scottish stately home that Adolf Hitler's deputy, Rudolph Hess, was trying to reach when he made a dramatic flight from Germany during the Second World War, was destroyed Thursday by fire.

The 70-room mansion near here once was owned by the Duke of Hamilton, but was sold to the National Coal Board and used as a school for training young miners.

Island Inquest Driver Picked, Blamed

By KLAUS MUESTER

DUNCAN — A coroner's jury Thursday night decided the passenger died in a car crash Oct. 31, then blamed his death on the "negligence" of the driver. Gilbert Ross of Cowichan Bay, testifying under the Canada Evidence Act, admitted drinking before the on-car accident on Tsohualem Road which killed Rennie Wilson, 37, a Tsohualem Road resident. But he said he could not remember who was driving.

FINNED UNDERNEATH
Two young men who heard the crash said Wilson was pinned under the car on the passenger side and Sam was lying on top of him. Police said Sam left before they arrived.

The jury ruled Wilson was the passenger and said it was "unlikely" there were more than two people in the car.

The jury added it felt the driver was intoxicated and could not control the vehicle and noted "he further failed to remain at the scene."

The car went out of control and hit a telephone pole.

Miss World

Talent Not Enough

Canada's Miss Misses

LONDON (UPI)—Miss United Kingdom, 20-year-old hairdresser Ann Sidney, was named Miss World 1964 in a contest with 41 other beauties from many nations Thursday night.

After the contest, the 36-24-36 beauty said "My aim is to see as many countries as possible and help to increase international friendship. I would like to go into films."

One of the most talented contestants, though not among the finalists, was a Miss Canada (not the recently-crowned one), 24-year-old Mary Farrell of Ontario. The 36-24-36 brunette model hopes to be a singer of semi-classical songs. One of eight children, she says she entered the contest to promote Canada.

Prince Charles May Testify in High Court

Essay Book Ownership Fought Over

By EDWIN BOTE
Cokeist
European Correspondent

LONDON — Wearing a white wig and scarlet robes, a British High Court judge will have to decide about the school essays of 16-year-old Prince Charles, heir to the British throne. One of the most amusing and interesting trials in British legal history will determine how Prince Charles' school essay book left his possession—and exactly who owns its copyright.

Prince Charles himself may be subpoenaed as a witness.

In September, Prince Charles' essay book disappeared from Gordonstoun School in Scotland, where he is being educated because his father, Prince Philip, was educated there. The book contains several hand-written school essays—each 500 to 1,000 words long—about the British monarchy, the British political system, and the British press. Perhaps the most interesting is an essay about Britain's unique social class distinctions.

A few days ago, the 30-year-old British freelance journalist Terence Smith, owner of the Mercury Press Agency in the provincial town St. Helens, called a sensational press conference. He disclosed that he was hauling the Commissioner of Scotland Yard (London's police chief) Sir Joseph Simpson and Detective-Superintendent Cyril Gold of Scotland Yard's Special Branch before the High Court to demand the return of "goods wrongly taken" and damages.

The "goods wrongly taken" is Prince Charles' essay book. Of course it is no longer in Scotland. Continued on Page 3

Boer War Veterans March

Special to the Colonist
Two Boer War veterans marched in one of the many parades before Remembrance Day services held under clear skies throughout Vancouver Island.

South African veterans Robert Strouts and Monty Pocock, both of Qualicum Beach, took part in the parade to the Qualicum Beach cenotaph — along with other veterans, Scouts, Cubs and Qualicum College cadets.

Rev. William Hills, padre of the Legion's Qualicum Beach branch, conducted the joint service of the Qualicum and Boer War branches. Parade marshal was John Naylor.

the remembrance cairn at Sandwick.

The Canadian Scottish pipe band played at the Cumberland service, at the peace arch in front of the Legion hall, then gave several programs in the district later in the day, including one at RCAF Station Comox.

Dozens of wreaths were laid at the Dallas Square cenotaph in Nanaimo after a

Groups as widely varied as Mac-Powell and the IWA placed wreaths in the Alberni ceremony.

A pilgrimage to the field of honor in Tofino cemetery to decorate the graves of war dead followed a service conducted by Rev. J. W. Leighton, padre of the district Legion branch, in the Tofino Legion hall.

Hit-Run Drivers Sought

Vancouver Island RCMP detachments are on the lookout for two hit-and-run drivers following a pair of Remembrance Day accidents.

Susan Jagers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jagers of Cowichan Lake Road, suffered a broken arm when hit while walking on the road near the E & N overpass about 6 p.m. Wednesday. She is in satisfactory condition in hospital.

Leslie Garner, 31, of 607 Sixth Avenue North in Port Alberni, suffered a compound right leg fracture about the same time when hit by a car as he crossed Burde Street.

DUNCAN—Mark Dolman, 10, of Crofton, received treatment at King's Daughters' Hospital Tuesday night for arm injuries suffered when struck by a car driven on Canada Avenue by Ernest Myhr of Duncan. Police said the boy ran into the car's right front fender.

PORT ALBERNI—The committee formed here earlier this year to plan Vancouver Island's first Indian friendship centre has announced its first function—a mid-December party which will feature "fun and friendship." Locale of the party has not been announced. A group of native people from the town community have been invited to a meeting Nov. 14 to plan the affair.

DUNCAN—B.C. Forest Products' Crofton employee Lyle Reid has joined Ald. Robert Mason in the race for two city council seats at the annual elections next month. Mr. Reid has lived in Duncan for 26 years and is active in community affairs. Ald. James Saunders has not yet stated whether he will run again.

WELLINGTON—Citizens of this Nanaimo-area community have elected a 1967 centennial committee and begun to discuss possible projects. Members are Mrs. Ada Howden, chairman; Mrs. Robert Golob, secretary; and S. S. Storey, Richard Baugh, Allen, Bevan Savory, John Curtis, Rev. T. K. Palmer and Isabelle Hickman. First ideas as possible projects were an area park and an addition to the community hall.

CROFTON—Highways Minister Gagliardi has promised to investigate the request of a three-man delegation to Victoria which sought re-routing of the Crofton Road in 1965. The three were North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton, John King of the Chambers-Crofton Chamber of Commerce, and Ed Alexander of the Crofton Ratepayers' Association.

Hospital's Fate: Demolition

NANAIMO—The old Nanaimo hospital, boarded up for almost three years, will be demolished.

Nanaimo Regional General Hospital Society voted 27-10 Thursday night to accept a $14,135 demolition bid from Merchants Carriage Ltd. of Vancouver. A Vancouver firm which had planned an apartment recently withdrew a $36,000 bid to buy the old hospital.

Bridge Crash

Driver Partly To Blame

NANAIMO—A 21-year-old Nanaimo Vocational Training School student was partly to blame for his death in a car crash near Ladysmith Oct. 7, a coroner's jury decided Thursday night.

The jury said David James Buchanan, 21, died in an accident which resulted "because of excessive speed and limited visibility due to weather and wet road conditions."

The inquest jury also said "alcohol was an influencing factor" and noted seat belts were available but were not used. A pathologist said use of belts might have reduced the effect of injuries.

The car hit an abutment on the Diamond Bridge. Passenger Richard Telford, also 21 and a VTS student, was severely injured.

Underground Wiring Everywhere?

CAMPBELL RIVER—The B.C. Telephone Co. has suggested that it take a year to study the possibility of putting all phone wires in the area underground.

The proposal was mentioned in a phone company plan to place 2,150 feet of lines underground on Alder Street from St. Ann's Road to 7th Avenue. Six poles will be removed, with the city doing the digging.

The plan was unveiled before this week's village council meeting and approved by council. Member Isobel Sandberg said underground wiring should be encouraged as much as possible.

TWO RUN AGAIN Village clerk Shelley Knowles was appointed returning officer for the village election Dec. 10. Arthur Clinton and Peter Lauren have announced they will stand for re-election.

Council decided to dispense with the usual stewardship meeting on the grounds such meetings are poorly attended. Instead, a written report will be given to the press.

Grade 8 Problem Studied

CAMPBELL RIVER—The Campbell River district school board has promised "full and early consideration" of a long list of grievances presented by parents on behalf of Grade 8 students taking classes in the community hall.

The promise was made at a meeting this week during which the board also acted to replace two old school buses.

CUT OFF

The parents said their children's most serious complaint seemed to be the feeling of being cut off from the high school extracurricular activities.

The pupils also said they are not allowed out of the community hall for recreation during the lunch hour because the hall is downtown.

The parents said their children are being deprived of the full benefits offered at the regular high school, with a corresponding loss of high school spirit.

REAL PROBLEM

School board officials, in promising consideration, pointed out a supply of sufficient classrooms is a "very real problem" in an expanding economy such as that of the Campbell River district.

Estimates of pupil needs sent to the provincial education department must be on the basis of the present pupil population. The trustees said this does not allow for sudden expansion of industry, where many families move into new jobs.

TWO YEARS AWAY

They said the new senior secondary school will take two years to complete but some classrooms will be ready for use in September of 1966.

The board acted on the bus problem after an RCMP mechanical inspector reported that two recent incidents involving the Quadra bus were coincidence and showed no faulty workmanship.

QUICK ACTION

First, the rear axle came loose as the bus was returning empty. The broken nut was replaced only to have the same incident repeated when the bus was loaded. Quick action by the driver prevented an accident.

The inspector blamed the trouble on metal fatigue and recommended replacement of the 12-year-old bus next June, along with replacement "as soon as possible" of a 14-year-old bus.

NEW BUS NOW

The trustees decided to buy a 35-passenger bus immediately and a 67-passenger vehicle next June, while putting a newer model on the Quadra run.

The board voted to contribute $1,000 to the present UBC study on the need for a junior college in northern Vancouver Island.

NO REFERENDUM

Trustees also learned a new referendum is not needed at present, as scheduled building is covered by the referendum passed by voters in April, 1963.

It was also announced the new Rockland school is to be ready for use Nov. 30.

Saanich Woman Wins Award

Quiet Students Picket Comox

COMOX—Four University of B.C. students, members of the UBC Nuclear Disarmament Movement, spent 24 solid hours picketing the main gate of RCAF Station Comox on the Remembrance Day Holiday.

The picketing was so quiet that many people on the base were not even aware it was taking place.

Randy Enomoto told reporters that Dick Woodworth, Dennis Newman, Scott Lawrence and himself had come from Vancouver to take turns on a 24-hour picket, protesting nuclear arms. They sent a letter to the commanding officer of the station, Group Captain E. G. Ireland.

Station public information officers confirmed Thursday a letter was given to the commanding officer sometime after his official wreath-laying duties at the cenotaph were completed.

They said the letter stated the pickets in no way intended to interfere with the base, but were presenting a moral objection to nuclear arms.

The four young men are members of a club of 60

Cowichan Answers The Bronx

DUNCAN — The letter from far away wasn't addressed to anyone in particular, but someone in a post office somewhere decided it should go to Art Stevenson, secretary of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

When he opened his mail Thursday morning, he found the following letter:

"Dear Trans-Canada Highway, please may I have some highway maps of Vancouver Island. I would like to have list of interesting places."

It was from a little girl in the Bronx, New York, who apparently needs the information for her schoolwork.

Mr. Stevenson will send immediately—again and other items which will tell the girl all anyone could know about the Cowichan Valley.

Argument Ends with Bang

Shotgun Blast in Home Floor Brings $50 Fine at Duncan

DUNCAN — Radrick Fredericks of Wellington, who ended a recent argument with a bang, was fined $50 in magistrate's court Tuesday after pleading guilty to discharging a firearm in a dwelling house.

Magistrate D. K. McAdam was told the argument occurred Oct. 17 in the home of A. A. Burrell on Roome Road.

During the argument, Fredericks said, he picked up a shotgun in a corner and said to Mr. Burrell, "That's a pretty big gun for a little guy like you."

The gun, pointed at the floor, went off but Fredericks said he thought it wasn't loaded.

"You could have shot him," the magistrate said.

"I was just making sure he didn't shoot me," Fredericks replied.

HIGHWAY DRINKING

Magistrate McAdam also said, after fining David A. Verge of Victoria $50 for public liquor consumption: "Of all places, you had to sit on the highway and drink beer."

He was checked by police at a Mill Bay restaurant's parking lot.

Defence counsel for N. B. Lindal of Duncan, who pleaded guilty to impaired driving, told the court Lindal was taking an anti-depressant.

The magistrate fined Lindal $25 and suspended his driving licence for three months, adding Lindal should have been advised to abstain from alcohol while taking the medicine.

MEN FINED

Wilhelm J. Grothe of Cobble Hill was fined $100 for being in care and control of a car while impaired, and D. G. McDougall of Duncan was fined $42 for careless driving.

Snow, Cold
In Calgary

CALGARY (UPI)—Warm winter clothing and blankets for spectators should be the order of the day, as the B.C. Lions tackle the Calgary Stampeders in the first game of the Western Conference finals here Saturday afternoon.

The latest Dominion Public Weather Bureau long range forecast (4 p.m. MST) calls for snow Friday afternoon or evening. This will be followed by gradually dipping temperatures and cloudy weather by game time Saturday.

A spokesman for the weather office predicted temperatures would range from 20 to 30 degrees by the time the teams take the field.

Blowers will be used to keep the McMahon Stadium gridiron clear if the predicted snowfall materializes.

Previous forecasts had called for a slight chance of snow and a temperature of 35 degrees.

Every Seat Sold

CALGARY (CP)—Pat Mahoney, Calgary Stampeders' team manager, said Wednesday all tickets for the Saturday afternoon Western Football Conference game between Stampeders and B.C. Lions had been sold.

Mahoney said standing room will go on sale prior to the game Saturday afternoon.

Fred Hutchinson
Dead of Cancer

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Fred Hutchinson, former manager of Cincinnati Reds who was harder on his office furniture than his players, died in hospital Thursday of chest cancer.

With his health failing fast, he had stepped down Oct. 19 as manager of the Reds. The job went to Dick Slater, who became acting manager when Hutchinson went on sick leave Aug. 13.

Hutchinson, baseball's Manager of the Year in 1957 for his second place finish with St. Louis Cardinals and again in 1961 for a pennant winner at Cincinnati, felt the first pain of his illness last Christmas.

Hospital tests confirmed the presence of a malignant tumor, but he continued to direct the Reds until illness forced him to quit.

He left the club in August to enter hospital in Cincinnati and never returned to his job.

Hutchinson, a native of Seattle, won 23 games for Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in his first year as a pitcher.

His best pitcher years at Detroit were 1949, when he was 15-7, and 1950, when he was 17-8.

After taking over the Reds management, Slater called Hutchinson in Florida to tell him that he hated the condition under which he got the job.

"Don't worry about that," Hutchinson replied. "Just give 'em hell."

Sale Would Bring...

Racquet Club May Move, Expand

Victoria district's first family club is in the wind, and could be ready for operation by this time next year. If present plans materialize it will be provided by the relocation of the Racquet Club of Victoria with extended and improved facilities.

Now located on property off Foul Bay Road near Fort Street, the Racquet Club is currently negotiating the sale of its property there to Canada Safeway Ltd. with the hope of completely relocating in another, and equally central, area.

If negotiations for the sale of the present premises are successfully concluded and approved by the membership which will likely vote on the matter some time next month, plans will go ahead immediately for the construction of new and improved facilities on the new site for tennis, badminton, squash racquets and swimming.

Queried last night, a club official said the tentative plans call for at least the nine grass tennis courts now available at the present site and a doubling of the number of hard courts from three to six.

It was also possible, he said, that lighting would be provided for night-time tennis play and that, perhaps, construction would include an indoor tennis court.

Of major importance in relocation plans are the provision of facilities for squash racquets, a game that has steadily gained so many new devotees that the two courts now available in the area are no longer enough to meet the demand. At least three squash courts are embodied in present plans for relocation.

A swimming pool and a multi-purpose badminton hall, which could also serve as a gymnasium and be available for other events, are also incorporated in plans. And there would be improved facilities for the social amenities so necessary to a club of this type.

Parents Help

VANCOUVER (CP)—Adults who don't turn out at sporting events to cheer on their youngsters were criticised here Thursday by B.C. Lieutenant-Governor George R. Fearkes.

The lieutenant-governor said there are some fine athletes in the province "but while attending events throughout the province, I have sometimes felt they have not received encouragement from parents and adults."

He told a group attending the opening of a businessmen's health club at Central YMCA that the number of adults who turned out was "very few."

Drive

VANCOUVER (CP)—Directors of the Vancouver Mounties baseball club are preparing a ticket drive to raise $70,000 and get a team back into professional baseball.

Club president Nat Bailey announced Wednesday that a business manager to direct the campaign will be hired, probably within a week, and that a meeting of 2,700 shareholders will be called soon.

The action follows an offer that would allow Mounties back into the Pacific Coast Baseball League, providing Vancouver shows it is willing to pay for Triple-A ball.

Fouts Beats
Impaired
Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A charge of impaired driving against Dick Fouts, defensive end of British Columbia Lions, was dismissed in magistrate's court Thursday.

Fouts was defended by Allan McEachern, president of the Western Football Conference to which the Lions belong.

Police testified that Fouts was stopped early on Sept. 17. They smelled liquor on his breath and his speech was "heavy."

Mr. McEachern told the court he saw the accused in city jail 30 minutes after he was charged and he was acting in a normal manner.

Kelso Rules Turfdom

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—Kelso ruled the turf today as American champion for the fifth straight year and one of the great thoroughbreds of all time after his brilliant victory Wednesday in the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International.

Year-end ballots have not been collected and tabulated as yet and Kelso's unprecedented status as "horse of the year" five times in a row is "unofficial."

But so was his victory in the International after he charged across the finish line four and one-half lengths ahead of arch rival Gun Bow, Jockey Walter Blum, who rode Gun Bow, claimed a foul against Kelso and for about 10 anxious minutes there was a chance Kelso might be disqualified.

That would have put him second as he was in 1961, 1962 and 1963. But the stewards declared the race was truly run and Kelso got his justly earned victory.

The enemy forces did not object. Eddie Neely, who trains Gun Bow, said, "John Gaines, Harry Alberts (owners) and myself saw the movies of the race and while Kelso did come over we feel that the stewards were justified in leaving the result as it was."

SHAME TO STOP HIM
Kelso's race was so brilliant that thoughts of retiring him immediately probably have changed.

Owner Mrs. Richard C. Dupont, who set two objectives for Kelso this year at the start of the season, said, "I can't say anything definite about whether he'll run again. I haven't decided. But this will probably be his last year of racing. Yes, this was the most exciting of Kelso's races. You know how much we wanted to win this one."

Mrs. Dupont and trainer Carl Hanford are determined not to keep Kelso in training too long. He is a gelding and thus has no future as a stallion.

"He was tremendous," exclaimed Hanford after the race. "He is in such wonderful condition it would be a shame to stop him now."

The objectives set for Kelso this year were Round Table's money-winning title and victory in the International.

When "Kelly" won the Jockey Club Gold Cup he reached the first goal and the winner's purse of $80,000 in the International now has raised his lifetime earnings to $1,893,362.

For a while this year it looked as though Kelso was through—that age finally had caught up with the seven-year-old. In his first seven races he had won only two overnight purses. Then he won the Aqueduct Handicap, was second by a nose to Gun Bow in the Woodward Stakes, and won the Jockey Club Gold Cup for the fifth time.

Only the International was left and Laurel officials mustered seven other horses from seven countries, including Gun Bow, to run against him in the mile and one-half race.

Kelso responded by running the fastest mile and one-half ever clocked in America — 2:23 4/5.

Mrs. Murphy Sets Record In Jet Car

BONNEVILLE, Utah (AP)—Paula Murphy drove a 10,000-horse-power jet car to an average 236.37 miles an hour Thursday to break her own women's land speed record.

Mrs. Murphy's former record of 161.29 m.p.h. was set last year in a car driven by an internal combustion engine.

The car was built by Walt Arfons, a former world speed record holder and brother of Art Arfons, whose 536.71 m.p.h. is the present world jet-powered land record.

Three in Row For Edmonton

LONDON (UPI) — The All-England Club, organizers of the annual Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships, is ready to propose that the 1965 tournament be "open" to professionals.

But sources said the bid will be thrown out by the British Lawn Tennis Association, to which the proposal will be made. "To all right-thinking people the proposal is a good one, but there is little likelihood that the LTA annual meeting will agree to let Wimbledon defy the world," the source said. "The LTA feels that a Wimbledon break-away would throw the game into complete confusion."

This is the second attempt by the go-ahead Wimbledon committee to stage "open" tournaments. In 1961, when the last proposal was considered, the LTA gave its support. But many LTA members now feel that such a move now would be "inopportune and dangerous."

An LTA official said, if Britain pressed the resolution, it would "in effect be an ultimatum to the international federation, of which we are members."

"That could result in Britain being barred from the Davis Cup and leading players from other countries banned from playing at Wimbledon," he said.

Nuclear Sub's Visit

Free Quebec At Hand!

PARIS (UPI)—It is no longer a question of whether Quebec will become an independent French state, but rather "when and how this state will take shape," the Paris morning right-wing daily, L'Aurore, said today. (See also Page 21.)

"This is almost a certainty two centuries after the loss of Canada by France in 1763 and its occupation by the British; almost a century after the establishment of the Canadian Federation in 1867, the emancipation of the French Canadians seems near," said the paper.

N-Subs For France

PARIS (CP-Reuters) — The French government announced a $16,000,000 five-year draft military program Thursday that will include a submarine force manned with nuclear weapons.

The submarines would give France a two-pronged nuclear striking force. Sixty-two Mirage IV bombers capable of carrying nuclear bombs already have been ordered for the air force.

FIRST BY 1970

The first missile submarine is expected to be operational by 1970.

The draft also said the overall plan sees a land manoeuvre force of six divisions "which can be engaged" within or outside NATO.

It also calls for the end of compulsory military service.

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—Sailors from the U.S. nuclear submarine Seadragon went ashore in this port today and riot police were on alert for any new outbreak by leftists.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union said the submarine's visit could affect relations with Japan.

No incidents were reported as most of the 108-man crew went sight-seeing. Thursday after the submarine docked, small bands raced through the streets shouting in English Yankee Go Home and Go Home, Devil!

Leftist leaders had promised a turnout of upward of 15,000 demonstrators to protest the visit of the Seadragon to Sasebo. But only 2,000 showed up.

The only skirmish occurred when police tangled with about 200 leftist students, who tried to stage a sit-down on a four-lane road leading to the U.S. naval base in Sasebo.

Moscow radio charged the Seadragon's visit was made "in accordance with U.S. imperialist policy to make Japan the strategic point of aggression in the Far East."

Redistribution Barrier Cleared by Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the two ticklish barriers to parliamentary passage of the government's redistribution bill was overcome Thursday night with approval of a compromise solution suggested by Transport Minister Pickersgill.

In a standing vote of 22 to 11, the House approved that the Speaker of the Commons be made responsible for naming two persons from each of the 10 provinces to remake constituency boundaries. Other members would be a chairman named by the provincial chief justices and federal representation commissioner Nelson Castonguay, who would be a member of all 10 commissions.

LIBERAL OPPOSES

One Liberal, Pauline Jewett (Northumberland), joined with NDP and Creditiste members in opposing the measure.

An amendment which would have instructed the Speaker to make his choice of commissioners from such officials as provincial chief electoral officers, surveyors - general and chiefs of vital statistics was defeated 84 to 30.

Another amendment by Stanley Knowles (NDP - Winnipeg North Centre) would have made all three provincial appointees the choice of the provincial chief justices.

That amendment was defeated 80 to 22, with nine Liberals - again including Miss Jewett - siding with the NDP and Social Credit MPs against a majority of Liberals and all Conservatives.

SECOND CLAUSE

The House then moved to the next contentious clause which would determine the tolerance to be allowed in population between city and rural ridings.

The issue of the population difference level also appeared to be well on the way toward settlement when the House adjourned for the night. Eldon Wooliams (PC - Bow River) had moved an amendment raising the tolerance figure to 25 per cent from 20, and Mr. Pickersgill indicated he would support this. He said the change would make little practical difference.

'Dramatic' Increase

Missile Gap Grows —In Favor of U.S.

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's Institute for Strategic Studies today reported a "dramatic" increase in U.S. strategic superiority over the Soviet Union. It said U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles outnumber Russia's nearly 5 to 1.

The institute, a private organization supported in part by the Ford Foundation, gets close co-operation from Western defence officials. Its annual estimates of the East-West military balance are considered highly authoritative.

The report said the United States will have 215 ICBMs by early next year, compared with about 200 for the Soviet Union. Last year, its estimate of the ratio was 475 to 100.

A larger relative increase was shown by naval ballistic missiles, which include the U.S. Polaris and its less-advanced Soviet counterpart. The study said American superiority increased from last year's 2 to 1 to 4 to 1 this year.

The institute said Communist China's nuclear explosion last month did not alter the fact of its overall military weakness. But it did show that Chinese nuclear technology apparently was considerably more advanced than had been assumed.

The next year may be the last in which Western superiority in ICBMs is so marked, according to the report. The U.S. Continued on Page 2

Jetliner Falls Miles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board has disclosed that a Pan American World Airways jet with 102 persons aboard fell more than two miles in an unexplained dive Tuesday night before the pilots brought it under control.

The Boeing 707 was flying from Honolulu to Los Angeles when the incident occurred about 200 miles southwest of Los Angeles. It landed about 50 minutes later with no injuries reported.

The CAB said in a preliminary report that the weather was clear and smooth. According to the CAB's bureau of safety, the jet was cruising at 37,000 feet and suddenly began a dive while the crew was completing a checklist prior to the normal approach descent. The aircraft fell nose down in a few seconds to just under 25,000 feet before the pilots levelled it out.

The CAB said the only effects on the passengers were several cases of airsickness. It said the seat belt signs were not on at the time of the dive.

The plane's flight recorder was removed after landing and rushed to Washington for analysis.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary-General Thant, in what was interpreted by some diplomats as a rebuke to the United States, has refused to postpone a pledging conference for United Nations assistance funds scheduled Monday.

The Soviet Union and France were reported to have opposed postponement. They are principal debtors in the financial crisis that threatens a showdown over depriving the Soviet and other delinquents of their votes at the Dec. 1 opening of the general assembly.

The United States announced last week that it would not make its customary annual pledge at the conference for the expanded program of technical assistance and the special fund for investment projects in underdeveloped countries.

The U.S. usually pledges up to 40 per cent of the funds' budgets on a basis of matching contributions from other countries. This contribution has averaged more than $50,000,000 yearly.

The U.S. action was regarded as a warning that it would pay no more than its legal assessment of 31.91 per cent of regular UN budget unless the Soviet and seven other delinquents made payments on their arrears.

BOLIVIA PAYS

(France does not become subject to loss of its assembly vote until 1965. Bolivia has paid $37,000, removing it from the list of countries whose votes are jeopardized before Jan. 1.)

Ambassadors of Canada, Italy and Japan formally requested postponement for three weeks.

CONSENSUS SEEN

Representing their position as a consensus of other delegates with whom they had talked, the three diplomats argued that since the assembly had been postponed for three weeks to afford time to reach agreement on averting a showdown on the financial crisis, a similar postponement should be ordered for the pledging conference.

FOUR HOURS

Less than four hours after he received the request, Thant's office announced Thursday that "after consulting the pros and cons, the secretary-general has informed the representatives that it would be extremely difficult to postpone the meeting."

Laurentide Bill Talked Out

OTTAWA (CP) — A bill to incorporate the Laurentide Bank of Canada was talked out in the Commons Thursday.

Last week there was a blockade against a similar private bill to incorporate the Bank of Western Canada. Both have been passed by the Senate, which is still considering a bill to set up the Bank of British Columbia.

'Possible' Canada To See Pope?

NEW YORK (AP)—A Vatican envoy said Thursday "it is very possible that Pope Paul will visit the United States and Canada in his regime."

Magr. Alberto Giovannetti, the Vatican's permanent observer at the United Nations, said such a visit would be only in connection with "a religious occasion that would justify such a visit."

Pope Paul's trip to the Holy Land last year was in connection with Christmas and his trip to India next month is in connection with the international eucharistic congress.

FREEMONT, Grand Bahama Island (UPI) — A twin-engine plane crashed and burned after takeoff Thursday, killing four persons, apparently all Americans. The plane, a Lockheed Lodestar, was registered to the Madrid Oil Co. of Houston, Tex.

Miss World

Talent Not Enough

Canada's Miss Misses

LONDON (UPI) — Miss United Kingdom, 20-year-old hair stylist Ann Sidney, was named Miss World 1964 in a contest with 41 other beauties from many nations Thursday night.

After the contest, the 36-24-36 beauty said "My aim is to see as many countries as possible and help to increase international friendship. I would like to go into films."

One of the most talented contestants, though not among the finalists, was a Miss Canada (not the recently-crowned one), 24-year-old Magy Farrell of Ontario. The 36-24-36 brunette model hopes to be a singer of semi-classical songs. One of eight children, she says she entered the contest to promote Canada.

Industry Helps, But Car Biggest Pollution Hazard

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. H. Sinclair, president of the B.C. Air Pollution Society, suggested Thursday the provincial government should pass legislation making it compulsory for all cars to be equipped with an "anti-fume device."

"Industry still helps to pollute the air, but the car is now the biggest hazard," he said.

Prince Charles May Testify in High Court

By EDWIN ROTH

European Correspondent

LONDON — Wearing a white wig and scarlet robes, a British High Court judge will have to decide about the school essays of 15-year-old Prince Charles, heir to the British throne. One of the most amusing and interesting trials in British legal history will determine how Prince Charles' school essay book left his possession—and exactly who owns its copyright.

Prince Charles himself may be subpoenaed as a witness.

In September, Prince Charles' essay book disappeared from Gordonstoun School in Scotland, where he is being educated because his father, Prince Philip, was educated there. The book contains several hand-written school essays—each 500 to 1,000 words long—about the British monarchy, the British political system, and the British press. Perhaps the most interesting is an essay about Britain's unique social class distinctions.

A few days ago, the 30-year-old British freelance journalist Terence Smith, owner of the Mercury Press Agency in the provincial town St. Helens, called a sensational press conference. He disclosed that he was hauling the Commissioner of Scotland Yard (London's police chief) Sir Joseph Simpson and Detective-Superintendent Cyril Gold of Scotland Yard's Special Branch before the High Court to demand the return of "goods wrongly taken" and damages.
